

Giving God a Chance

When Doctor Morrison entered his study he found young Stanley pacing it in agitation. The young man went directly to the point:

"Doctor Morrison, I've made a mistake. I should not be honest either with you or myself if I denied it any longer."

"You mean in uniting with the church?" his pastor asked quietly.

"Yes, sir."

"What makes you think that you have made a mistake?"

"Because," the young fellow answered slowly, "I can't feel it any more. I know, of course, that religion isn't simply emotion. But it shouldn't bore me. There's something very wrong when that is so. I—I can't tell you how I have fought it. Of all men in the world, I feel that doctors ought to believe. And yet, I can't believe."

"When you united with the church you were in Mr. Houghton's class, I remember. Did he make you study?"

"He certainly did!" the young fellow responded, laughing in spite of his trouble. "You had to study if you were going to hold up your head in that class."

"And when he died, you kept up your Bible reading for a time, but it grew more and more perfunctory, and then you began to forget it altogether; and when you did take it up, you were bored. Is that it?"

"That is about it, sir."

"You are studying medicine; have the doctors discovered any way in which a patient can take nourishment enough in a year to last the rest of his life?"

"Of course not, sir."

"When you have your degree will you never look at your books again?"

The young fellow's flamed. "I don't know what you mean, sir. A good doctor never stops studying. He has to keep up with every experiment, every discovery."

"And yet you expect, as a Christian, to take in enough Christianity in a year to last the rest of your life!"

"But it hasn't lasted; that's exactly the point."

"Certainly. That is the point with thousands of Christians in the church to-day—lack of food. Have you studied your Bible to see what it has to say to doctors? Have you studied it to learn about human nature and the way to treat it? You keep up with the latest medical discoveries—have you laid out for yourself a course in the great discoveries of men whose it is to interpret the word of God? Have you studied prayer as you have studied the nervous system? Have you ever put it all to practical tests, as you experiment in your laboratory? In other words, have you given God half a chance?"

The young man's face had cleared. He held out his hand.

"Thank you, sir," he said.

From Different Viewpoints

"Uncle Frank," asked Little James, "what is the difference between 'cute' and 'sneaky'?"

"According to your mother," reflected Uncle Frank, "it's the difference between what you do and what Mrs. Brown's little boy does."
