Good advice is worth more than money, but, somehow, we can't make our creditors see that way.

THERE are some women who wouldn't be happy in a mansion in heaven unless they could clean house about every three months.

BORROWING money strengthens the memory, but it is the memory of the man who loans the money and never sees it again.

A MAN of strong character always makes enemies, but because a man has many enemies you can not be quite sure that he is a man of strong character.

"WHY do you drink so much?" said a clergyman to a hopeless drunkard. "To drown my troubles." "And do you succeed in drowning them?" "No, hang'em! they can swim."

In one of our Indian languages the word "woman" is rendered "kewanojawjaw," with marked and earnest emphasis on the last two syllables. Even the savages understand the vile and wicked arts of the lying slanderer.

"THE world is a looking-glass, and gives back to every man the reflection of his own face. Frown at it, and it will in turn look sourly upon you; laugh at it, and with it, and it is a jolly, kind companion; and so let all young persons take their choice."—Thackeray.

"It's dangerous to be under this tree in a thunder storm; one of us might get killed," said a lightning-rod agent. "Well, if you are killed you won't be able to talk any more; and if I am killed I can't hear you, so I guess we'd better stay," said his victim.

In the lives of the saddest of us there are bright days, when we feel that we could take the world in our arms. Then comes the gloomy days when the fire will neither burn on our hearths, nor in our hearts, and all without and within is dismal, cold and dark. Believe me, every heart has its secret sorrows, which the world knows not; and oftentimes we call a man cold when he is only sad.
