Canada's Death Roll 26.

The list of dead among the Canadians cabled to The Globe, which gave the number as nineteen, turns out to have been cerrect, altho the War Office gave the figures as eighteen. The Globe's list contained the name of Pte. McCrery of the 67th Batt., recruited with "G" Company in New Brunswick, who died the day following the engagement, and his name was included in The Globe's list as first published. The death of Capt. H. M. Arnold, also reported yesterday, brings the total deaths of Canadians in that Sunday's battle up to 20. Then three others who left with the contingent, Pte. Desiauriers, Pte. Moore and. Farley, have since died. Three other Canadians were killed—Lleut. Osborne and Capt. Hensley, who were with General Buller, and Lieut. Wood, who was killed near Belmont. Thus far the Canadian death roll since the war began totals 26 officers and men.

He had not been long in service when there was a call for volunteers to fight the rebel, Riel, and his forces. Then he was one of the first to respond, and passed successfully thruther rebellion, with honor. Shortly after he was promoted to the rank of captain, and after to adjutant, reaching the rank of major in 1896. His senior officer, Lieut.
Col. Ruttan, had the highest estimation of Major Arnold's military abilities.

ing told the news, the lady who answered the door, hurried upstairs, and, calling her, said:

"Gertrude, I have good news for you Your brother is not dead. Come down to the hall."

On hearing the news, she was overpowered. Hurrying downstairs, pale and sobbing, she said to the reporter, "Is it true? Is it official?" On being assured that it was, her face brightened, but her breast was too full to say much more. The brother was then hunted up at 2 Gladstone-avenue. The man of the house came to the door, and, on being asked if young Manion lived there, he said, "Yes. What do you want him for?" When told he yelled, "Hooray! Hooray!" Houd enough to be heard a block away.

"Come in," he said, "John, you're wanted." John was quickly told the news. He turned pale, could not speak for a few seconds, and then said:

"I knew he wasn't killed. I knew it."

Then he looked down at some crape on his arm, which action was noticed by the happy lady of the house, who said:
"Come here, John, till I cut that off."

So, after five days, full of darkness for the two young folks, they received meys that so many anxiously wait for, but which will never come.

Is Edward McCormick of the Queen's Own Rifles, whose mother lives at 17 Gildersleeve-avenue, in this city. He received word yesterday, and left in the evening to join the Strathcona Horse, now mustering at Ottawa. Bugler McCormick attended the Public schools here up to a year ago, when he went into the employ of Messrs. Lobb & Baird, barristers, at 2 Toronto-street. He is only 16 years of age and was held in high esteem by his comrades in the Q.O.R.

Some 2900 shares changed hands, Forget & Co. being the only sellers. Towards the close of the day a denial was received from the Queen City that there was a strike in perspective, and, had nothing else leaked out, this would have probably steadled the stock at the opening to-morrow.

It is known, however, that something is in the whad, but it has not yet been made clear what that something is. One thing is sure. Messus. Charles E. L. Porteous and F. L. Wanklyn, with Mr. James Ross, from the Montreal directorate of the Toronto Street Railway, left here this evening for Toronto, and it is known that their trip is in connection with what some call a difficulty and others a misunderstanding with the men. Cork, Feb. 26.—The British troopship Oratava sailed from Queenstown for the Cape to-day, having on board 23 officers and 516 men of the 3rd Norfolk militia, 26 officers and 627 men of the 4th Cheshire militia and two officers and 50 men of the army medical corps—in all 1400 men. LINCHWE WHACKS THE BOERS.

Chief Linchwe has reported that he made reprisals on the Boers near Sequani, killing a few men and capturing, several wagons and oxen. There were some casualties on both sides. The Boers at Crocodile Pools notified Plumer that, fearing the natives would attack the wounded, they had placed their hospital within the laager. Col. Plumer replied that the ambulance would, of course, be respected, but the Boers, he said, could not expect, were invading the territory of the natives."

THE PRINCE VISITS WOUNDED.

Mr. Sutherland Wanted the Name. Hon. James Sutherland asked for the name of Sir Charles' informant, but Sir Charles said he could not give it, the he was a man of high character, a purely non-partizan. The abolition of re-location and the withdrawd of all land from exploration were condemned, because these practices made the Minister of the Interior a Court of Appeal, to the benefit of his favorites. It was a strange fact that the Torrens of system had been introduced in the Yukon, yet there was not a bit of patented land there.

Sitton Like Cronje.

Sir Charles concluded a skilful arraignment of the Minister of the Interior by declaring that the recent Conservative success in Manitoba elections proved that the Country was opposed to Mr. Sifton's Yukon Policy. In that election Sifton was like Cronje, fighting for his life, and his time was coming to an end.

Mr. Sifton Had Listened.

A careful listener Mr. Sifton had been to Sir Charles' castigations, and he at, once arose to defend himself and his Government. He could see no connection between Manitoba elections and Yukon royalries. He considered the method of reading letters from disgrantice men not a good way to get the best information on Yukon topics. He corrected Sir Charles by declaring that the reconstruction abolition, he maintained this top the declaring that the recent Conservative success in Manitoba elections proved that the focuntry was opposed to Mr. Sifton had been to Sir Charles on Connection between Manitoba elections and Yukon royalries. Ottawa, Feb. 26 .- (Special.)-Hon. Mr Sifton leaves to-morrow for Winnipeg, and on March 10 for Vienna. In his absence Hon, James Sutherland will rule the In erior Department. This fact caused Sir Charles Tupper, in order to do justice to Mr. Sifton, to bring up this afternoon criticism of the affairs of the Yukon. In his opinion the present position of affairs there had assumed a grave and important character, and the Government should reconsider its whole Yukon policy, a policy that benefited a few and a party. The alty imposed of 10 per cent. on the gross output. This was much greater than the royalty imposed by any other country, was productive of smuggling, was an act of extortion and tended to discourage prospec-tors. Even Major. Walsh had reported against it, and had declared that officers were obliged to ignore the severe previsions of the law.

What Mr. Ogilvie Advised.

What Mr. Ogilvie Advised.

Mr. Ogilvie had advised a 3 per cent. royalty and ventured the prediction that the Government would get a larger revenue than at present. Why did the Government not change its policy. As a result of the royalty provisions, the population of Dawson had dropped from 30,000 to 4500, the price of living had gone up 10 per cent, British capital was prevented from going into the district, and the whole country was at a standstill.

The Pianola

Is an instrument by means of which ANYONE can play the plano.

The Pianola is bringing into use thousands of pianos that have been silent for many years.

It is making players of people who, lacking musical training, had never expected to experience the pleasure of producing music for themselves.

It is increasing the repertoire of amateur and professional pianists by making the entire literature of the piano instantly available without study and without practice.

available without study and without practice.

The Pianola looks like a small cabinet. It has small felt-covered fingers that rest on the keys of the plano, and, operated by pneumatic power, strike the keys with a pilant, yielding and remarkably sympathetic touch, that is almost identical with that of the human fingers.

When not in use the Pianola may be easily rolled away from the plano and moved to another part of the room.

The Pianola can be used in connection with any plano, and does not in any way mar or disfigure the instrument. It can be easily and quickly adjusted by anyone.

The action of the Pianola is so simple that even a child can readily learn to play it; at the same time it is capable of so much expression that its greatest admirers are those who best understand and appreciate good music.

PRICE $275.00.

Can be bought by instalments if desired. It is a significant fact that the Planola is the only piano player which has received the endorsement of musicians, EMIL SAUER orders two more Pianolas in a letter just received from him in Germany, and says:

"The instrument works in every respectabsolutely perfect, and I am by this sense tional and epoch-making invention mor delighted than ever."

After dinner, Mr. Davin addressed the House. The Manitoba elections showed that in Brandon there had been a turnover of 1900. This was a censure for Sifton. The Brandon victory was the Quatre Bras to the Government's Waterloo. He recounted the old charges against Mr. Sifton that had not been investigated, and regretted that this session would go by and still there would be no investigation.

It is said he is to be judge in the Yukon, and he spoke of the Yukon. The only question was regarding royalties, but the Opposition had gone far afield. He read a letter from Macdonald, the Klondike king declaring that the prospects for as big a clean-up as last year were bright. The letter was dated Jan. 25, 1900. This should silence the Opposition's cry that the Yukon was at a standstill. The speaker thought there may have been departmental lapses, but no deliberate dishonesty in the district. He then gave his experiences while there, and told the Government what was needed by the miners.

Sir Adolphe Caron thought the 10 per cent. royalty was detrimental to the 'est interests' of Canada. It was exorbitant, and from his knowledge of several large British concerns he knew it prevented capital coming into Canada. A 2 per cent. royalty would give the Government better results.

The Pianola provides a source of pleasure for everyone, whether he be novice or skilled musician.

It overcomes the difficulties of the unskilled by supplying the necessary technique to play any piece.

It satisfies the artistic demands of the musically cultured by allowing the player instantaneous control of the expression

It responds to his willthe rendition has therefore a musical personality the same as when played with the human fingers.

The claims made for the Pianola are marvellous. so also are the endorsements it has received from the great artists.
