He referred to the Pontiff as a teacher, and said his delegate was the representative of a great teacher, as well as being a teacher himself. Mr. Murphy spoke of the educations work of the Jesus and of the Franciscaus, as well. To the laster, to which the Franciscaus, as well. To the laster, to which the Franciscaus, as well. To the laster, to which the Franciscaus, as well. To the laster, to which the Franciscaus, as well. To the laster, to which the Franciscaus, as well. To the laster, to which the Franciscaus, it is the work as teachers. The Jesuiis to, have done much. Speaking of education, it is add; "No institution of learning can hope o live that does not follow the course of volotion. Our history attests our devo in to the cause of education. Between our loyalty to the Church and our layalty to other Church and our layalty to the Church and our layalty to country, there can never be the shightest conflict. Because of our faith as Catholites, we are better citizens, better Americans.

Mr. O'Connell spoke of two party, and needed none. "You come to us, representing the power, as judge and country and we expect a abide by your decision. I am thankful you have been so much in this country and tha you know, consequently, so much of it and it neither the country and than you know, consequently, so much of it and it metitations."

you know, consequently, so much of it and it unstitutions."

Mr. O'Connell, expressed his preference for this country a method of erecting charche without government aid, as is the case in some countries of Europe. "Sometimes," said he "I wonder if Catholicism in this country due not mean more than in the Catholic countries. It seems that only in Catholic countries is the church persecuted. The Catholic Countries is the church persecuted. The Catholic Countries is the church persecuted. The Catholic Countries in the church is growing here more than any other twelve millions of people. In replying to the addresses of welcome and addressing the audience, the Papal Delegate spoke of their veneration of the Pope. He is, "he said," the pastor of the Universal Church, the Vicar of Christ's Church of earth. Speaking of thelong life of the Roman Church, he said that empires had ceased it exist, nations had been transformed, but the Papal power had remained. "The Pope dominion comprehends millions of souls in all parts of the world, of different longues and different races, He is the rock on which would the Church. In venerating bim you uphold your religion and render yourselvisworthy of the name of Catholics. Though for a long time far away from you, my heart has always been in America."

Following his restonass, Archbishop Falcoric pronounced the apostolic benediction. The audience them passed from the auditorium to the stage, where each reson was presented to the distinguised prelate. The introduction-were made by Father Fisk, the president of the college. After the reception refreshments were served in the lower hall. During the evening there was a song of welcome by the choir. The music of this was composed especially for the occasion by Mr. S. J. DR. THOMAS O'HAGAN AT ST. JEROME'S.

Dr. O'Hagan, the well known Canadian author and educator, has been the guest of S. Jereme's college for the past three weeks, and on Sunday, 14th inst., addressed the member of St. Jerome's Liverary and Dramatic Society, taking for his subject: "Bocks and Reading." At the outset Dr. O'Hagan paid a warn tribute to the work which St. Jorome's college has accomplished in the held of Oscho lie centention in Ontario, and incidentally referred to the advantage which a Catholic college has over a securar celege, is death imparts correct modes of thicking, and give the sudent sure and sound principle soft philosophy, which are so needful in this age of chaotic and loops turry thinking.

The recturer pointed out that, as much for man's education is obtained outside of the college walls, it is essential that we should carfully distinguish books that are pecinus for those that are principus—that this discrimination is especially necessary to day, seeing the ead Kipling, though he may be a vogue. The author of "Kim" has the volgar strength of a half buck in a foot ball club. All onclusion Dr. O'Hagan impressed upon he students that it was a truth intellectual as well as sprittual that only he who fights the good fight, and keeps the faith, and runs his ourse to the end, will win the cown—remem bering, too, the words of an American poet, that.

Heaven is not gained at a single bound,
But we build the ladder by which we rise
From the lowly earth to the vanited skies
And we mount to its summit round by round."

OBITUARY.

MATTHEW J. FLANAGAN, DOWITE.

Seldom has such regret been felt by the residents of Downie as that caused by the death of Matthew J. Flanagan. Deceased was the son of Mr. John Flanagan of Downie and about a year ago became camployee of the G. T. R. shops, Stratford, working at his trade, that of a caypenter. On Morday, Dec. 1st, he received in luries to his hand; the was attended at once by medical skill work was afterwards continued at the residence of his sister Mrs. J. Murphy. Blood poisoning, however developed, and on Wednesday a change in his condition brought to his bediet he prices of the Church also his loving parents brothers and sisters. On Friday surrounded by these heartbroken relatives he serchely based away at 6 p. m. His remains were conveyed to the nome of his parents in Downie and en Sudday interment took place in St. Mary's. After High Mass Rev. Father Breman spaces, that as "man proposes God disposes" and farished by exnorting all to pray for the dead. The procession, one of the largest ever seen in St. Mary's then proceeded to the R. Cemetery, where the mortal remains of the dear and brother were laid to rest. Long shall we remember Matthew; in his boyhood gentle and obedient at school, cheery and kind hearted in the home circle; in manhood a courteous gentleman, beloved by neighbors and fellow workmen, stalwart and healthy in his twenty ninth year with the proppet of a useful happy life ahead, his death comes as a blow to his family. Besides his father and morher, he leaves two bothers. J. J. Flanagan, Stratford, Mrs. T. Gant, Kinkora, Mrs. May his soul rest in peace! MATTHEW J. FLANAGAN, DOWNIE.

Miss Pauline Mary Pendergas: Detroit.

We regret very much to announce the death of Miss Plutine Mary Pendergas, which occurred at the family residence, 39 Baker street, Detroit, on Sueday, Dec. 14, last, Miss Pindergast was a native of Lendon, and moved to Detroit with the rest of the family about four years age. During her residence here as also in Detroit, she made many friends who will regret to hear of her death. Some six months ago her health began to decline, and, thinking a change of air might be baneficial, came to London and spent about three months in St. Joseph's Hospital, returning to Detroit about a monthago. Both at the hospital and on her return to the family circle the best medical attendance and careful nursing was brought to bear in order to save her life, but to no purpose. Death came to her release, as stated above, on Sunday, Dec. 14th. The remains were con-one daughter. Mary, choir leader at St. Columban, where she has hots of friends who deeply sympathize with her in the loss of her much established father. R. I. P.

MARRIAGE.

MARRIAGE.

McPherson-McGrough.

A very pretty wedding was some at 3t. Mary's church on Wednesday, Nov. 29th, at 8a. m., when Mr. Francis I. J. MacPherson, third son of Mr. Angus MacPherson, of Peterboroush, was united in marriage to Miss Ross Mary McGrough eldest daughter of Mr. M. McGeoush, contractor.

The ceremony was performed by Ven. Archdeacon Casey in the presence of the immediate friends of the contracting parties and a number of guests from a distance. The bride looked pretty dressed in a cream white silk dress en train with Brussels net veil. She carried a shower boude of which the trimmed with white with misses the trimmed with white carried a shower bouquet of pink chysanthemuns. The groom was upported through the ordeal by his brother, Mr. Jas. McPherson, of Sault Sie Marie.

After the ceremony the party drove to the residence of the oride's parents, where the usual congratulations and good wishes for their future happiness were extended to the young couple. They left en the 19 49 train for a honeymood. Mr. and Mrs. MacPherson will reside in Peterboro, where Mr. MacPherson in married life.

Young Men's Catholic Club.

Through the effects of Mr. John Sonway a Young Men's Catholic Club has been organized in Perth with a membership of over flity and it is not yet a week oid—a spiendid record surely. The object of the club is to advance literary and social work among its members. Suitable club rooms has been procured and fitted up so that the young men will have a different sold by the whole they may go to spend their evenings. The objects of the club are good once, and if the members but enter into the undertaking in the proper spirit, and strive falthfully, who knows but latent talent may be brought forth, which otherwise never would have been developed. The fundation work may be laid for a future Canadian statesman, a prominent lawyer, author or priest, who can tell?
