WILLIAMS TO PITCH FOR SOX TO-DAY

Moran Would Not Name His Opponent Last Night
CINCINNATI, Oct. 1.—Claude (Lefty) Williams, rated one of the best left-handers in the American League this season, probably will be Manager Gleason's pitching selection to stop the batting drive of the Reds in the second game of the world's series to-morrow.

While "Pat" Moran, the leader of the Reds, did not care to make any official announcement concerning his mound choice, it was generally accepted that either "Slim" Sallee or "Hod" Eller would oppose the White Sox to-morrow.

"We got away to a flying start," said Manager Moran to-night, "beating Ciolette, Gleason's best bet, and it makes no difference to my men what pitcher Gleason starts to-morrow. They said before the series that the Reds could not hit. Fourteen hits tell the story. The same batting drive will carry them through to victory."

Reds More Confident.
"The Reds entered the series a 'cocky' lot of players and this victory has given them a lot more confidence. Reuther deserved a shutout and the Chicago players will find it just as hard to hit out other pitchers. Reuther deserved great credit for the victory. He was cool at all times. His batting was a surprise to me."

"We will even up the series to-morrow," said Manager Gleason, of the White Sox. "When Ciolette hit Rath in the first inning he was not himself thereafter. I could have taken him out then but I trusted that he would enable Eddie to regain his control. I intend to start Williams to-morrow and have every confidence that there will be a different tale to tell."

Reuther had a world of stuff to-day and pitched a really remarkable game. He should have all the credit for the victory. His batting stamps him as a second "Babe" Ruth.

"To-day's defeat has not disheartened my players. I am sure the defeat will act as an incentive to win to-morrow. There are nine games to be played and one defeat doesn't mean that the series is lost."

Sox Not Odds on Now.
After ruling 8 to 5 and 7 to 5 favorites before the start of to-day's game, the White Sox were no better than even money in the betting on the world's series here to-night. Several wagers ranging from $500 to $2,500 were made on to-day's contest. Previous to the opening game, odds were given that the White Sox would win the series.

Sealers reaped a rich harvest selling tickets before the game was called. The tickets at face value. Box seats for three games costing $19.50 were snapped up at prices ranging from $40 to $60 early in the day. One visitor paid $125 for three $5.50 seats for to-day's game.

Jake Daubert was knocked completely out in the eighth inning when Pitcher Lowdermilk "beamed" him with a high, fast ball. Daubert, however, gamely went to first, and was cheered.

The day was a scorcher, more like August than October. The grand stands and bleachers were a sea of coastless fans, who mopped their heads and fanned themselves for a breath of air. The Government thermometer registered 88, the second hottest October first in the history of the Cincinnati weather bureau.

Eddie Roush, National League batting champion, was the field star of the day. He electrified the crowd with thrilling one-hand catches. All of them were difficult chances. He had eight putouts, one less than Daubert at first base.

Catcher Wingo's throws were perfect when he caught Collins and Gandil attempting to steal in the first and second inning.

Cincinnati, Oct. 1.—Cincinnati to-day won the opening game of the world's series from the Chicago Americans by a score of 9 to 1.

Every series develops a new idol for the fans and Walter Reuther, who pitched the Reds to victory was the unanimous choice to-night. He not only held the White Sox to six scattered hits and really deserved a shutout, but rolled up a batting average of 1.000 per cent. for himself.

If there was anything to the game that was better than his hurling it was his work with the stick. Two of his three hits were mighty triples. He drove in two runs, scored one himself, and was the instigator of the mad romping of Redlegs around the bases in the fateful fourth.

Had Heart Failure.

The Sox were in the fight up to that time, but when he propelled the ball into "no man's land" in left center and romped to third while two scored ahead of him the heart seemed to go out of the American League.

It was a sad day for Eddie Cicotte, leading pitcher of the junior league. He was simply pounded from the box. Five runs were recorded against him in the fourth before Manager Gleason gave him the sign to retire. His teammates gathered round him and patted him encouragingly on the back, but he walked from the diamond with his head hanging.

Roy Wilkenson succeeded him on the mound, while the last inning was pitched by Grover Lowdermilk, but it made little difference to the National League champions. They kept the air fairly clogged with fugitive hits while the White Sox fielders ran their legs off chasing flies.

After the game, Garry Herrman, owner of the Reds who came panting up the runway to the grand stands, stopping long enough to remark to friends:

Three More Like Reuther.

"Those dopsters that were figuring Cincinnati second didn't figure on our batting pitchers. We've got two more like Reuther; they've all been batting around 300 all season."

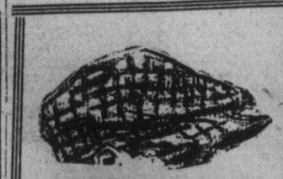

The day was clear and hot and 30,511 fans witnessed the contest. Cincinnati has always been known as a thoroughgoing baseball town, supporting the home team in a good season and bad, but nerves were on edge to-day with the importance of the struggle in store. This was made evident by the abrupt termination of the war of cheering until the foundation of runs in the fourth relaxed the tension and the cheering became wild and prolonged.

Cincinnati made the first score in the first inning, but as Chicago immediately afterward tied the score it was still regarded as anybody's game.

Cicotte started the trouble for himself by pegging Rath between the shoulder and he looked a little worried as the Reds' second baseman, a former Sox castoff, enjoyed his "unearned increment" on first base. The visiting twirler put one in the groove for Daubert, who singled cleanly, sending Rath to third. The latter scored on Groh's sacrifice fly to left, giving the Reds the first run of the series.

Red errors largely accounted for the lone Sox tally counted in the opening half of the second. Jackson grounded to Groh, who threw wild, to first and the runner reached second. Felsch advanced him with a sacrifice and Gandil dropped a fly back of second and Jackson trotted home with the tying run. Thereafter Chicago threatened only twice, in the fifth and sixth innings, but Reuther rose to the occasion and the danger passed.

The fourth inning opened with a fly by Roush to Felsch, Duncan singled to right, but was forced by Kopf. Neale hit a funny one, which defied two infielders with as many high bounds, sending Kopf to third; Wingo singled, scoring Kopf. Reuther's triple followed, scoring Neale and Wingo. Cicotte was plainly nervous and a conference was held in the center of the diamond. Rath was smiling as he faced the pitcher, and doubled to left, putting Reuther across the plate.

Daubert singled over second, scoring Rath. Five men had scored and Manager Gleason, at this point, sent his favorite pitcher to the bench.

Wilkenson, formerly of St. Thomas, who had a brief warm-up, went into the box. He was in more or less trouble much of the time, but managed to stay the slaughter until the seventh, when it was renewed. Daubert tripled into the right field crowd and scored on Groh's single to center. Roush laid down a perfect bunt and Weaver, whose throw to Gandil compelled the latter to stretch so far that the umpire called the runner safe on a close decision. Duncan grounded to Risburg and Roush was forced at second, while Groh scored on the play.

Manager Gleason led forth a third pitcher, in the person of Grover Lowdermilk in the eighth, and his delivery contributed one more run to the Reds' total. Neale greeted him with a single to left and he advanced a base on Wingo's sacrifice. Reuther then perched himself firmly on the top rung of the ladder of fame with his second triple. It rolled to the fence in center and had the pitcher exerted himself he could have made it a homer. He preferred, however, not to overexert himself and made a semi-eighth-century expedition ramble only as far as third. Schalk dropped the ball a moment later and it rolled 20 feet away, but Reuther calmly stood in his tracks while the ball was being retrieved. The end of the inning found him still there.

Reds Field Well.

In the fifth the visitors seemed determined to pursue the enemy, despite their commanding lead. They hit the bases, but none reached the counting station. Gandil started with a single back of first base. Risburg sent Roush into deep center field after his long drive, but the fielder not only captured it, but held Gandil at first. Schalk hit a stinging grounder to Groh, and the little captain came up with the ball in time to force Gandil at second. Wilkenson then grounded past second, but Rath, with a pretty stop and throw, retired the side.

The Sox tried it again in the next inning. After there was one down, Eddie Collins singled through Reuther, and Weaver dropped a Texas leaguer in right, Collins taking second. As Jackson came to the plate the Chicago contingent cheered, but he grounded out to Daubert unassisted. Collins and Weaver advanced on the play. It was now up to "Happy" Felsch, but his best was a fly to Neale, Chicago never threatened again. Reuther pitching with superb confidence and control.

Manager Gleason said that to-morrow he would probably send Claude Williams into the box, while Manager Moran, of the Reds, was said to have his mind made up on "Hod" Eller, the shine-ball artist.

FINANCE COMMITTEE IN FAVOR OF G.R.R.C

WILL RECOMMEND ADOPTION OF ITS FREIGHT LINE DIVISION
At the regular meeting of the Finance Committee, last evening, Secretary Pope and Engineer Parrie, of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, presented a plan of entry to King Street for the passenger spur proposed to be constructed in the South Ward, when Hydro gets the Galt, Elgin branch of the C.P.R.

As stated at the meeting held on Friday evening of last week, these representatives wished to have the city council defer giving its approval to the Grand River Railway's freight line diversion plan until Hydro can get its own plan before the Dominion Railway Board and be declared to have priority. This to avoid Hydro having to con-

DISAPPOINTED WITH 4-CENT HOUR INCREASE.
(Special to The Record).
Winnipeg, Oct. 2.—That there is a growing tendency of international labor unions to break away from the American Federation of Labor is the opinion of R. B. Russell, who returned to the city to-day after attending the international convention of railway shopmen in Chicago last week.

Russell said that 88 per cent. of the delegates present voted to refuse to abide by the agreement made by officials of the union with the United States Railway Board. Their leaders were criticised for entering into an agreement, without the consent of the rank and file of shopmen throughout the United States, accepting a four cent increase per hour when a 15 cent hour increase was demanded, he said.

"Officials of the union, when they saw that their action was about to be repudiated," wired Director of Railways, Hines, that the convention was that the men were denied transportation from their homes to Chicago and return and were considered absent without leave. Despite these obstacles there were 283 representatives of shopmen union from every state in attendance and they served notice on officials of the union that if their demands weren't granted, by November 1, they would break away from the internationals."

Youth's Most Vital Wardrobe Problems Are Answered in These Radiant Displays

"Since there are so many occasions when I simply must wear a coat, and so many others, when only a Suit will do, I have decided that my Fall wardrobe can dispense with neither. And it is the same way with a Frock and Skirt; each has a separate place and use in the Autumn scheme of things." You will hear scores of young women make such statements.

From a standpoint of thrift and practical serviceability, every young woman's wardrobe must include all four items.
