A Number of Unarmed Natives Suspected of Being Spies Shot by Boers.

Cape Town, Sept. 17.—General and Lady Hildyard will sail for England on the steamship Hawarden Castle next Thursday.

Col. Scobell, who has been operating against the Boer invaders in the northern part of the colony has returned to Cape Town.

It is reported that the Boers have shot six unarmed natives in the Steynsburg district on suspicion of being spies.

A Cape policeman named Fivaz, who was lately made prisoner by Van Reenen's commando, has arrived at Hopetown. He stated that he and two native boys were sleeping on a farm at Winterhoek. In the morning they found five Boers around the house, and escape was impossible. The Boers shot the two natives, and made Fivaz walk to their laager at Strydenburg. Van Reenen declared that he intended to keep him prisoner, make him walk ahead of the commando until he dropped and then abandon him. Van Reenen, however, subsequently yielded to the request of Malherbe, and released him. The commando then went to Kree Kloof, where they caught two more natives from Prieska, whom it is stated they intended to shoot. Mr. Wright, a farmer, asked Van Reenen to spare their lives, and merely to give them a beating. Van Reenen, however, made no reply, and departed, taking the scouts with him. Later on Wright heard shots, and afterwards found the scouts' bodies lying on the road a mile away. The Boers also jamboked one of Mr. Wright's native boys.

"We were very much pleased with the design you sent. It was beautiful and appropriate." The Victoria Ave. Greenhouses receive such words of commendation every day. Telephone No. 181.

ROOSEVELT RETAINS CABINET AND ENDORSES M'KINLEY'S POLICY

The New President is Very Earnest in his Determination That no Change in the Course of the Government Shall Come Through Him or His Administration.

Washington, September 17.—President Roosevelt at 3 o'clock to-day convened his first cabinet meeting held in Washington. At this meeting the President asked the members of Mr. McKinley's cabinet to retain their respective portfolios throughout his term and announced that his administration would follow the policy outlined by President McKinley in his Buffalo speech.

After the obsequies over the late President, the cabinet, at President Roosevelt's request, assembled at the residence of Commander Cowles, where the President is staying until after the funeral, principally for the purpose of informing their new chief of the state of affairs in their respective departments. The President desired to learn if there were any matters of moment requiring his attention before his departure to-night for Canton. He was assured that there was nothing of pressing importance.

The President then addressed his advisors collectively, as he had previously done individually, requesting them all to retain their respective positions in his cabinet. Mr. Roosevelt expressed the hope and expectation that every member would serve throughout his term, for, he said, he tendered the appointments as if he had just been elected to the presidency and was forming an original cabinet. The President said, however, there was one difference between the present tender and that of an original offer, namely, under the present circumstances they were not at liberty to decline.

PRESIDENT'S POLICY.

Upon being asked by a member if resignations should be formally presented in the usual manner, the President answered that his action at this meeting had precluded the necessity of presenting resignations.

The discussion turned upon the policy of the administration, and Mr. Roosevelt announced that he regarded the speech of the late President at the Buffalo Pan-American exposition, the day previous to the tragic shooting as outlining the policy to be followed by the administration. It cannot be learned at this time whether or not all the members will be willing to serve the full term.

The cabinet members, with the exception of Secretaries Hay and Long, will accompany the remains of the dead President to Canton to participate in the funeral ceremonies on Thursday.

Secretaries Hay and Long remain in Washington at the President's request, Mr. Roosevelt thinking that some members of the cabinet should continue in Washington.

Aside from the cabinet meeting President Roosevelt saw a few callers during the afternoon. At 7:30 o'clock he and Commander Cowles left the latter's residence for the Pennsylvania railroad station to take the train to Canton.

Mrs. Roosevelt will leave here at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning for Oyster Bay, Long Island.

PLEA OF NOT GUILTY ENTERED FOR ASSASSIN CZOLGOSZ

Prisoner Himself Refused to Say a Word and Paid no Attention to the Tokens of Mourning.—Crowds Hissed Him.

Buffalo, Sept. 17.—Leon F. Czolgosz, the assassin of President McKinley, was arraigned before Judge Edward K. Emery, in the county court at 3 o'clock this afternoon on the indictment for murder in the first degree in fatally shooting President McKinley in the Temple of Music at the Pan-American Exposition, on September 6. Again the stubborn prisoner refused to plead, or even to utter a word around, and the Hon. Logan L. Lewis, ex-supreme court justice, entered a plea of not guilty. The accused will be tried in the supreme court next Monday morning.

Crowds flocked to the city hall today to see the prisoner, but the uncertainty surrounding the question as to whether or not counsel could be secured for him, saved congestion of the court room and corridors of the hall.

The most notable incident of the day was the hissing of the prisoner by the crowds who surged around him as he was being escorted down the stairs still draped in mourning garb. The strong guard of patrolmen and deputy sheriffs had been dispensed with, so that the people were able to get nearer the prisoner as he passed to and from the court room.

As a result of the urging of President Adelbert Root, of the Erie county Bar Association Judge Lewis called the attorney assigned as counsel by Judge Emery yesterday, called at the Erie county jail at 2 o'clock this afternoon to see the prisoner. Czolgosz refused to talk to Judge Lewis and even refused to answer questions as to whether or not he wanted any counsel. Judge Lewis said that nevertheless he would appear for the prisoner upon arraignment even if he decided not to accept the assignment of the court.

PRISONER WOULDN'T TALK.

Absolutely no demonstration having been made against the prisoner yesterday the authorities decided that the strong guard was unnecessary to-day. Czolgosz was taken from the jail through the tunnel under Delaware avenue to the city hall by Detectives Solomon and Geary, being handcuffed to the latter.

In passing from the basement of the city hall to the court rooms on the second floor, Czolgosz was compelled to pass close to the black and white bunting with which the pillars, ceilings, windows and stairways of the city hall were draped, when the body of the President was lying in state on Sunday, which garb will not be removed till after the burial Thursday. These evidences of the city's grief apparently made not the slightest impression on the prisoner, and he gave no more heed to them or the large portraits of the President tastefully draped with American flags, than he did to the questions of the court or district attorney.

The prisoner entered the court room just as the city hall clock was striking 3 o'clock, and as many of the curious spectators as could surge into the court room behind him. A murmur ran through the audience, but the gavel of the judge and the staff of the crier, soon restored order. As soon as Czolgosz was before the court and the handcuffs were removed, District Attorney Penney began the formal arraignment. He read the principal charges of the indictment in a voice of severity, and asked:

"How do you plead, guilty or not guilty?"

Not a sound was uttered by the prisoner. He stood mute before the bar of justice, apparently continuing his feat of insanity, which was noticed for the first time when he was taken into court yesterday.

TRIAL ON MONDAY.

When the prisoner refused to plead the district attorney asked him if he understood what had been read, and receiving no answer, told him that he had been indicted for murder in the first degree, and that he could answer "yes" or "no." For an instant Czolgosz glanced at Mr. Penney, and it was thought he intended to speak, but he did not.

Judge Lewis then addressed the court at length, saying that he had called upon the defendant, but had been unable to ascertain of any wish on the defendant's part, as to the employment of counsel. He said that his associate, Judge Titus, was in Milwaukee, and that he had appeared informally to enter a plea of not guilty on behalf of the defendant, as the law required such a plea under the circumstances. He asked permission to reserve the right to withdraw the plea and enter a special plea or interpose a demurrer if, on consulting with Judge Titus, they should decide not to ask the court to assign other counsel.

District Attorney Penney gave notice that he would move to have the indictment transferred to the supreme court, and would also notice the trial for next Monday morning.

"I know of no reason why defendant should not be ready next Monday," replied Judge Lewis. At his request, however, the orders will not be entered until Judge Titus returns, which will probably be in a day or two.

Judge Lewis said he might also take an order of the court for aliases to examine the prisoner, as the district attorney had informed him that eminent alienists had examined the prisoner on behalf of the people. This gave rise to the belief that a special plea of insanity may be entered by the counsel for the defense.

WHY SHE OBJECTED.

"I'll never go anywhere with a shirt-waist man again," she exclaimed angrily.

"Does it shock your sense of propriety?"

"Oh, no; I think it looks all right, but—"

"But what?"

"Why, when you are walking with a shirt-waist man he is the one who attracts all the attention."

Carrie A. Nation Arrives in Ottawa—Visits two Bar-Rooms.

Smashes a Mirror in one and a Number of Bottles in Another to the Delight of the Hoodlum element.

Ottawa, Sept. 17.—Carrie A. Nation went today on a smashing expedition in Ottawa and did a little damage in two saloons, interviewed the chief of police and the mayor, lectured in Orme's Hall and caused quite a furor in the city. The saloon smasher from Kansas came rather unexpectedly, although some weeks ago it was announced that she would visit the capital. When it was announced that she was coming to the city few people believed it, but this afternoon Mrs. Nation, smiling, arrived in the city, and was welcomed by the reporters and her local managers. She put up at Russell, and about five o'clock started down Sparks street. Mrs. Nation wore a long linen cloak over a black dress, and also wore a poke bonnet. She carried a brown leather bag of large size, hanging by a strap from her shoulder, and carried a hatchet. Escorted by several newspaper men and followed by scores of people, Mrs. Nation went down to the Globe Hotel, at the corner of Bank and Sparks Sts., and walked into the bar. A big crowd followed her and the bar was filled in an instant.

"You should be in a better business," she said to the silent bartender, who kept looking at the hatchet. "Don't you know you are a home-smasher?" asked Mrs. Nation. "I don't want to hurt you, but I am going to show you that I don't approve of your business. I am going to smash that looking glass," said Mrs. Nation, pointing at a large mirror behind the bar.

"Don't you do it," said the bartender.

"Yes, I will," said Mrs. Nation. "You'll go to jail if you do."

"No, I won't." So, there and then she threw the hatchet, and the glass scattered in a hundred pieces.

The crowd cheered, and when the
