DIED FROM HIS INJURIES.—Henry Vanwart, the young man who was smashed up by being run over by a train on the New Brunswick & Canada Railway on Monday the 17th, died the next day.

OBITUARY.—It is the proper place to give a notice of the death of Mrs. William Boone, at the early age of 31; also of the death of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Vanwart's infant son. We extend our sympathy.

LEGAL.—A. L. Blyea, Esq., lately of the Capital staff, and who is one of the latest batch of lawyers, has secured an office on the corner of Queen and Carleton streets, and will be ready for business this week.

THE WATER SUPPLY.—The Water Committee held a meeting on Friday and agreed upon some by-laws which will be reported to the City Council at its next meeting. They also decided upon opening a communication with leading engineers in the United States.

THE SIDEWALKS.—The officer in charge of the platforms ought not to delay any longer than can possibly be avoided in repairing Queen street platforms so as to make it fit to walk on until the new pavements are put down. It is very dangerous to pedestrians in its present condition.

HOTEL CHANGE.—Mr. Wm. Olive, of Carleton, St. John, takes charge of the Grand Falls Hotel on the first of May. Mr. Olive is a son of ex-Mayor Olive of St. John, and is well known in the Province. The present proprietor of the hotel, Mr. F. W. Brown, retains the management of the hotel until the new manager arrives.

A RARE CHANCE FOR SOME ONE.—A splendid large painting by G. T. Taylor, representing lumber driving on the S. W. Miramichi below Doaktown, will be disposed of in a few days by lottery. Tickets only one dollar each. All who may wish to buy a ticket or see the picture will please call at Mr. Taylor's rooms next above Habbitt's jewelry store.

ROBBERY.—Entrance was effected Thursday night by some party or parties, through a pane of glass in the window of the blacksmith shop of Mr. Israel Risteen, on Westland street, and three bars of steel, weighing about thirty pounds each, taken therefrom. Some boxes of axes were also overhauled, but none of their contents are missing. The robbers made their escape through the front door, which was found open this morning. No clue to the parties.

PERSONAL.—Rev. Mr. Alexander left Monday morning to attend a meeting of the Provincial Synod in Montreal.

MAJOR W. S. MORRIS, formerly of Fredericton, but now of Clitham, leaves for Winnipeg in a short time and will settle there.

CAPTAIN McMULLEN, formerly of the river steamer "May Queen," is now connected with the firm of Messrs. Gutter & Co., Indian town, St. John, and is giving his whole time to the business.

WEDDING BELLS.—A very pleasing social event took place Thursday at the residence of the bride's brother, Mr. J. J. Weddell, on Brunswick street, when Miss Nettie Mildred Weddell, sixth daughter of the late Rev. R. Weddell, was united in the bonds of holy wedlock to Mr. John Burnett of Lower Kings clear, by the Rev. E. Evans, of the Methodist Church of this city. The wedding took place very quietly, only a few relatives and friends being present. The bride's sister, Miss Louisa Weddell, was bride's maid, and Mr. Edgerton & Co., of Kingsclear, supported the groom.

FAMILY BRAWL.

Mrs. Christopher Seagrave, a fat and forty-in-the-gravel-looking middle aged woman, appeared at the Police Court on Saturday between five and six o'clock in company with a female friend who was supporting her, and laid complaint against her husband for beating her. Mrs. Seagrave was holding on to her left side and groaning audibly.

SCHOOL DESKS.—Mr. Robert Sutherland of this city shipped a number of school desks to Bathurst Village, Gloucester Co., Monday morning, the last shipment of a large order to that place. He also sent quite a big lot to Bellefleur Station, on the Intercolonial Railway, at the same time. Mr. Sutherland does a large business in school desks, &c., and is constantly receiving orders from all parts of the Province.

NEW BRICK YARD.—Mr. Michael Ryan is making preparations to start a new brick yard on the lawlor property, near the Hermitage, which he recently purchased from Mr. Michael Lawlor. He is bridging the gully and making other arrangements for the purpose of his brick yard, on quite an extensive scale. Mr. Ryan is also widening the house on the property and putting up some new outbuildings in connection with it.

THE CATHEDRAL.—In the absence of His Lordship the Metropolitan and the Right Rev. Dr. Kingdon, Bishop Coadjutor, Sub Dean Alexander preached in the Cathedral Sunday morning, and was assisted in the service by the Rev. Messrs. Weeks and Montgomery. In the evening the Rev. G. G. Roberts preached, and the service was conducted by the Sub Dean and Rev. Mr. Montgomery.

A HINT TO LOCAL POLITICIANS.—A note but very thorough way of reconstructing administrations is given in a despatch of the 20th inst., which says that "political massacres have recommenced in Mandalay. King Theebaw has put to death an inferior wife, two half-sisters, the Chancellor of the Exchequer and fifty-three relatives." There are some who are sanguinary enough to recommend such a course of procedure to the local Opposition. Imagine a wholesale wiping out of a government, and their sisters, and their consins and their aunts in the case of the present administration.

BUILDING NOTES.—Dr. McAllister intends erecting a dwelling house on the Dunn property on Queen street, nearly opposite the Queen Hotel. The building at present on the front of the lot was originally built and converted into woodsheds and other offices, and the dwelling will be put up upon its new stands. The Fredericton Branch Railway Company contemplate putting up a new brick engine house on the site of one destroyed by fire during the past winter. Work will be commenced so soon as the frost gets out of the ground and the condition of the foundation of the old building can be ascertained. It is thought that it is not deep enough to support a brick building.

WANTED.—What is the matter with the hens? Has the blight of the N. P. fallen upon them, too, that they have declined to lay? The cry of the housewife is for eggs, and the general grocery clerk responds, "No, ma'am, we're just out." The hungry man longed for an egg at his maternal repast, but he came and gone, and eggs are scarce—scarce almost to the point of absence. If any agriculturist is saving up the produce of his poultry yard against a day of high prices we warn him to desist from his fenshish schemes. The heart of the community longed for eggs, and a swift vengeance will fall upon the head of him who, though able to do so, satisfact not its yearnings.

The Ice.

Single horse teams crossed on the river Sunday, and on Saturday last at least one double team, partially loaded, made its way safely to Gibson from this city. There are a good many holes in the ice, but in those places where it has been cut out around the imprisoned vessels. It seems almost as solid as ever. The water has risen a little, but not enough yet to make the approach to the ice at all difficult, and the weather of the last few days has had no appreciable effect upon the condition of things. There is every reason to believe that the ancient custom of starting on Sunday will be adhered to by the ice this year, at least there is no indication that it will get away this week. The river is clear for small craft above St. John, and at Gagetown there has been open water for a week, although further down the ice the report is "everything is in statu quo." Everybody would like to see a change.

Tennyson's Patriotic Song.

The Secretary of the Royal Colonial Institute, Mr. Frederick Tousey, has sent to His Honor the Lieutenant Governor of New Brunswick, a copy of the Post Laureate's new patriotic song, "Hands All Round," and His Honor has handed the song to Mr. J. H. Williamson, Bandmaster of the Fredericton Brass Band, who will arrange the music for the band so that it can be played on the Queen's Birthday. The following despatch note accompanied it:—

ROYAL COLONIAL INSTITUTE,
LONDON, 15 STRAND, W. 1 C.
18th March, 1882.

DEAR SIR,—At the request of Mr. Tennyson, I beg to transmit a copy of an English and Colonial National Song, entitled, "Hands All Round," which is a desirous should be sung through the British Empire at the approaching anniversary of Her Majesty's birthday.

As the song is intended to give expression to the loyal and patriotic sentiments which find a place in the breasts of all Englishmen in whatever part of Her Majesty's Dominions they have their home, I venture to count on Your Excellency's kind co-operation in meeting the wishes of the Post Laureate.

I have the honor to be, sir, your obedient servant,
FREDERICK TOUSEY,
Honorary Secretary,
The Royal Colonial Institute,
New Brunswick.

The music will also be placed in the hands of the bandmaster of the 7th Battalion Band of this city, and of the 62nd Foot, St. John. The music was written by an amateur, but edited and arranged by C. Vickers Stanford, and is published by Hooley & Co., Regent street, London, in two keys, E and F.

CITY COUNCIL.

The Water Committee Appointed, and Other Matters Postponed.

A special meeting of the City Council was held Wednesday evening, 19th inst., in the Council Chamber, Mayor Fisher in the chair, for the purpose of taking into consideration the water question and appointing a water committee, and fixing salaries and appointing officers for the ensuing year.

There were present when the Board rose Ald. McPherson, Atherton, Simmons, Hall, Thomas, Burchill, Moore, Wilson, Farrell and Leigh.

After routine His Worship the Mayor said he received some testimonials in regard to the "Brokenhire Pavement" from Halifax, which he desired to lay on the Aldermen's desks before proceeding with business.

The City Marshall distributed them. After which His Worship stated the object of the meeting by reading the resolution for the same.

Ald. Burchill moved, after some discussion as to the mode of procedure, that Ald. McPherson be one of the Water Committee. Carried by a vote of 6 to 4.

Ald. Simmons was put in nomination, but was rejected by a vote of 5 to 2.

Ald. Hall was also thrown out, only three members of the Board voting for him.

Ald. Burchill was appointed without a dissenting voice.

Ald. Thomas declined nomination, as he would not be able to give any time to the business of the Committee.

Ald. Wile was appointed by a vote of five to four.

[All of the Aldermen, it will be noticed, did not vote on some of these appointments, and the members being too modest to vote for themselves.]

Ald. Burchill moved, and was seconded, that the Police Court and Office be removed from the present location into the new quarters in the old Officers' Barracks. Carried.

Ald. Hall moved, and was seconded, that the matter of fixing salaries and appointing officers for the ensuing year be postponed until the next regular meeting.

Ald. Farrell said he thought that, as they had plenty of time, they could just as well not go on with this business. At all events they could appoint a Collector of Taxes. It was important that it should be done, and would take but very little time.

Ald. Moore pointed out that the resolution of last meeting postponing the consideration of the appointment of the Tax Collector, should be taken up at a regular meeting of the Council.

Ald. Simmons suggested moving an amendment to rescind this resolution of last meeting.

Ald. Farrell accordingly moved, and it was seconded by Ald. Simmons, that the resolution of last meeting in regard to the appointment of a Collector of Taxes at a regular meeting, be rescinded.

The amendment was lost on being put to a vote. The original motion carried.

There being nothing before the Board, on motion of Ald. Farrell, the Council adjourned.

The Vacancy in the City Council.

It is thought that at the next meeting of the City Council there will be a slight hitch of some kind on account of a vacancy at the Board, caused by one of the Aldermen for Wellington Ward leaving the city. The salaries have to be fixed, and the officers for the ensuing year appointed, and one of the Aldermen stated at the special meeting on Wednesday evening in this connection, that while he was perfectly willing to be bound and abide by anything that might be done by a full Board, he could not say what his action would be if there was a vacancy. There is some conversation in regard to the appointment of a collector of taxes, and if this appointment does not suit all, there is no doubt from what has been forehad, but what is the best way to fill the vacancy? It is thought that the action of the Alderman for Wellington, in offering again for civic honors at the last election, when he was elected, and he was going to leave the city before one-half of his term of office had expired, was reprehensible in the extreme. There is no doubt but what it was unwise, but it was a matter which could have been remedied even afterwards by a timely resignation on the part of the Alderman whose action is in question, so that a new election could have been held, and the wheels of civic legislation moved on unimpeded. In consequence of this, however, he hangs on to the last minute, and the probabilities are that his absence will cause a vacancy at the Board on the occasion of an important meeting, and that vacancy will just as probably be made a handle for the members of the Council cannot blame the Alderman for Wellington in any way, as they had the remedy in their own hands, but for some reason or other best known to themselves allowed it to pass. The last meeting of the Council was a special meeting, and there was a full Board. On the requisition of that meeting its objects were stated to be the fixing of salaries and the appointment of officers for the ensuing year; and the appointment of the Water Committee. The latter business was done, and although the Council had sat but about an hour and the night was young, the former matter was postponed and the Council adjourned. Here was both time and opportunity to have settled this necessary business before a full Board, and it was allowed to pass unheeded. No reason was given, and the meeting was looked upon by some as a farce, although in the light of after events the ratepayers may take a different view of the matter.

A Boston man, on a rainy day, seeing a man ahead of him who he thought of as a friend, with a silk umbrella hoisted over his head, rushed up to him, clasped his hands on his shoulder, and shouted, by way of a joke: "I'll take that umbrella, if you please." The individual addressed looked around and disclosed an entire stranger, but before the other could apologize, he said hurriedly: "Oh! it's you, is it? Well, I didn't know that. Here, you can have it," and broke away, leaving the umbrella in his hand.

Dominion Parliament.

(Special to THE EVENING HERALD.)

OTTAWA, April 21.

There was a full House and packed galleries this afternoon in anticipation of Coe's resolutions coming up. A special train from Montreal brought several hundred members of St. Patrick's Society, with President McNamee. They, with prominent Irish Canadians from various parts of the country, were deeply interested spectators.

Mr. Coe, who had assented the fifth clause of the resolutions, moved them in amendment to the motion to go into Committee of Supply.

He took up a position more in the centre of his side of the House than he usually occupied and his rising was received with a demonstration. The attitude of the House was one of doubt and expectancy. The question was felt to be an uncertain one, and politicians were afraid that Mr. Coe's speech was a first effort. He spoke far too much of himself and his connection with the resolutions, which he admitted were the result of a meeting, and were submitted with the consent of several Irish Canadians; otherwise his speech was moderate even to timidity in tone. He recapitulated the Irish grievances. The Protestant opinions of the House paid close attention for the most part, but received the speech in a silent silence.

The Government evidently intended the motion then to be passed without further speaking, but Mr. Blake rose, greeted by ringing cheers, and boldly grappled with the Irish question. He declared that the English Government of Ireland during the past eighty years had been a disastrous failure; he favored local self-government, and called Gladstone sharply to account for not taking practical measures for pacification.

No synopsis can give any impression of the boldness, breadth and earnestness of Mr. Blake's deliverance. At first the Opposition only cheered, but later applause resounded from every part of the chamber, despite the frowns and efforts of the Tory party managers to keep their followers from going. The Ministers were at first surprised and then became anxious, and eagerly consulted each other.

Mr. Blake concluded after recess, amid tremendous cheering, one of the greatest speeches of his life.

Sir John replied and amid cries of "Oh!" characterized Blake's speech as that of a demagogue trying to catch the Irish vote. He eulogized Coe and said Blake's speech was calculated to check the efforts in the House of the best of the English people. Messrs. Wright and Conroy who followed (both Conservative) eulogized Blake's magnificent oration and supported the resolution.

Cartwright and Casey followed. At 11 o'clock Brecken and Patterson (Essex) rose together. Anglin, Mills and others are taking notes, and there will be a series of speeches and the resolutions will pass without division.

In Supply the following discussion arose: Mr. Burpee (Sunbury) would like to inquire with regard to the work at Orromoto, and to ask if it would be gone on with. Recommendation was made by the chief engineer of improvement of the River St. John at this point by the erection of another breakwater to deepen the channel.

Sir Hector Langevin said: When the plans were brought to me last year I found that the breakwater had not been constructed according to the plan, but that I checked very much. I had not been able to recommend to my colleagues the construction of any large pier on the other side of the river in order to still further confine the current and give greater depth of water.

Mr. King asked if it was the intention of the Government to do anything in Grand Lake.

Sir Hector was sorry the hon. gentleman did not call attention to Grand Lake before. This was the first time he heard of it.

Mr. King hoped that when the hon. gentleman came down he would favor us with a visit. Application was made for a dredge at McPherson's Cove two years ago, and he received the reply that a survey would be made. Nothing has been done since. Very great difficulties were experienced at certain points of the year in consequence of the sheets at Mahan's Cove. He hoped the hon. gentleman will look into the matter and have the channel dredged.

Sir Hector Langevin read a statement of the different places where dredges were employed this season.

Mr. Burpee (Sunbury)—The New Dominion was not at work.

Sir Hector Langevin showed she was laid up for repairs, and will be in repair to work this season.

Mr. Burpee—Last year she was to be employed at a point in Sunbury.

Sir Hector Langevin—That is true, but she was out of repair.

Mr. Burpee—She was sent to another place, and if I am not mistaken the hon. Minister of Public Works himself gave orders that she be sent to Marble Cove.

Sir Hector Langevin—I remember that while visiting St. John a deputation called upon me. It was to dredge a channel to the public landing, and the people said they had been waiting several years to get it done. The Minister of Public Works had not been able to visit them. I thought their request was a reasonable one, accordingly I ordered the dredge to be there next day, and the work so performed was a public benefit.

Mr. Burpee—I am glad to hear the hon. gentleman state that he was entirely impartial in the expenditure of public money. I felt indignant when some of his supporters merely said no public work should be undertaken in any county that did not support the hon. gentleman. I was fully aware at the time that they were misrepresenting the hon. gentleman dredging Marble Cove, which is a private place, but I would remark he leaves unexcused for the River St. John, where so many vessels pass every day and have to unload their cargoes to get over a shoal. I think I have reason to complain of that. Then with reference to the point of which the member for Queen's has spoken, in reference to the shipping of coal, it is an important point at a certain period of the year. It is impossible for a boat carrying coal to get up to the wharf and the coal has to be shipped in scows. Although this is in the county of Queen's some of my constituents are much interested in these desired improvements, as there are coal mines in the county of Sunbury, and it would be a great relief to them if this dredge could be sent there for a few days.

Sir Hector Langevin—As to the Orromoto Shoals the hon. gentleman must remember we have expended a large sum of money there already, and there was no complaint about them when I was there last summer. The hon. gentleman is perfectly correct in supposing that the Government will construct public works in whatever county requires them, whether it supports the Government or not.

BOSTON, April 20.

Mrs. Mary Russell, 70 years, was murdered by her son-in-law, Edwin R. Prescott, aged 66 years, in West Somerville, to-day. Prescott has shown slight symptoms of insanity of late, brought by the loss of considerable money in various ways. The details of the affair are shocking. Mrs. Russell's skull was fractured, her face stove in and throat cut from ear to ear. The parties all belonged to the best society. Prescott was arrested and told his story without agitation. Prescott will probably not be arraigned but be taken directly to an insane asylum.

LONDON, April 20.

Charles Robert Darwin, a well-known scientist, is dead. He died at his residence, Down House, near Orpington. Darwin has been ill some some days and was supposed to be recovering, but had a relapse on Tuesday and never rallied.

In the Commons, to-night, during the debate on the recent circuit in regard to Clifford Lloyd, and concerning the duty of self-protection, Mr. Redmond persisted in announcing Mr. Foster as dishonest. The Speaker named him and his suspension was ordered by a vote of 207 to 12. Redmond thereupon withdrew.

MELBOURNE, April 21.

THE TRIAL OF THE QUEEN'S WOULD-BE ASSASSIN—A VERDICT OF NOT GUILTY.

LONDON, April 19.—At Reading to-day, Lord Chief Justice Coleridge charged the Grand Jury in the case of Roderick McLean, who attempted to shoot Queen Victoria at Windsor on the 2nd of March. His Lordship said that a State trial in England had been rare, but the law bearing on the case, though 500 years old was undoubted. The facts, as narrated in the depositions of the witnesses of the assault, clearly supported the charge. Baron Huddleston was also on the bench. Sir George Boyer is foreman of the Grand Jury. The Grand Jury returned a true bill for high treason against McLean, who was placed in the dock. He looked pale and haggard. He pleaded not guilty in a firm but low voice.

Sir Henry James, Attorney General, opened the case for the prosecution. He said it was a very aged case. The witnesses were not cross-examined. Montague Williams in opening for the prisoner, made insanity the ground of the defence. He said it could be shown that McLean had had a homicidal mania for years and that the English people were against him; and also it could be proved that McLean had been confined in an asylum. In his charge to the Jury the Chief Justice said that no head of any state was entitled to be in danger of regicidal attacks, neither the chief of a military empire nor the president of a great republic. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty on the ground of insanity.

After the jury rendered the verdict of acquittal on the ground of insanity it was ordered that McLean be detained in custody during Her Majesty's pleasure. The deliberations of the jury occupied but five minutes.
