brothers of the order, with Mr. MacCowain seipal. Catholicity advances as the country grows apace; even now it is the intention of His Grace the Archbishop, assisted by the priests of Winnipeg, to enter upon the erection of a beautiful gothic structure here at an early date. I understand the site has been purchased in a favorable locality, and as

been purchased in a favorable locality, and as neither money or good will is wanting, I have every reason to hope that the great and good work will be pushed forward without delay. On Sunday last Rev. Pere Lacombe referred to this subject, and I was delighted to learn from some influential citizens that his appeal will meet with the desired success. A word in conclusion about St. Boriface. This little village presents a spectacle which must always be productive of pleasure. Eastward on the Red River and opposite its confluence with the Assiniboine, a line of edifices crowns the river's bank, viz., the hospital, the convent, the acasiemy, the cathedral, the archiepiscopal residence, ind the college of St. Boniface. All these buildings afford to the traveller a scene such as might be presented in the traveller a scene such as might be presented in the traveller a scene such as might be presented in the most favored of European countries, where the church is free to indulge in the crection and main-tenance of great establishments fitted to prepare the young for the great battle of life, and to succor the young for the great battle of life, and to succor the unfortunate, in fine, to practice all those spiritual and corporal works of mercy which give additional impetus to Christianity and stamp the age with holiness. This is a lively village. Even now, in the midst of winter, it has its charms; then what must be its appearance in summer? To you who would wander from your homes during the corning season in search of that pleasure which beautiful seenery can bestow, I would suggest that you visit this northern country; there to admire what a religious order has doone in the cause of Christianity and civilization on one side, what enterprising men have done towards commerce and agriculture on the other. There is now direct rail coming men have done towards commerce and agricul-ture on the other. There is now direct rail com-munication with St. Paul so that the great expense and trouble formerly entailed upon the traveller may be dispensed with.

The following report is from the Australia comic paper, the Sydney Punch. We submit that here is no exaggeration in its statements of the abstrdities of apostate priests, such as this wretched Capadian. If anyone thinks there is they can refer to the farra go reported in the daily papers last week as the utterance of another apostate who advertiseshimself in the Methodist meeting houses as looking for a nice Irish girl with a snug fortune. That's the secret of an abundance of reformation from the days of Luther to the present. For the beneft of those not acquainted with Australia, we beg b say that the Sydney Herald is of the same school as its New York namesake:-

The eloquent ex-priest lectured on this subject one day the week before last. The hallwas crowd-schools, and everything seems to sound as merry as that I could stand this no longer, that I intended to a marria ze-bell. In fact my little experience of the city disproves much, if not everything, I heard stated against its morality.

The only Catholic Church within the city limits at present is that of St. Mary's, presided over by priests of the order of Oblates. Rev. Pere Beaudin is cure. There is a separate School in charge of the brothers of the order, with Mr. MacGowan as Principal. Catholicity advances as the country grows —and the proceeds are all to go to reclaim the squaws of Lake Winnipeg from the harlotry of Rome. Buy my little books and you will read all—and you will be helping the glorious cause. There you will learn—perhaps for the first time—the true history of Salt Lake City, and you will discover that this polygamic province is a Jesuit settlement. Yes, my brethren; the first founders of this abomin-Yes, my brethren; the first founders of this abominable place were Jesuit missionaries from Montreal, that city of abominations, with its glittering domes and splendid spires, and its debased French and Irish people. There at the junction of the picturesque Ottawa with the grand St. Lawrence, did the scheming sons of Loyola resolve upon laying the foundations of a city of absolute impurity, and

THEY FOUNDED THE CAPITAL OF MORMONISM. Of course, if they were charged with this they would deny it; but who believes them? They would dis-own Joe Smith, and be prepared to swear upon the own Joe Smith, and be prepared to swear upon the Holy Gospels that he never belonged to their order; though he was known to have been carefully train-ed by the professors at Laval University in Quebec, for this very mission. Oh! the unspeakable depths of depravity of this Roman system. In the very city where I was for so long a time a priest of this religion of the grossiest sensualism, there is a Convent of Ursuline Nuns, which a brutal lying Provent of Ursuline Nuns, which a brutal lying Frotestant correspondent of the London Times—one William Howard Russell—described, in 1865, as a home of angels, who blessed the city by their life and work. This Russel was of course a Jesuit. The Convent—but I will tell you in my next lecture what the Convent really was and is.

MR. SAUNDERS' SECOND ANALYSIS.

In common with many of our citizens, I was under the impression until recently that the water necessarily be more or less contaminated by the materials so recently used in coating and uniting the pipes, and that some months of use might be required to free it from foreign flavor. So much had been said about tar and other impurities in the pipes that I had thought of Jeffer in the pipes that I had thought of Jeffer in the pipes that I had thought of Jeffer in the pipes that I had thought of Jeffer in the pipes that I had thought of Jeffer in the pipes that I had thought of Jeffer in the pipes that I had thought of Jeffer in the pipes that I had thought of Jeffer in the pipes that I had thought of Jeffer in the pipes that I had thought of Jeffer in the pipes that I had thought of Jeffer in the pipes that I had thought of Jeffer in the pipes that I had thought of Jeffer in the pipes that I had thought of Jeffer in the pipes that I had thought of Jeffer in the pipes that I had thought of Jeffer in the Town Hall, Bothwell, Tuesday, Wednesday, Wednesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, the 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th of next month. It is to be hoped the results will come up to expectations.

WE are pleased to inform our readers in the pipes that I had thought of Jeffer in the Town Hall, Bothwell, Tuesday, Wednesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, the 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th of next month. It is to be hoped the results will come up to expectations.

WE are pleased to inform our readers in the pipes that I had thought of Jeffer in the Town Hall, Bothwell, Tuesday, Wednesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, the 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th of next month. It is to be hoped the results will come accepted by them, they have the use when disease accepted by them, they have the use when disease accepted by them, they have the use when disease accepted by them, they have the use when disease accepted by them, they have the use when disease accepted by them, they have the use when disease accepted by them, they have the use when disease accepted by them, they have the use when disease accepted by them, they have the use when disease been said about tar and other imputities in the pipes that I had thought of deferring the use of it until spring, but a few days since the pipes were introduced into my dwelling, when I found to my surprise and delight that there was no perceptible difference between the water drawn from the pipes and that taken directly frow the springs. It has the same brilliantly clear, sparkling appearance and

Thinking it possible that there might still be some contamination which the taste could not detect, and being also anxious to know how it would compare with the water analyzed by me during the summer of 1876, I have again, for my own satisfaction, submitted it to a very careful chemical examination. I find it entirely free from organic matter, nitrates, The eloquent ex-priest lectured on als subject one day the week before last. The hallwas crowded by an excited and enthusiastic audinee; ladies of mature age, who appreciate a little inpropriety when the Pope is the victim; carnal mined old gentlemen with a taste for strong malt liques and alcoholic theology; and rowdy evangelical puth, loving noise and nastiness, mustered in considerable number to hear the champion of a pure gopel hold up in impure English the Babylonish amurs of Rome. The ex-priest was rapturously receivd. As the Josuitical Herald cannot be trusted (adeed, it is now affirmed that the gentlemen at forth Shore, supposed to have been brought here fran Victoria by Dr. Vaughan for the purpose of founing and directing a Catholic College, are in realit members of the Herald's theological staff, introdued here by Mr. George, who knew them in Melbourry), we give a continued of the windern and Sisters,—I hav to speak to night of a delicate subject—of my of nexperiences of the dangers of the profession of alomish priest, and I will speak to you without reselve. Ohl if you only knew of my temptations amog the guileless maideens of the savage tribes of the Saux at Muskoka and Le Jeune Lorette! These childm of the prairie and of the wilderness would come o one of the forts accompanied by half blooded oung squaws of bewildering beauty. The Ojibbewys are remarklead, iron, and other unnatural impurity, and when in dangerous proportion.

The water in the well on my own premises is probably as good as any in the city, but that from the Coombs' Springs is so much freer from earthly matter and so much ruore agreeable to drink that the use of the well water has been discontinued in my house entirely. The constant drinking of water highly charged with calcareous matter is no doubt a fruitful source of disease, and apart from this I cannot help regarding it as risky, especially during the spring months when the surface soil is saturated with proton which process the constant of the control of the co spring months when the surface son is saturated with water which passes very rapidly through a porous strata, to drink from wells within forty or fifty, or even a hundred feet of cesspits and other sources of impurity. It is indeed a great comfort to know that our city is now supplied with water far removed from the possibility of contamination, which for drinking purposes is not equalled by any water supply in the Dominion, and which maintains its character unchanged during summer and winter,

ANNUAL BALL

WM. SAUNDERS.

On the 20th inst., the 8th annual ball of the employees took place and proved to be par excellence the ball of the season. A number of guests were as usual invited to take part, and at 8 o'clock precisely the dancing commenced to the music of the justly celebrated 7th Batt. Band. The evening was a most enjoyable one, if the faces of those present is any criterion. This annual entertainment is now looked forward to with great interest, by all who are genin their hands.

QUICK WORK .- Between ten and eleven o'clock Tuesday morning Mr. J. D. Mills, of Hamilton, swore out an information that a man named W. L. Smith, of this city, had by false pretences defrauded him out of the sum of $12. The telegraph was called into requisition and the police authorities here communicated with. In a short time thereafter information was received that Smith had been arrested by Detective Wigmore in this city, and Detective Rosseaux came here by the evening train THE R. C. BAZAAR AT ST. THOMAS. to receive the accused, who was taken back to Hamilton that night.

A Mysterious Affair.—A correspondent writing from West Nissourisends the following paragraph, to the Free Press which he youthes for:—

"A man by the name of Michael Mitchel, a respect" short time ago to chop, and while in the act of cutting down a tree he was struck in the face by something which knocked the skin off his nose. Mr. Mitchel, with great surprise, found it to be a large brass key. He at once picked up his axe and went to the louse. Mr. Mitchel says this key is one that he cannot account for. It was sixty rods from any house."

It appears that erally favoured with invitations and reflects great about six o'clock the night previous he went down credit on those who have the management placed stairs to the water closet. Not returning up to the hour of leaving work, a companion named Fleming went in search of him, and was surprised to find him lying prostrate on the closet floor. Although life was not then extinct, it was evident that death and asked him to explain to me how I, a poor Canadian French bachelor, was to by totected from the open worship of thousands a sensual seductive sqaws. I told him that I was iperil that all men in my position were in peril. I annot tell you what he told me. It would shock the door for half a dollar, and there will find enything. The bishop was of course, a Jesuit. Howas a thorough olds sensualist, and his palace was filled with French novels. Champague or Stroomy pies. He had passed his novitiate at Paris (sinos, and knew every form of human wickedness. These are the instruments the Jesuits employ—ae kind of men they lift up to dishonor the loftit stations. I told him

James Hevey, of Richmond street north, entered room where his child was lying asleep in a cradle, he noticed their large cat crouched upon the infants breast, its paws clasping the little ones nose, and its mouth close aginst the child's mouth. He knew at once what was wrong, and with some difficulty wrenched the animal away. Attention was turned to the shild, but not until considerable time had clapsed was it fully resuscitated. Mr. Hevey is of opinion that this cat had been in the habit of sucking the child's breath for some time, and had brought it into a delicate state of health. His cat-ship was immediately killed. This incident should awaken parents to a sense of the danger incurred in leaving a cat in a room with a sleeping child.

A DANGEROUS CAT .- The other day, when Mr.

VENNOR AGAIN.—Vennor is evidently not disheartened at the general failure of his predictions, for he keeps giving us his predictions every two or three weeks. Sir,—The statement which appeared in the Mail of the 21st instant, to the effect that Messrs, Carling & Co. had rented a brewery in Fergus, is scarcely correct, and as there is only one brewery in this town, is apt to mislead, and impress our customers in this Province with the idea that (for a time at least) we shall not be able to supply them with ale.

The facts are that our offer of assistance to Messrs. A GRAND Bazaar and Drawing of Prizes take lace in the Town Hall, Bothwell, Tuesday, Wednes-

ONE ON TOM .- An eye witnesr writes: - "On the G. W. R. Day Express east, on Tuesday last, and while near Glencoe, a demented colored woman, who was being taken to the London Asylum by Deputy Sheriff Harry Merce, of Chatham, attracted considerable attention by her loquacity and exuberance of spirits. Conductor Tom Meston, a genial but puritanical-looking Scotchman, thinking in the goodness of his heart that he might be able to quiet her, sat down by her side. He had hardly commenced a conversation before the woman, a big stalwart wench, gave utterance to one terrific "whoop!" and, throwing her arms around the astonished conductor's neck, imprinted on his lips a kiss that sounded like an over-worked butter churn. Tom finally managed to break from her grasp, and amid the shouts and laughter of the passengers fled in dismay to another car."

CONCERT AND LECTURE AT CORUNNA.-A grand concert and lecture will be given in the Catholic Church, Corunna, on the evening of the 4th of March, at which some of the most distinguished vocalists in Western Ontario will assist.
