The New York American, the special vehicle for disseminating Boss Sullivan's hard luck tales, yesterday had a half celumn article declaring that Tom Longboat, the great Indian long-distance runner, had lost all chance of competing in the Marathon race at the Olympic games in London this summer. Word was received, so the story runs, from the London committee in charge of the great meeting that the Indian's entry would be rejected, no matter what association vouched for his amateur standing. The committee was moved to take this action by the fact that Longboat recently range ten-mile race against a horse in Canada.

The case of J. P. Sullivan, who competed also against a horse in New York, where a gate was taken, was cited as a parallel case, when Longboat simply ran along the road for exercise against a farmer's nag. This was repeated at intervals near Caledonia, and under no straining of rules could it count as a transgression of the amateur athletic law. It will be remembered that Bob Day, the Canadian boxing champion, had a four-round go with no less a personage than Jack Johnson, and his amateur standing was never questioned, as the incident was only a training stunt. The remarkable part of the latest yarn is that anyone could be found to believe it.

Did not Tommy Burns hold up a porton of the great English sporting public, including Lord Lonsdale, to considerable ridicule when he refused their little monkey" purses to accept $30,000 or the $5,000 hung up by Joseph Curley of Goldields, Nevada, almost as quickly as did ack Johnson agreed to grab $5000?

rule which requires players to be attired in the regulation club uniform. Krichell's heligibility to take part in the game was because he ha da pair of black stockings on. Fistead of red and blue, the club's colors. The unipire's attention was called to the matter by Jerry Hurley, the Rochester catcher, who was on the bench and happened to notice Krichell's stockings. Manager Stallings offered no objections, and Miller, the pitcher, was sent to the hat without delay. Stafford, after the game, said it was the first time in his eight years of league umpiring that a violation of this rule had come under his hotice. Under the rules, he explained. Stallings could, have insisted on Krichell batting, but this would have resulted in a delay which would have been necessary to give Krichell ample time to change his stockings. During the first Rochester series here De Vore played two innings, with black stockings on, but when the Rochester players objected Umpire Conway ordered De Vore to change to the regulation stockings.

Casey's Men Trim Skeeters 6 to 1 and Newark Defeats Rochester-Baseball Notes.

Leafs meet in the final clash of the the series.

Only two games were pulled off in the Eastern League, Jimmy Casey's tribe trimming the Skeeters, while Newark scored the only run of the game at Rochester, and to-day Manager George Stallings and his Indians come to Toronto undisputed leaders.

However, it is only natural to see Big Chief Stallings here with a winning team, and incidentally to see a red-hot series between the Leafs and Stallings' hired help, and the game this afternoon promises no exception to the rule.

Newark Here To-Day.

George Stallings' Newark team will commence a four-game series with Toronto at the island to-day. Stallings has infused new life into the Newark team, and they are a winning aggregation both at home and abroad. The Toronto team will endeavor to put the lid on, and it will be a treat to the fans if the champions accomplish their object. Newark will play for the balance of the week. To-day's game will be called at 3.30.

CORNWALL, May 19.—(Special.)—While some of the other N.L.U. teams may have made an earlier start it is doubtfull if any of them are training more carefully than Cornwall's bunch of home-brews. With the exception of F. Cummins and the three who are sojourning for the present in Hamilton—Smith, Fid Cummins and Lalonde—all of last year's players were out to practise on Monday and Tuesday evenings. Burns, Cameron, John White, the three Degan brothers, Larry McAteer and Reddy McMillan and DeGray have been setting the face for a big crowd of husky, fleetfooted Juniors. Monday night there were twenty-eight men in uniform, and last night there were twenty-saven. Several of these will be tried out in Ottawa on Saturday.

If Lalonde decides to remain in Hamilton, Sid Reviere will probably fill the Cornwall net. The Cornwalls hope to give the Capitals a good brush on Saturday, and will make the Montrealers go their best pace when they strike here on May 25. Cornwall Out to Practice.
