VIEWS OF THE TARIFF.

Toronto, Nov. 30-The Globe will say editorially tomorrow of the new tariff. Purpose of intermediate tariff is to place in the hands of the government a powerful means of negotiating with friendly nations disposed to accord to Canada their minimum tariff. There will be general gratification that the market preference to the Mother Country has been continued, and in some points strengthened. It is there that the great bulk of our agricultural products are marketed and it is a well recognized economic fact that there is no better way to facilitate exports than by facilitating imports. Liberal rates, therefore placed on commodities of British origin will make it easier to market our cheese, butter, bacon, grain and cattle in that great British market that seems to have so great capacity for assimilating such commodities. We are entitled to look also for similar benefits from the intermediate tariff, which appears for the first time in our customs schedules. If it leads to mutual understandings between us and foreign countries it will provide additional markets for our rapidly expanding products.

Toronto, Nov. 30—Concerning the tariff, it is quite satisfactory so far as dry goods are concerned," said J. W. Woods, of the firm of Gordon MacKay & Co. "There is a big change in linens, 25 per cent. straight instead of 16 2-3 from Britain, but the principle of encouraging manufacture by admitting the coarse yarns free of duty is worked upon. Manufacturers do not have to go to the raw flax. They can import the coarse yarns and in that way escape the intricate primary processes. Under such circumstances it is difficult for Canadian factories to treat the raw product but if they are allowed to import the partly manufactured article they can complete its manufacture here. Such a policy would build up Canada as a manufacturing nation."

A. L. Smith, of the Weekly Sun, said, "Farmers feared an increase in the tariff when the subject was first discussed but as far as I am able to see there has been no materials increase in anything the farmer has to buy. On the other hand there is a reduction on some important lines."

Mr. J. D. Allan, of A. A. Allan & Co.. objects to the regulation providing that the British preference will only be extended to imported goods upon which there is a bona fide 25 per cent of British labor, exclusive of profits.

H. P. Eckardt: "I don't think there will be any change in the price of sugar. The market has been pretty firm for some time. There is an increase of about seven cents a hundred on raw material. The refined article is the same as before. The increase on raw material is scarcely large enough to result in price increase.'

From "Canada, the New Nation," by H. R. Whates. (London, 1906. J. M. Dent & Co.)
The following excellent reference to Edmonton and the Edmonton district is from a recent book entitled "Canada The New Nation," by H. R. Whates (1906 London, J.M. Dent & Co). We have not yet had an opportunity of perusing the book in question, but if the rest of the book describes other portions of Canada as accurately, the work should make a very valuable addition to literature on the Dominion. Mr. Whates is a journalist by pro-fession, being on the staff of one of the big London dailies. He spent a Sunday in Edmonton in the summer of 1905, and managed in the short time at his disposal to carry away with him wonderfully accurate impression as to the resources of the district. Whates was shown some courtesy by the board of trade and was driven through Clover Bar, Agricola and Horse Hills settlements, via Fort Saskatche

Edmonton, the capital of the province of Alberta, lies nearly a day's journey by rail northward from Calgary. On the east, some hundrels of miles, are the rich valley lands of the Saskatche-way. For about fifty miles to the south and also to the north, and westward to the foothills of the Rocky Mountains, is a tract of rich black soil. The soil of the Edmonton district is of the first order.
The city of Edmonton is beautifully situated ont he northern sice of a rtuous and tree-covered ravine; the river winding about some two hundred feet below and looking like a silvered ribbon carelessly thrown down over yellow gravel and sand. Here, at Strathcona, on the south of the ravine, is the terminus of the branch line from Calgary. But this is not the only railway to serve the district, for the main line of the Canadian Northern has passed through the Saskatchewan Valley to Edmonton. Moreover the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway will go through Ed-monton on its way to the ocean. Then again the C. P. R. has located a line from Edmonton running south-east through the vast pear-shaped tract en-closed by the forks of the North and South Saskatchewan. And from Ednton a line is to run due north to Athabasca Landing, towards the great waterway of the Peace and Mackenzie Rivers. What do these things mean? Edmonton is destined to become a railway centre such as Winnipeg now is. That is one reason, apart from the richness of the land, why I suggest that this unknown district may i become the home of millions. Settlement will surge up the Saskatchewan Valley, and is, indeed, doing so today it wil pass northward, over the arid lands east of Calgary to the rich soil of Red Deer Valley, upwards to Edmonton, and beyond that town to the Peace River region.

That is not a wild prophecy. The directors of the G. T. P., the C. N. R, and the C. P. R. do not lay railroads through lands which are not habitable or do not possess solid attractions to homeseekers. They know the soil over which their trains will pass. They are not likely to have formed an erroneous judgment as to the numbers which will throng along the lines of communication. Population, indeed, is noving northward and westward to Edmonton now. The land is being taken up rapidly, and though the acreage yet available is reckoned by millions, the early comers will snap up the best amount. the lines under construction, or shorty to be built.

Daily, while I was in the region, a trainload of homeseekers went north from Calgary. The majority of them went on to Edmonton to search for land on the north Saskatchewan. That process will be repeated next year, andthe next, and for many years, over the existing lines and over lines now being constructed. There can be little doubt Britishers impression continued that the region of which Edmonton is the centre will contain a very considerable population. Here is a spacious homeland for England's excess of population, It is the genial Chinook winds tions from Mr. J. A. Trimble, to sell which make the winter temperature of by public auction, at his farm S.E. these northern Edmonton lands appre- 1-4 of section 36, township 52, range clably higher than that of Manitoba. 24, four miles east of Strathcona. As a matter of strict fact, grain is successfully grown four hund ed miles north of Edmonton, for the Hudson's Bay Company has a fine modern mill working at Fort Vermilion, while there is another at Peace River Landing, 300 HORSESmiles north. But Edmonton is essentially too an area for mixed farming. Hog-raising is already an important industry. Cattle and sheep do well. There is a bountiful supply of timber for log housebuilding and fuel; and in this respect the region has an advantage over any homesteading land west of the third meridian. And Nature, ever lavish, has furnished the Edmonton country with natural gas and illimitable coal, which lies just under the prairie and crops out in the ravine of the Saskatchewan. The Edmonton farmer pursues his way, sublimely confident that acres which are yet unsaleable will make his children. women.
