BRIDGETOWN, MARCH 26, 1879.

THE UNITED STATES.

All our well-informed readers are aware that by the constitution of the United States, on every alternate year the congressional session opens on the first Monday in December...

On and after the 7th of April next, the steamer "Soud" or "Empress" will make three trips a week between St. John and Annapolis.

The river is still closed to navigation, owing to the ice remaining firm. A south-east rain storm is wanted to clear it out.

There are no doubt a few conscientious patriots on the seats of Congress; but it is manifest there are many in that legislature, whose only aim and ambition is the promotion of personal interests...

Of course such party bitterness and other demoralizing causes clog the wheels of legislation; and thus the national interests are sacrificed to the private interests of a few individuals.

While the people of the United States are indebted to Great Britain for literature, for a code of legal wisdom, and judicial authority in the practice of their courts...

Germany to day is not only undergoing the perplexities of business depression and financial embarrassment; but the populace is discontented and restless.

For some time past letters passing through the Halifax Post Office have been missing, especially unregistered letters containing money.

While we hail with pleasure these harbingers of spring, we are reminded many have said of late to man's last enemy "Do not blast my springing hopes."
