

GULF EMIRATES

The Gulf Emirates (Kuwait, Bahrain, Qatar, United Arab Emirates and Oman) are traditional maritime arab cultures. Before oil, fishing, diving and pearling in seafood-rich gulfs of Arabia and Oman were mainstays of Emirate cultures. Tradition remains active in local fisheries and consumption of seafood is high. Fresh fish is bought from local markets and is the main source of seafood for gulf consumers. In addition one sees frozen fish, canned mackerel, tuna and some value added fish products in cooperatives and up-scale supermarkets. The hotel and restaurant trade draws from same sources.
