

Income Tax Forms Are now available

Returns must be filed on or before 31st March

THE Dominion Income War Tax Act requires you to fill in one or more of the five special Forms provided before 31st March, 1918. In order to assist the public to understand just what is required of them, information on each Form is given below. Read carefully, then get three copies of the form that fits your case and fill them in. Answer all questions fully and accurately. For making false statements, a penalty of $10,000 or six months' imprisonment, or both, is provided.

Individuals.—All persons unmarried, and all widows or widowers without dependent children; whose income is $1500 a year or more, must fill in Form T1. All other persons whose income is $3000 or more, use the same Form. Where any income is derived from dividends, list amounts received from Canadian and Foreign securities separately. Fill in pages 1, 2 and 3 only. Do not mark on page 4. Partnerships, as such need not file returns, but the individuals forming the partnerships must.

Corporations and Joint Stock Companies, no matter how created or organized, shall pay the normal tax on income exceeding $3000. Use Form T2—giving particulars of income. Also attach a financial statement. Under Deductions, show in detail amounts paid to Patriotic Fund and Canadian Red Cross or other approved War Funds.

Trustees, Executors, Administrators of Estates and Assignees use Form T3. Full particulars of the distribution of income from all estates handled must be shown as well as details of amounts distributed. A separate Form must be filled in for each estate.

Employers must use Form T4 to give names and amounts of salaries, bonuses, commissions and other remuneration paid to all employees during 1917 where such remuneration amounted in the aggregate to $1000 or over.

Corporation Lists of Shareholders.—On Form T5 corporations shall give a statement of all bonuses, and dividends paid to Shareholders residing in Canada during 1917 stating to whom paid, and the amounts.

Figures in every case are to cover 1917 income—all Forms must be filed by 31st March. For neglect, a fine of $100 for each day of default may be imposed.

In the case of Forms T1 and T2, keep one copy of the filled in Form and file the other two with the Inspector of Taxation for your District. In the case of T3, T4 and T5, keep one copy and file the other two, with the Commissioner of Taxation, Dept. of Finance, Ottawa.

Forms may be obtained from the District Inspectors of Taxation and from the Postmasters at all leading centres.

Postage must be paid on all letters and documents forwarded by mail to Inspector of Taxation.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Attorney General Cheered From Both Sides of House When He Moved Second Reading

HALIFAX, March 21.—Never did the truism that time works great changes stand out more clearly than in the house of Assembly yesterday afternoon. It is not so many years ago that the eloquent Attorney-general of the day, Hon. J. W. Longley, representing the good old county of Annapolis, from the floor of the house, put the question on all demands for votes for women. With logic, satire and humor the eloquent Longley won the plaudits of the legislature and the admiration of crowded galleries.

Yesterday, the attorney-general of today, also representing the historic county, was cheered from both sides of the assembly room, when he rose to move the second reading of a bill which gives women equal, if not superior rights to men in the matter of voting. There were only ten spectators in the galleries exclusive of two bored newspaper men who sit in the press gallery day after day waiting for "something to happen."

Guests on the floor of the house were Hon. Neil J. Gillis, the "boy" of the upper chamber and the Hon. Robert Drummond, always a foe of the new and the radical and a worshipper of the god of things as they are. Just as the debate was closing Mr. Justice Longley came in and took a chair to the left of the speaker. He was in time to hear W. L. Hall, the leader of the opposition, go the attorney-general one better and declare that in his opinion there should be no other qualifications for voting than age and British citizenship. Sex or poverty should not be a bar to the privilege of exercising the rights of the franchise.

The bill went into committee without a dissenting vote.

Rev. F. C. SIMPSON'S FUNERAL

Tribute Worthy of the Man and of the Town of Which he was Such An Eminent Citizen

The funeral of the late Rev. Frederick Charles Simpson, of Gordon Memorial Church, on Wednesday afternoon, the twentieth instant, was a tribute worthy of the man and of the town of which he was easily one of the most eminent and respected citizens. The day was ideally fine and the congregation that gathered in Gordon Memorial Church taxed the capacity of the edifice and represented every class and creed of the citizenship of the town.

There was a private service in the Manse at twelve-thirty, immediately followed by the public service in the church. Both services were conducted by Rev. Robert Johnston, M. A., of Halifax, and he was assisted in the church by the Rev. Ernest Underwood, Anglican, representing the Ministerial Association of Bridgetown, Rev. W. B. Muir, of Annapolis, and Rev. D. K. Grant, of Middleton, also assisted in the service. Miss Una Cameron presided at the organ and conducted the service of praise. The choir of Gordon Memorial Church was splendidly assisted by members of the choirs of other churches of the town.

The music, and indeed the entire service, was in perfect taste and harmony, and was characterized by the most beautiful simplicity, sympathy and sincerity. The service of praise included a hymn chosen by the deceased minister as a closing hymn for the Sunday evening service, which was to have been conducted by him on the day of his death. This hymn, in literary form and musical setting is one of the finest and represents the fine form and good musical taste that were features of Mr. Simpson's conduct of the services in his church. This hymn has for its scriptural heading, "A Little While," and the opening verse reads:

"Oh, for the peace that floweth like a river, Making life's desert places bloom and smile.

Oh, for the faith to grasp Heaven's bright forever, Amid the shadows of Earth's Little While."

And how pathetically beautiful it was, in view of the sudden call to higher service on Sunday morning, to have chosen as a closing hymn for the evening, one including the verse:

"A little while to keep the oil from falling, A little while faith's flickering lamp to trim."

And then the Bridegroom's coming footsteps halting. To greet his Advent with the bridal hymn.

The address of Rev. Mr. Johnston was a model one in form and spirit, and bore eloquent evidence of the speaker's sincere sorrow and sympathy. The speaker intimated that he and two others, the Moderator of the Synod and the Moderator of the Presbytery, were deputed by the Presbytery of Halifax, at its meeting on Tuesday to represent the Presbytery at the funeral and convey its sense of sorrow and sympathy to the congregation and family of the deceased. Mr. Johnston also referred to a Memorial service held by the Presbytery on Tuesday, and a resolution passed expressive of deepest sympathy with the bereaved family. He referred in feeling and eloquent terms of his own high appreciation of Mr. Simpson's noble character and his musical ability, the robust human elements in his character and his genius for friendship. He also bore eloquent evidence to the loyalty and fidelity that were always prominent features of Mr. Simpson's public ministry, as well as of his private character.

One came away from that service feeling that the life of a faithful minister of the Gospel, in spite of its many discouragements and its slight earthly rewards, is indeed blessed and well worth while, and one felt the prayer rising in his heart, "Let me live the life of the righteous, and let my last end be like his."

After the service in the church, the Masonic Lodge, of Bridgetown, took charge of the body, conducting it to the cemetery and conducted the service at the grave, concluding with the "Grand Honors" of Masonry.

The floral tributes were very fine, including beautiful wreaths from Gordon Memorial Church and Dr. and Mrs. and Miss Alice Dechman; basket of flowers from a former congregation in Bridgewater and Miss Cool, of Halifax, and a cross from Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ross, of Stellarton. The direction of the funeral was in the competent care of Mr. Henry B. Hicks.

The pall bearers were Karl Freeman, Fred R. Beckwith, Capt. J. W. Salter and Hermann C. Morse.

The following is an extract from the minutes of the Presbytery of Halifax, in session in that city last week:

The Presbytery of Halifax learns with deep regret of the death of the Rev. F. C. Simpson, minister of the Presbyterian church of Bridgetown, which took place on Sunday morning, March 17th. Mr. Simpson was a highly valued and much beloved member of the Presbytery. He had been a minister of our church for just thirty years and had served in Newfoundland, Ontario, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, always with faithfulness and success. The Presbytery extends to his widow and son and daughter our deepest sympathy with them in their sore loss.

We desire also to express our sympathy with the congregation at Bridgetown in the loss of their minister, who had been with them for only two years.

The Clerk of Presbytery is requested to communicate these feelings of the Presbytery's sympathy to Mrs. Simpson and her family, also to the session of the congregation. We further request that the moderator of the Synod, Rev. J. MacKenzie; the Moderator of the Presbytery, Rev. G. W. Miller, and Rev. Robert Johnston should represent the church at the funeral services, if possible, to be held tomorrow.

JOHN McMILLAN, Presbytery Clerk.

Adopted March 19, 1918.

DEATH OF MRS. A. D. MILLS

A Prominent Resident of Granville Ferry Has Passed Away

[Annapolis Spectator]

The very sudden death occurred Wednesday morning, March 20, at the old Delap homestead in Granville Ferry, of Mrs. Kate A. Mills, widow of the late Robert Delap. Being quite the late A. D. Mills, and daughter of alone at her own home in Annapolis Royal, she had gone to Granville to spend the winter with her sister, Miss Annie Delap, who, on hearing a noise went to her room during the night and found Mrs. Mills unconscious, passing away in a few hours. Mrs. Mills had not been in the best of health for some time past, but quite able to be about and her death comes as a great shock to everyone. This makes a third death in the family within a year, including those of Capt. J. Albert Delap last winter and Mrs. Al Mills (who was Miss Bessie Delap), in the fall. Miss Annie is now the sole surviving member of the family and she has every sympathy. The widow of Capt. Delap has been spending the winter in the States with her son and little granddaughter and has not yet returned.

The funeral took place Friday afternoon at 2:30, with services at the house in Granville and interment in Woodlawn cemetery. Arrangements were made for the ferryboat John Hancock, to run for the occasion.

WOMEN'S SHORT COURSE

Successful Session in Bridgetown Last Week—Women's Institute Formed

The Women's Short Course held in Bridgetown last Thursday and Friday was largely attended and a big success.

The meetings were in charge of and addressed by Miss Jennie A. Fraser, superintendent of Women's Institutes, and Miss Hazel J. MacDougall, teacher of Domestic Science.

The programme was as follows: Thursday, 2 to 5 p. m.—Canning of Fruits and Vegetables, Canning of Meats and Fish, Drying of Fruits and Vegetables, Cereals and their Food Values.

Thursday, 7:30 to 9:30 p. m.—The need of conservation in the home and how best to attain it. The Calorie. What it is and its significance. Friday, 2 to 5 p. m.—Meat substitutes, War breads.

During the short course a local Women's Institute was formed, the following officers being appointed: President, Mrs. R. L. Lesell. Vice-President, Mrs. Malcolm Davis. Secty.-Treas, Miss Lillian Newcomb. Committee, Mrs. Mary Chute, Mrs. Frank Fowler, Miss Nan Hoyt and Mrs. Harry Ruggles.

The first meeting of the institute will be held in the Town Council Chamber the first Wednesday afternoon in April, at 3 o'clock, at which it is hoped there will be a full attendance of all interested.

There is no doubt Miss Fraser and Miss MacDougall made many friends during their visit in Bridgetown, besides winning admiration for the cause in which they are rendering such excellent service.

Letter From Nursing Sister Miller

The following letter has been received from Miss Eva Miller, whom we reported in our last issue as having arrived safely in England:

Dear Mother,—Have arrived safely. Had a wonderful trip. Was in some danger, but escaped everything, and without much excitement. Have been sight seeing. London is a wonderful, wonderful city, but we are just beginning to realize there is a war, and will realize it even more in a short time. I do not know our definite address as we are not assigned, but will let you know as soon as possible. The two nights we have been in London there has been an air raid each night. It is 12:45, the bugles are just blowing to let us know it is all over and we may go to bed. Now, don't worry about me; I'm really having a wonderful time, probably the biggest experience of my life. I'm sure I will never regret it. With oceans of love to every one. I am yours lovingly. EVA.
