BOSTON REVOLTED.

When Commodore Knowles Worked His Press Gang in 1747.

In the year 1747 a great tumult was raised in the town of Boston. Commodore Knowles, while lying at Nantucket with a number of men of war, losing some of his men by desertion, thought it reasonable that Boston should supply him with as many men as he had lost. He therefore sent his boats uptown early in the morning and surprised not only as many seamen as could be found on board of any of the boats outward bound as well as others, but swept the wharfs, taking some ship carpenters' apprentices and landmen.

This conduct was resented. As soon as it was dusk several people assembled in King street, below the town house, where the general court was sitting. Stones and bricks were thrown into the council chamber through the windows. A judicious speech of the governor from the balcony, disapproving of the impress and promising his utmost endeavors to obtain the discharge of the persons impressed, had no effect. The seizure and restraint of the commanders and other officers who were in town were insisted upon as the only effectual method to procure the release of the inhabitants on board the ships. The militia was summoned in aid of the government, but refused to appear.

Letters in the meantime passed between the governor and the commodore. The council and house of representatives now passed some vigorous resolutions, and the tumultuous spirit began to subside. Finally the commodore dismissed most if not all of the inhabitants who had been impressed, and the squadron sailed.

PURIFIED HIS BLOOD

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills Healed Mr. Wilson's Sores

When the sewers of the body—bowels, kidneys and skin ducts—get clogged up, the blood quickly becomes impure and frequently sores break out over the body. The way to heal them, as Mr. Richard Wilson, who lives near London, Ont., found, is to purify the blood. He writes:

"For some time I had been in a low, depressed condition. My appetite left me and I soon began to suffer from indigestion. Quite a number of small sores and blotches formed all over my skin. I tried medicine for the blood and used many kinds of ointments, but without satisfactory results. What was wanted was a thorough cleansing of the blood, and I looked about in vain for some medicine that would accomplish this.

At last Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills were brought to my notice, and they are one of the most wonderful medicines I have ever known. My blood was purified in a very short time, sores healed up, my indigestion vanished. They always have a place in my home and are looked upon as the family remedy."

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills cleanse the system thoroughly. Sold by all dealers at 25c a box.

NOISY FISHES.

The Skate Grunts, the Puffer Chuckles, and the Drumfish Booms.

Perhaps the most conspicuous example of the fishes that are capable of utterance is the drumfish, so called by reason of the deep, booming noise it produces at will. It is found along the Atlantic coast from Massachusetts to Florida.

The squeteague, another salt water fish of the noisy variety, resembles in appearance the trout, and the not unmusical sound that it gives out is much like the note uttered by a big bullfrog. Allied to the squeteague is the fish known as "the croaker," which, as its popular name indicates, affects the croak—an unmistakable croak.

The sea robin, so called because it has crimson fins just behind its head, about the size of birds' wings, is another fish that makes itself heard. The "squawk" of the sea robin is especially emphatic when on being caught it lifts up its voice in reiterated protests.

There is a fish that may be said to chuckle—the little puffer or swellfish. It puffs itself into the shape of a perfect sphere and as it does so gives out a peculiar, hoarse chuckle.

The skate when caught grunts, groans and gasps pretty much after the manner of a human being in distress. Carp and goldfish frequently utter curious sounds, but hardly sounds in the meaning of the term here used, inasmuch as their sounds are produced by approaching the surface of the water and blowing out air in bubbles until a rippling noise is heard.—Denver Republican.

Sparrow Diet For a Stork.

An English sparrow flew into the flying cage in the zoo and began helping itself to the cracked corn thrown upon the ground by the keeper. A Brazilian stork quietly approached and shot out its six inch red beak and caught the sparrow. Going to the fountain, the big bird dipped the little one in the water and then swallowed it and looked about for more.

"Oh, you cannibal! You ought to get a beating!" exclaimed a woman visitor.

"The sparrow ought to know better than to go in there," explained the keeper. "The stork has been eating half a dozen of these birds a week since he came here. The English sparrow has a quick eye and is quick on the wing and is seldom caught by prowling cats, but doesn't suspect anything with feathers on. The big bird is getting fat on a sparrow diet."—New York Sun.

True to His Promise.

"Dearest, will you let me share your every sorrow after we are married?" she whispered as she cuddled her cheek against his.

"Yes, darling," he replied, again plucking a delicious kiss from her sweet lips.

It was the same lady who two years later wearily cried out:

"Oh, Tom, why can't you ever come into the house without bringing a tale of trouble with you? I'm so sick of hearing about how hard you have to work to keep the bills paid."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Ancient Proofreading.

The editions of books printed 200 or 300 years ago are almost entirely free from typographical errors, which may be attributed to the fact that early publishers were generally eminent scholars and themselves gave much attention to the revision of their proofs. After reading the proofs they frequently turned them over to other scholars with the request to revise and correct, and as the printer's time was then deemed a matter of small consequence a perfection was attained which is seldom equaled by modern printers.—Exchange.

"PILLS LIKE A FYLE"

So Harsh and Drastic are Many Pills as to Seriously Injure Health.

In a letter written from his home in Valencia, Mr. Marsh Selwyn does service to thousands by drawing attention to the injuries inflicted upon delicate people by drastic purgative pills.

"For a long time I suffered from constipation. This condition compelled the use of pills. Like many another, I made the unwise choice of using pills that were like lightning in their activity. I began to be filled with intestinal disturbances, constant rumblings, gas in the bowels and diarrhoea. I grew pale and emaciated. Then the doctor told me drastic irritating pills had caused catarrh of the bowels, an almost incurable disease. Explaining my situation to a friend, he advised a trial of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I speedily experienced the healing and curative effect they exert on the stomach, liver and bowels. The intestines, freed from irritating drugs, rapidly regained natural tone, the bowels acted as if nature and not Dr. Hamilton's Pills were at work. I know it will be of value to thousands to know that a pill as mild and curative as Dr. Hamilton's is available to the ailing."

For bowel disorders, sick headache, constipation, liver and stomach derangement, there is no pill so invariably sure to cure as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Refuse a substitute. Sold in 25c boxes, all dealers, or The Catarrh-ozone Co., Kingston, Ont.
