RIGHTS IN ALASKA. Several inquiries have recently been made at this office respecting the rights enjoyed in Alaska by parties not American citizens. As a matter of fact, such rights at the present time amount Dawson and on the adjoining now out of jail on bond, vbe allowed to-nil.

There is in existence a sort of preferential statute in favor of to remain. Canadian citizens, by virtue of which rights are granted to the latter similar to those enjoyed by American citizens in Canada. The law, however, is inoperative, by reason of the fact that it does not grant to Canadians any rights which Americans do not enjoy in Alaska.

In this country, title to mining property is in the nature of a lease from the government. According to the United States statute, therefore, Canadian citi zens would be entitled to lease mining property in Alaska. But, as Americans are not given this privilege, therefore, according to the terms of the st tute, Canadians, as well as citizens of other nations, are practically without rights, so far as Alaska is concerned. These facts should be borne in mind by parties other than Americans who purpose making a prospecting tour into our neighboring territory. There is no magistrate in the northern part of Alaska at the present time, before whom a declaration of intention to become an American c.tizen may be made, and.

without such declaration, claims staked by foreigners are liable at any time to contest and for feiture. This would not be likely to happen, unless the claims should be valuable ones, but, as a claim without gold is of no value to anyone, the dilemma is not greatly relieved.

As published elsewhere, in the telegraphic columns of the Nugget, today, Judge Brown, of the district of Alaska, is now in Skagway, and undoubtedly will proceed down the river during the summer. He will be empowered to receive declarations from those who intend becoming American citizens, Meanwhile, of boats will be a matter of such the staking and recording of ordinary occurrence as "scarcely claims in Alaska by foreigners is to attract attention, except from done at considerable risk of ulti- those directly interested. mate loss:

Leaves for His Steamer.

Capt. W. H. Bergman left in a small boat this morning for Andreafski, 250 miles this side of St. Michaels, where he will take his old position of master of the steamer Bella, which wintered at that point. The steamer will be brought up the river at once and put on the run up the Koyukuk between the Yukon and Bergman, where she will connect with lighter draught boats on the upper river. The Bella is one of the A. C. Co's. steamers.
