Four dreary hours were spent Saturday afternoon in listening to the arguments in atternoon in listening to the arguments in the que warranto arising out of Mayor Howland's election. The preceedings took place before R. G. Dalton, master in chambers at Osgoode hall. The relator. Felity, was represented by John Bain, Q.C., and George Kappell, and his wership by Christopher Robinson, Q.C., Z. A. Lash, Q.C., and Henry O'Brien. Mr. Lash made objection that the master had no jurisdiction, and that a writ of one warrante could only and that a writ of quo warranto could only be ignued by a judge. The Master reserved the question of jurisdiction, and the case proceeded. The counsel concluded their arguments shortly before 6 o'clock. JudgeGREEN'S GATHERING
