

REPORT ON THE PROGRESS

Year: 1881

The following is a summary of the work done during the year 1881. It is divided into two parts, the first dealing with the general progress of the work, and the second with the results of the various experiments.

All of the work done during the year has been devoted to the study of the

of the

of the