

Committee on Atomic Energy

that speeches should be strictly confined to the subject matter of the amendment. We have done away with that in amendments to the speech from the throne—see citation 336 of Beauchesne, third edition—but I do not think the house would want to depart from the practice as far as other debates are concerned. Therefore I would like the house to know what are my feelings in this regard.

It being fifteen minutes past six o'clock the house adjourned, without question put, pursuant to standing order.
