THE WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT

John J. Martin, Labor M. P. P. Chatham, who spent a few days of last week in St. John in conference with the executive of the New Brunswick Federation of Labor, returned home Thursday evening. Among the matters under consideration was the Workmen's Compensation Act, particularly the suggested changes in the Act advanced by the Lumbermen's Association. While there, Mr. Martin had a conference with Premier Foster, and suggested on behalf of the Federation that a conference representative of the Employers of Labor of the Province, and representatives of the Federation, including also representatives of the Government, and of the Workmen's Compensation Board be arranged for in the near future to discuss Workmen's Compensation Act.

Will Search For Gold In Labrador

Ottawa, Jan. 3.—Matthew Morris, of Wilson's Corners, Que., is here making final preparations for a long journey to Northern Labrador. He has been engaged by a company in which some ten Ottawa men are heavily interested, to be the mining expert in an expedition to the new gold field.

The company is purchasing two suitable vessels in Halifax and will have them outfitted in time to sail by the 29th instant.

ANOTHER ADVANCE

Ottawa, Jan. 4.—Commencing Monday, January 1st, both The Ottawa Journal and The Ottawa Citizen increased the sale price of their paper to a copy. This has been made necessary by a further increase in news print, which went into effect at the beginning of the New Year, and also the fact that commencing with 1923 the full effect of increased postal charges introduced in 1922 must be met.

There are indications that there will be a second advance in news print in 1923, probably about the middle of the year.

THE MARITIME UNIVERSITY SCHEME

The maritime university federation scheme as agreed upon at recent conferences, provides for the removal of maritime higher educational institutions to Halifax, there to become constituent colleges of a new university, each retaining its own name, endowment and property. The scheme also calls for a non-denominational constituent college with its own board of governors distinct from the new university. The government shall be in a board consisting for the first six years of two from each constituent college and twelve others representing the public at large, and after six years board shall consist of the president of the university, one from each of the constituent colleges, six elected by the associated alumni of all colleges, three named by the governor of Nova Scotia and three by the governor of New Brunswick, one by the governor of P. E. I. and one by the governor of Newfoundland, and divided into groups so that one group shall report each year. The university senate is to consist of the president of the university, the heads of several constituent colleges and one member of full professional rank of the Arts faculty of each constituent college, the deans of the several faculties of the university, two professors of the university teaching Pure Science, two professors of each faculty of the university. The colleges are each to hand over their library collection, scientific apparatus, etc. It is hoped to have faculties of arts and pure science, law, medicine, dentistry, applied science and to organize with possible faculties of agriculture, pharmacy, forestry, fine arts, education, etc., while in theories any constituent college will give instruction and conduct examinations under its own regulations. As to finances it is provided that each federated institution shall retain control of present property and buildings, that a uniform scale of fees shall be adopted, that each college shall fix its own board and lodging charges, control its own scholarships. The concluding sections of the tentative agreement provided for the appointment of two representatives from each university and government to present the plan to their government with a request for aid to present it to the Carnegie trust for its consideration and aid. In submitting the scheme to the public to-day there is also submitted a statement of Fletcher Peacock setting forth the claims of Moncton as the most central spot for the location of this university and suggesting a Moncton grant of 500 acres of land and a substantial endowment to be supplemented by a provincial endowment to neutralize the present advantage held by Halifax.

INDIAN DAY AT BANFF

BANFF Indian Day—always the third Monday and Tuesday in July, was this year the most successful of its kind ever held in the thirty-two years since its inauguration. An atmosphere of festivity prevailed the two days the tribe of six hundred Stoney Indians were at Banff, the centre of that most beautiful part of the Canadian Pacific Rockies.

No place in the world could have a more perfect setting for an event such as this, and what could be more picturesque than the Tschantoga Indians "people of the woods," in their native costumes amid these Great Hills. There is a dignity and poise to these people of the woods—calm, strong faces with character written in every line and seam of their countenances.

The parade started at nine thirty, and circled around the main street twice before going to the Banff Springs Hotel. The streets en route to the hotel were thronged with residents and tourists, and the steps of the hotel and court were densely packed with onlookers for the distribution of prizes for the best native costumes took place here. The Governor General and Lady Byng, who were on their way west over the C.P.R., were among those who viewed the proceedings. Lady Margaret Boscowen, sister of Baron Byng, presented the prizes won.

The parade was most spectacular, and combined with the sports it was well worth travelling hundreds of miles to see. The chiefs rode at the head of the procession and looked picturesque in their costumes of buck-skin and bead work, and gay head-pieces of feathers and ermine. Not only were the natives decked out in their gala attire, but the horses also shared in the pomp and splendour. Their trappings were also made of buckskin, with patterns worked in beads, the coloring and designs of superb workmanship. Skins were also used, and designs of various colors. The higher the rank of their rider the more beautiful and costly the trappings.

The sports were held in the encampment grounds on one side of which the Indians had erected their picturesque wigwags. The grand stand was packed and thousands were present, and fever in the history of Banff was this event witnessed. Cars were lined up in all directions, and the excitement of the day was intense. There were many interesting and well-attended events, including a bucking contest, and a horse race. There was a great deal of shooting, and the day was a very successful one. The success it undoubtedly proved to be.

bucking contest. Three money prizes were given for each race. The Governor General, Lady Byng and party attended, and later left for Lake Louise. The cowboy race was the most spectacular. There was a pole at each end of the course, which the horses had to go around, and as they appeared to get there almost simultaneously, it was a wild jumble of horses and riders apparently on top of one another.

The setting for this scene was perfect. Hills well timbered with dark spruce and pine, and behind them the mountains in a dull grey haze—due to the distant forest fires. Against this setting the teepees stood, white with the top a cinnamon brown, smoked from camp fires within. Many were of brilliant colors, beautifying the encampment grounds still further. The excitement of the afternoon over, the Indian families returned to their own quarters, and the little played on the green grass in front of their teepees. Some of the men and women reclined on skins, or blankets in the cool of the early evening. Squaws went to the brook for water, others came from the woods with bundles of faggots, and soon fires were started for supper, and their flames leapt into the air, adding more color to this already brilliant scene.

The Indian Day Committee are to be congratulated on giving Canada this annual event, which is so typical of the west, and the beauty of which is in keeping with the great hills and woods of the west. The day was a very successful one, and the success it undoubtedly proved to be.

Cause of Early Old Age

The celebrated Dr. Michonoff, an authority on early old age, says that it is "caused by poisons generated in the intestines." When your stomach digests food properly it is absorbed without forming poisonous matter. Pepsins bring on early old age and premature death. 15 to 30 drops of "Sign's Syrup" after meals makes your digestion sound.
