

IN PULPIT AND PEW

BAPTIST

The Gospel surpasses ethics as the superior philosophy as revelation surpasses reason. It surpasses theology as the sun surpasses a treatise on solar physics. It surpasses the law of the Jews as a blessing surpasses a curse. It surpasses culture as the eternal surpasses the temporary.

Very kindly and finely appreciative articles on Dr. Clifford appeared in The Daily Chronicle, Daily News, Manchester Guardian, and other papers in commemoration of the Doctor's eightieth birthday. Perhaps that in the Manchester Guardian was the best. It described him as "almost the last of the great Nonconformist types as he was known to us by the Victorian age."

From the beautifully illuminated address (in album form) presented to Dr. Clifford by the Rev. S. W. Hughes, the following passage as expressive of the spirit of the whole is taken: "We yield to none in our admiration of those great gifts and qualities of heart and soul, which have enabled you to be one of those who help to keep the soul of England alive and serve the cause of humanity in so many ways; but we, your people, remember you with undying affection as the minister of God to us, the breaker of the bread of life, the patient guide, the wise pastor, the inspirer of Christian service, the sympathetic friend, our counselor in sorrow, our counselor in perplexity, the sharer in our joys, and in all things an exemplar to us of the Christian life. We rejoice that the health and vigor with which you have reached this stage of your life's journey permit us to cherish the hope that for many years to come we may be refreshed and inspired by your preaching and by your ever welcome presence in our church gatherings and in our homes. We know that whatever the future may bring, the ties which bind us to you can never be broken."

When Pastor William Peter built his tabernacle in Petrograd, Russia, it cost 2,000 it was thought by many to be much too large, and it was freely predicted that it would be filled only when he preached. But word comes from Petrograd that the building has never been empty since the pastor's exile began, and that often there is not standing room for those who wish to attend his services.

A church in Dorsetshire, Eng., has devoted the entire collection on the front Sunday to the purchase of War Savings Certificates. These certificates are to run for the full five years of their currency, and when they are redeemed at the end of that time, the whole of the sum realized is to be spent in providing a memorial within the church to those members of its congregation who have fallen in the war. The idea is a particularly good one, and other churches might well consider the example worth following.

Rev. W. T. Hart, a Baptist chaplain who was with the front line at the beginning of the great offensive on the Somme, writes an interesting letter describing his experiences. The following is an extract:

Much has been written and spoken on the bearing of the war on religion. Some affirm that it will give rise to a revival of religion, while others hope that it will, and some doubt the survival of religion as we have known it. Out here we have no time for doubting religion. We are too busy using it. One day a man was brought in wounded in right arm, side, and leg. He was with us only six days, and he was discharged as I had a chat with him, and just as he was about to leave he said, "Father, you are the men that are going to win in this war." "Do you think so?" I said. He replied, "I don't think so, I know. During the last forty odd years I have seen a great deal of the world and what is called life, but I saw more during these last six days than ever I saw during the last forty years!"

One thing is certain, our boys are all seeing "more" and deeper, and farther than ever they did before coming here, and if they are spared to return home, and if they will not be disobedient to the heavenly vision, they will be in touch with that for which the church stands, and one hopes that the church will be in touch with them.

From the Maritime Baptist:— Rev. W. B. Crowell has resigned the pastorate of the First Harvey church, Albert County, after two years of very successful labor. During that time ninety have been added to the churches on the field, sixty-four of them by baptism. He goes at once to the church at Windsor, Carleton County, where a great opportunity is offered both for evangelism and for organizing and building up the cause. It is believed that the Pastor Crowell is just the man for the task which awaits him.

Rev. N. A. McNeill, pastor of the Salisbury group of churches, is enjoying a belated holiday. This is because of his youth, on "the island." The church at Bedouque counts itself fortunate in having secured as pastor

Rev. C. A. Britten, who recently resigned the church at North Sydney, N. S. We believe that our cause would be greatly strengthened if many more of our young men would give themselves, even for a few years, to the work of our rural churches.

Dr. Charles Brown, one of the outstanding leaders of our denomination in England, has been called upon to mourn the death of his youngest son, who met a hero's death in the fighting around Theleval. He was a member of the London Rifle Brigade, and before the war broke out was a student at Bristol College, preparing for the work of the ministry. A life of great promise has been thus suddenly brought to a close in respect to the earthly service.

Among the men who reached Halifax a few days ago, was one who returned from the front as Major E. R. Vince of Woodstock. He returns from the fighting zone with a badly smashed ankle and a prized decoration, having been awarded the Military Cross. He is a son of the late Col. D. McLeod Vince, so long and so prominently identified with the life and work of our denomination.

We have received a communication addressed to The Maritime Baptist, Halifax, N. S., and signed by Frank G. Forester, Chaplain 29th Battalion, C. E. F. As a testimony to the value of such service as was rendered by the churches of Digby, it is very significant. Rev. C. W. Robbins is the wide-awake Baptist pastor. We quote from the letter: "I am writing you as Chaplain of the 29th Overseas Battalion to say how much we as a battalion have appreciated the kindly Christian treatment we have received on route from your church at Digby. The people of that place have certainly taken the war to heart and nothing seems too much for them to do to help the boys along. But what we appreciated most was the unfailing courtesy of the members of your own and other churches. The men who go to fight the battles of the Empire can detect true material when they see it. We leave Digby with sweet memories because of the extreme kindness of your own and other churches."

METHODIST

A young British officer of noble ancestry, an only son, was among the honored dead in Flanders. In a notice written by his mother's hand for the obituary column of the London Morning Post, the first words were these: "In proud and loving memory, that following the name and date, 'I think that was beautiful, brave, sublime.'"

Rev. Principal Lloyd, president of the Dominion Alliance, has offered to serve as chaplain. His strength of character and conspicuous abilities have made him one of the outstanding figures in the province of Saskatchewan.

Col. K. is appealing to the Methodist church in Saskatchewan to assist in raising the battalion. He wants men. He must have men. He must have money. It costs $10,000 to recruit and organize a battalion. The Methodist church is going to do this and right at once.

Rev. I. H. McFadden of Methuen, Man., has paid the price of a richer liberty and a juster age for humanity. He was a noble devoted lovable man.

Three sons of Rev. Geo. Jewett, Springfield London conference, are in the service. Major O. V. Pte. E. W. and Pte. G. G. The two latter are in the Red Cross arm of the service.

Rev. Stanley Street a probationer in the Saskatchewan conference in the Ambulance Corps, has been wounded.

Three ministers from Kinston, Sask., have enlisted as privates in the 243rd Batt. Lt. W. Bralford, Anglican; R. Gilmore, Presbyterian and Walter H. Pavy, Methodist.

Rev. Henry G. Ives, minister of the Congregational Unitarian Society, Andover, N. H. United States, writes: "As a Unitarian minister, who takes your paper, I want to thank you for the wise article in your late issue, entitled 'Making the most of the Sunday campaign.'"

"You are perfectly right in taking the ground that, however, people may differ about Mr. Sunday's theology, or his personal temperament, now is the time to improve the occasion of his coming by joining hands to reap the greatest spiritual harvest for Boston and New England that can be secured, by putting religion on the map of the practical world. "I am well aware that my denomination might well gain in numbers from a worthy discussion of this critical time, but with many other Unitarians, the fact has become very clear to me, that the world is tired of denominational or doctrinal discussion, and will only respond to a spiritual outpouring of the Holy Spirit. Were John Wesley alive today he would urge all who love what the Lord Jesus stood for to forget their differences and work together during the coming weeks."

Few Methodist preachers meet with the surprise that Rev. E. E. McKay, D. D., of the Rock River conference, Chicago, met with walking on the streets of Los Angeles, Cal., recently, when, picking up a fat pocketbook, he found it contained $9,500. After a diligent search the owner was found to be the proprietor of the San Francisco Baseball Team. The owner was not only a happier, but a wiser man when the goods were delivered.

It is an interesting and meaningful story that is told by Sir Robert W. Peck, noted Wesleyan of England, concerning the preaching of a humble local preacher in one of the Wesleyan Methodist chapels, recently, and its effect upon some prominent adherents of the Church of England. Sir Robert was staying at his Banbury home the previous Sunday, and had a member of the House of Lords with him and another titled woman as guests. Sir Robert asked them if they would go to the Church of England, as they were church folk, or to the Wesleyan chapel with him, where a local preacher—a railway conductor was appointed. They all went to the chapel and the conductor who carried preached a most helpful sermon. When they returned home Sir Robert asked them how they liked the sermon, and one woman replied, "Would to God we had such preaching in our church!"

PRESBYTERIAN

Rev. A. H. McGillivray, minister of St. John's church, Hamilton, Ont., is the chaplain of the 173rd Battalion church, Halifax, has been called to present quarterly in Sussex, N. B. Rev. R. J. Power, of Chalmers church, Halifax, has been called to the pastorate of Avenue Road church, Toronto.

St. Paul's church, Port Arthur, Ont., has extended a call to Rev. Principal A. A. Graham, of Moose Jaw College, formerly of St. David's church, St. John. It is not yet known whether Mr. Graham will accept.

Rev. Dr. Stiles Fraser, whose ministry in Lower Musquodoboit, N. S., closed at the end of October, has been appointed for two years to Acadia Mines congregation in the Presbytery of Truro.

Rev. A. D. Strirling, of Scotsburn, N. S., has accepted the call to St. Matthew's church, Inverness, C. B., and closed his ministry in Scotsburn last Sabbath. This congregation is noteworthy for its generosity to missionary causes, giving twice as much to missions as to congregational support.

Rev. J. A. McGlashen, of Bridport, N. S., has been called to the pastorate of Stairs Memorial church, North Dartmouth, N. S., vacant since the going of Rev. V. G. Rae to service overseas. Mr. McGlashen has been more than twenty years in his present congregation.

Rev. David Coburn, of River John and Carleton, N. S., has been recalled to the pastorate of Upper Musquodoboit, N. S., which he resigned a few years ago.

On the last Sabbath of October the minister of St. John's church, Halifax, announced that there was but $135 in the Building Fund treasury to meet a payment of $2,000 due on their new church property the following Tuesday. A partial canvass was made next day with the result that in addition to payments made voluntarily the whole amount required was in hand in time to meet the obligation.

BAD COLD? TAKE "CASCARETS" FOR BOWELS TONIGHT

They're fine! I live your liver and bowels and clear your head.

No headache, a sur stomach, bad cold or constipation by morning.

Get a 10-cent box. Colds—whether in the head or any part of the body—are quickly overcome by urging the liver to action and keeping the bowels free of poison.

Take Cascarets tonight and you will wake up with a clear head and your cold will be gone. Cascarets work while you sleep; they cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the bowels.

Remember the quickest way to get rid of colds is one or two Cascarets at night to cleanse the system. Get a 10-cent box at any drug store. Don't forget the children. They relish this Candy Cathartic and it is often all that is needed to drive a cold from their little systems.
