time he left St. Helena until Wednesday. Nov. 13th, when he put into St. Vincent for bunker coal; fresh water and stores; the ship received these in 24 hours and once more started for St. John. For the next 10 days there was excellent weather, but on Saturday, Nov. 23rd. the ship ran into bad weather, the first experienced on the voyage home. There was a continuation of head winds, northwest gales

Speaking about matters in South Af-ica, Captain Parker says there is still lenty of excitement in East London. While he was at that port there had been fighting about 40 miles from there and the town guard were called out. The next he was on the safe side. They will, in all probability, be open several days before the close of the year.

All the machinery, looms, etc., are undergoing a thorough overhauling and when the mills open for business it will be with a plant fully adequate for all demands and in splendid condition. day Captain Parker took a trip up the line and visited the trenches and other places of interest out of Queenstown. While there he saw some of the wounded while there he saw some of the wounded brought in. In East London harbor the business in shipping is very brisk; there were when he left about 35 steamships in port and they were placed in the small harbor, about five tier deep. The same state of affairs could be seen at Port

Parker said that he found this island one of the prettiest places he ever visited. The residents are most corteous and cannot do enough to please a stranger. Captain Parker remained in St. Helena four lays, while repairs were being made. Asked how General Cronje and his Boe companions, in whose surrender the Canadians at Paardeberg had part, and who are now held prisoners on St. Helena, were making out, Captain Parker said that they were living like princes instead of prisoners. There is said to be about 5,000 Boer prisoners on the Island. Captain Parker said they are a good looking lot of people. They are allowed to roam about at their leisure and can be seen engaged at different kinds of employment.

The Salvation Army is running full swing in St. Helena, and the meetings are crowded with the Boer prisoners. Captain Parker also says that about every cigar. The captain went into a shop to get shaved and found out barber shop to get snaved and found out that the proprietor formerly resided at Johannesberg and was captured at Paarde-berg. The barber was doing a thriving business. Another prisoner is at the head of the leading club in the town.

The prisoners receive each month, fro condon, at the expense of the British overnment, 40 good, fat oxen. The Boer officers have rented some nice houses on he island, and live at ease. Captain Par Cronje, but says that he resides in a arge house on a hill, one of the best locaas. and Captain Parker was told that the Boer general attends church twice on Sunday and is taken to and fro in a andsome carriage, drawn by four horses

THAT JURY'S VERDICT

Representative of Mulford's Vaccine in the City Investigating.

The recent verdict of the coroner's jury in the tetanus case is the subject of investigation. R. F. Burton, representing the H. K. Mulford Company, of Philadelphia, is at present in the city obtaining information regarding the case and hopes in a day or two to have completed his work. (Mr. (Burton shas absolute proof that the verdict of the jury was wrong and that the tetanus was not due to impure vaccine. He pointed out to a representative of The Telegraph that it was utterly impossible for the Causton child to have been infected upon the day of vaccination, and that the first infection was probably fourteen days later. He further stated that every lot of vaccine was examined bacteriologically and physicvas examined bacteriologically and physicogically before being sent from the la

As a result of his investigation, while in the city, he will show conclusively that the vaccine was in no way responsible for the death of the child. Many persons have been vaccinated from the very same vaccine which was obtained from the calif which yielded that which was employed in the Causton case and yet there has been

The steamer sailed from East London on Monday, Oct. 14th, and although the weather was fine, there was a high racing sea, following which, at times when the ship would take a dive into the trough of the sea, the propellor would be clear of the water and would fly round at tremendous speed. Everything went well until Tuesday, Oct. 22nd, when two blades of the propellor were broken off. This accident greatly decreased the speed of the ship but the

Wedding of Rev. Mr. Morton and Miss

Forbes and the Rev. Harry Holmes Morton was solemnized in James street church, Bridgetown, Barbadoes on Tuesday, Nov. 19, at 9.30 a. m. The ceremony was impressive, the service being the usual one of the Methodist Episcopal church.

The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden was sung by the choir as the bridal party entered the church, and, after the ceremony, the newly wedded couple passed down the aisle to the music of Mendelssohn's Wedding March. At the door they were showered with rose leaves by the children of the wedding guests.

Immediately after the ceremony a breakfast was served at the Marine Hotel, and early in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Morton, under the usual shower of rice
