In Trenches With British When Ninety Men Routed 1,000 German Invaders

Bayswater Boy Goes To Front For Second Time

German Loss in Struggle Along the Aisne Where British Lost 10,000, Probably 50,000—Children Play in Street While Battle Rages—Coolness Under Fire.

London, Oct. 20.—A staff correspondent of the New York Times, who has just reached London, is the first newspaperman in the war who was actually with the British expeditionary forces during the fighting. In order that his story may be permitted to reach America, and in conformity with the rules explained to correspondents last Friday by Sir Sharrin, he has been taken to leave out all names of villages, towns, generals, army units and movements.

GERMAN AIR ARMADA READY IN FEBRUARY

No Attacks on London on Large Scale Until Then, Is Report From Berlin

Two Hundred Aeroplanes and 56 Zeppelins in Course of Construction and Young Aviators Are Being Trained—Each to Carry 1,000 Pounds Weight Consisting of Pilot and Bombs—“Give Us Time, Madame,” Is Reply of Count Zeppelin When Asked as to Date of Proposed Attack.

Berlin, Oct. 20.—An American newspaper correspondent today received certain information from an authoritative source regarding aerial plans which throw a new light on the action of the London aerodromes in doing away with all brilliant illumination and sweeping the skies at night with many searchlights. These precautions are thoroughly justified though a bit premature.

Sees British Artillery Fire

"It was only by a series of accidental circumstances that I was able to get so close. For two weeks I tried to get to the firing line without getting wounded. During this period I was frequently under cannon fire and watched both the French and British guns at work.

LAURIER CALLS FRENCH CANADIANS TO ARMS FOR EMPIRE

Last night was great and notable in Montreal. Before an audience remarkable at once for its gigantic proportions, its make-up and its purpose, Canada's greatest living statesman, a man of Canadian birth but of French-Canadian blood, made appeal to men of his own race to come from all strifes of class or creed or party, and to stand together as one man for the honor of Canada, for the defence of Britain, for the integrity of the empire, and for the peace and freedom of the world.
