Realizing the importance of this undertakin, and being determined to offer our subscribers a picture that should in itself be worthy of the paper it represents, and which should be treasured as a work of art; after fulling over the finest productions of the American press, we selected the beau-tiful chrome of Goldskith-Maid, printed in nine colors and innumerable shades, size 181 by 24 inches, believing, as our friends will when they see it, that it is the finest horse picture ever published in America. It is not to be confounded with the miserable pictures to be confounded with the miserable pictures hawked around the country by, some journals, but is really a work of high art and intrinsically of more value than we receive for our yearly subscription. She is represented standarding box stall, stripped, and in this position the profession which the countries artists in the profession in a merical value varnished and mounted it is impossible to distinguish between the chromo and a crystal oil juntained. It is a chromo and stery fine oil naming. It is a work of art orthy of a place in the finest collections in the country, and what adds to its value its the only correct likeness of Goids surfit Man ever published. As a memorio of the most remarkable trotting equine it the world, shortly to be relegated from the turn, it will be treasured by every horseman in the country, more especially by those who have seen the little mare in any of her races.
