we must follow international law, said the mayor.

"International law: If international law permits this, to hell with international law," said Controller McBride.

Ald. Plewman strenuously opposed revoking the licenses without careful consideration. He favored the principle, but reminded the aldermen that the boys overseas were fighting to establish the sanctity of international law. "That's the allied cause," said the alderman. He pointed out that the resolution would mean that all Americans operating under license would be put out of business. Chinese laundries, Italian fruit similar business institutions would suffer.

"There are sev-

IS MAYOR'S POLICY

Railways is Not Coming Off.

The conference with the railways on the question of opening up the Union Station in the fall without the mud wall will not be held, as announced by the mayor on Friday last.
When the city council met yesterday
Controller McBride rose to a question of privilege and denied that he was the party who asked for the conference with the railways.

"The city is banking on the viaduct order," said Mayor Church. "We are not going to hold a conference with the railways. The conference will be between ourselves, and the railways will not have anything to do with it." will not have anything to do with it." The mayor intends to pursue a policy of "watchful waiting." "The railways are expecting to finish the station in the fall," he said. "They will then of their own volition make an application. plication for temporary occupation, when the Bay and Yonge street crossings matters will come up. The board of control have decided to await developments and taken no action themselves, preferring to let the railways make an application on their own account when the proper time comes." preciated as a restorative by all "We will not allow the railways to whose blood has become thin and get out of the viaduct order," said

Controller Maguire.
"We're all of one mind, that the Mrs. Elizabeth Harriott, Ingersoll, Ont., writes: "I am writing to tell you
