A Broken Lot Sale

Bring only half the money you usually spend for an Overcoat, but you still get the quality you are used to wearing.

THE sales in the last few weeks left us with a number of broken lots of Overcoats. Lines with only one, two and three coats to a pattern. These badly broken assortments we want to dispose of quickly. By cutting regular prices in two for the rest of the month we clean out broken lines and incidentally surprise people with our values.

Medium length Overcoats, regular prices, $22 (silk lined), $18, $16, $14, $13, $10. Long Overcoats, regular price, $17.50, $10.

Half-price until Jan. 30.

A few of those $10 Overcoats at $375.

HALIFAX, Jan. 18 .- The royal comney tonight. A. Cross spoke on the fast line question. He compared the distance between Sydney and Galway (1,980 miles) with that between Quebec and Galway (2 600 miles), and contendand Galway (2 600 miles), and contended that in summer months mails and passengers could be landed at Sydney thence by rail to Quebec, where they would arrive from 10 to 12 hours sooner than if the ship proceeded directly to Quebec. He conceded that in Quebec must be the Canadian end of the fast line, but contended that Sydney should be made the port of call during the summer months. After landing mails and passengers the steamers service coaling with Canadian coal on this end of the voyage. Capt. Reid of Charlottetown, P. E. I., spoke of the great disadvantage under which that island was placed ecause of lack of transportation. They had practically no communica-tion whatever. He said that ice on the coast during the greater part of the winter militated against Sydney as port of call in winter, and he thought that it should be Halifax.

OTTAWA, Jan. 18 .- The first annual

OTTAWA, Jan. 18.—The first annual banquef of the Canadian Club of Ottawa was held tonight under the presidency of Col. Sharwood. Over one hundred guests were present. The guests included Lord Minto, Sir W. Laurier and Hen. R. L. Borden.
Laurier incidentally referred to Canada's right to the treaty making power. A full discussion of the subject ought to be postponed for a few weeks, but he combatted the idea that the treaty making power involved a mon country.

Hon. R. L. Borden, who, on rising, was received with enthusiastic cheer-ing, said this was one of the occasions which were not too frequent in the lives of public men. Some matters of political import had been attended to, but he would defer any detailed reference to them to a more fitting occa-sion. While he regretted that the de-velopment of self-government in this country had been gradual and was due largely to the initiative of Canadue largely to the initiative of Canadians themselves, yet so far as the treaty making power was concerned they must all remember that treates must be made by the King, and that the King must take them on the advice the content of the King must take them on the advice of his representative ministers. (Hear, hear.) That Canada should have in the future a great voice in all treaties which concerned her own interests no one would deny, but how that could possibly be worked out into a scheme by which Canada could make treaties by which Canada could make treaties to $10.000 have been entered against to $10.000 have $10.0000 have $10.0000 have $10.0000 have $10.0000 have $1 the King must take them on the advice of his representative ministers. (Hear, by which Canada could make treaties on her own behalf, independently of the rest of the Empire, he for one was twentieth century still to find odious. brutal creatures who are willing to carry on this brutal trade."

Deibler retorts: "I am not a supporter of capital punishment, but I must earn a living."

The headsman concludes by announcing his intention of bringing a libel suit.

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 18.—A dark closet and the custom of a temperance uncle of keeping carbolic acid in a whiskey flash are responsible for the accidental death by poisoning of Edward Slater, a hearse driver.

Slater was going to a funeral, a few miles from Florence and had to pass his uncle's house. The weather was bitterly cold. At the house of his uncle, Warren Frankin, he asked for a "bracer," and was told there was a little liquor for cooking purposes in the closet. Slater took the carbolic acid flask. The instant that he realized that a mistake had been made from the burning fluid in his mouth and throat he turned the horses back to town in the hope of reaching a doctor before it was too late.

Clarence Jones was arraigned yester day morning on a charge of fighting in the east side ferry house about 7 o'clock Saturday night. Gateman Sul-livan said he saw the defendant on top out for the police, and, returning w Officers Scott and McCollom, arrest Jones, the other man having left. Jone claimed he acted in self-defence, an called as a witness John Boyle of Carleton, who was present during the affair. Boyle said that Jones was standing warming himself by the stove when an intoxicated man, whom h took to be a sailor, came in, and, mak took to be a sailor, came in, and, making an insulting remark to the defendant, attempted to strike him. Jones caught hold to prevent him, and both went to the ground. Friends of the other man got him away before the police arrived, but at the request of Gateman Sullivan, Jones was locked up. The magistrate said he thought it was rether strange that the spentators was rather strange that the spectator would allow an innocent man to be ar rested without informing the officer that he was not to blame in the mat ter, but no one seemed to be able t explain this. As Jones has no recor in the police court the fine of $20 was allowed to stand against him.
