

JUST PUBLISHED

HENRY GEORGE

The monumental book, on which Henry George spent the last six years of his life, has just been published by George N. Morang, Toronto. It is entitled "THE SCIENCE OF POLITICAL ECONOMY." Wider in scope than the world-famous "Progress and Poverty," it is written in the same lucid and graphic style. It presents political economy in the new aspect of a clear and fascinating science; a science which needs no technical knowledge or special learning to study, and which appeals to the vast majority of men, because it treats of the burning problem—the getting of a living. With handsome Photogravure Portrait. Cloth, crown 8vo., price, $2.00.

ANTHONY HOPE

George N. Morang has just published "Simon Dale," the latest novel of this brilliant writer. The author of "Phroso" and "The Prisoner of Zenda" has established his claim to be considered a story-teller of the first rank. His ingenuity and the substratum of his accurate scholarship are both visible in "Simon Dale." The scene of the book is laid in England, and the time is the reign of Charles II., the convivial and easy-going monarch whose regime of roystering conviviality and easy virtue followed the grim period of the Puritan Commonwealth. Simon Dale is a straightforward young English gentleman who in a remarkable way is admitted to the inner circles of the Court, and manages to hold his own in the midst of various intrigues and in an atmosphere of courtier-like subservency. Crown 8vo. cloth, $1.50; paper, 75 cents.

EMILE ZOLA

George N. Morang has just published "Paris," the last novel of this famous writer. It completes the trilogy of which the two first members were "Lourdes" and "Rome." In "Lourdes" the hero—the Abbé Froment—is brought under the influence of what appears to be a revival of the miraculous. In "Rome" he is represented as disillusionized and deprived of faith. In the last novel of the series—"Paris"—he comes to take more hopeful views. The descriptions of Parisian people of all sorts could not have been done so well by anybody but Zola, who with his realistic pen hits off saint and sinner. Crown 8vo. cloth, $1.25; paper, 75 cents.
