British Election Predicted To Be Fiercest In Modern Times

FRANCE DEARLY WANTS BRITAIN TO OUST PAINCARE

BALDWIN IS BITTERLY ATTACKED

Opposition Parties Feel They Have Deep Grievance Against Premier.

SUPPORTERS RESENT

Labor Short of Funds and Women to Turn the Balance.

(By Canadian Press.)

London, Nov. 16.—It is predicted that the coming election will be one of the fiercest political fights seen in Great Britain in modern times; certainly there is no lack of bitterness in the speeches and newspaper comments thus far.

The opposition parties feel they have a deep grievance against the Premier for what they term "playing a confidence trick upon the public" in concealing his intentions and forcing an unnecessary election.

Mr. Baldwin's supporters defend this and warmly defend his "honesty of purpose."

Thus a good deal of temper has been injected into the contest at the outset.

Labor Cash Scarce
Labor admits itself short of funds, shorter in fact, than ever before, and attributes its poverty to the fact that unemployment and under-employment have emptied the pockets of the workers.

In chief woman organizer, Dr. Marion Phillips, says this election represents "a daring example of the class struggle of the rich against the poor. We must ask penalties where the Liberals and Tories possess pounds; and we must ask nothing that we are demanding veritable sacrifices from hard-driven folks."

The decision of the Laborites to adhere to a capital levy as the leading feature of their campaign cannot but be welcome to the other parties as in their view this weakens Labor's chances while giving them a valuable argument. Labor, it is also predicted, will suffer from its refusal now said to be final—to make any arrangement with the Liberals with a view to avoiding split votes.

Tin-Can Election
Mr. Lloyd George's jibe in the House of Commons yesterday that the ministers were going to the country with tin cans tied to their tails to ask a blank check—an allusion of the proposed preference duty on canned salmon—has taken the fancy of the Liberal press and will be heard on many platforms.

The failure of the plans to bring Austen Chamberlain and Lord Birkhead into the Government ranks is deplored by those Conservatives who think the loss of these statesmen will prove a great injury to the party's cause. The incident, in fact, is frequently referred to as a split in the Tory ranks.

Split Is Averted

The Times, however, argues that on the contrary it has averted a split which certainly would have followed if the negotiations with the two ex-ministers had succeeded. Many of the younger members of the Government, says the newspaper, would have resigned rather than serve with Lord Birkenhead.

Women are to take a very large part in the fight as organizers and campaigners, and all parties are likely to receive a large share for their help. Labor in particular contends that women will win the election. Dr. Phillips asserts that the poll will be a battle of the mothers and housewives against the risers in prices which a tariff would bring.

Consider Appeal In Murder Case

Montreal, Nov. 16.—The Court of Appeals here yesterday took under advisement a motion asking for a new trial in the case of Wilfrid St. Onge, sentenced to be hanged Jan. 16, for the murder of Nestor Gavrilovich, a Roumanian cobler of this city.

Three points of law were claimed by St. Onge's counsel, who claimed they are sufficient to warrant a new trial. It is expected a decision will be given early next week.

Woman's Life Saved By Sagacious Dogs

The Dallas, Ore., Nov. 16.—Mrs. Ruby Pettis, aged 53, who lives on a ranch at Slocan Falls, near here, told that hospital here how her life had been saved by her two dogs, Jack and Pop. While driving a loaded wagon Sunday, the wagon turned over, pinning her beneath the load.

SHARP POINTS IN ELECTION SPEECHES

Prominent Liberals Criticize Baldwin's Policy in the British House.

London, Nov. 16.—Some interesting points culled from speeches made by prominent Liberals in the present election contest follow:

Sir John Simon.—The Premier has a perfect genius for uniting his opponents and confounding his supporters. Walter Runciman—Premier Baldwin has turned "tranquillity" into turmoil. Sir Alfred Mond—What concessions in the dominions heavy tariffs against the entry of British goods has the government obtained in exchange for the concessions in the proposed preference? Could they tell the consumers of dried fruits, tinned salmon and raw apples that the sacrifices they are called upon to make would assist British industry? Anyhow, protection always has been a subsidy to private interests at the expense of the public, and is pernicious, corrupting influence on public life.

HEADLESS BODY IS FOUND IN C. P. YARD

Young Man Victim of Tragedy at Sudbury, Ont.—Fearfully Mangled.

Sudbury, Ont., Nov. 16.—The headless body of an apparently young man was found in the Sudbury yards of the C. P. R. last night. The head was smashed beyond all recognition. The left leg was severed at the thigh and the right ankle was smashed. The clothes were apparently of good quality, but were so torn that only parts of them had been located.

In one pocket was found a small quantity of silver but no documents which might identify him. It is considered possible that he had fallen off the eastbound passenger train for Montreal, dropping his head between the cars or that he had dropped off and trying to get up in front of a westbound freight train that pulled out just after the passenger train came in.

KING SHOWS ANXIETY IN SPEECH

Serious Situation in Germany is Brought to the Nation's Attention.

FRANCE WATCHED

Liquor Question With United States Reviewed by His Majesty.

BY LLOYD ALLEN.
British United Press.

London, Nov. 16.—After a speech from the throne revealing the "profound anxiety" with which Britain views the continental situation, King George dissolved Parliament today.

With Anglo-French friendship apparently the breaking point against the King, in his usual restrained language, directly placed on France responsibility for holding up a solution of the reparations problems. The speech from the throne, always a carefully weighed statement prepared by the Cabinet, was read by the Lord Chancellor, Viscount Cave, in the House of Lords shortly after Parliament assembled for its usual early Friday session.

It referred to Anglo-American efforts to start a reparations inquiry, and continued: "Unfortunately it was not possible to secure the assent of the French Government to proposals which it had previously accepted." "The Government regards with profound anxiety the continuance of the present economic conditions in Europe, in which reparations so largely on the settlement of this question.

"A serious situation has developed in Germany, which is engaging the close and earnest attention of my Government."

The King's speech, always explained here for its slightest shading of meaning as conveying the utmost significance, then passed to the Anglo-American discussions about search of ships off the American coast for liquor, and noted: "Negotiations are proceeding with the United States Government for the settlement of difficulties as regards the carriage of liquor in transit and its illicit importation into the United States."

May Postpone Session.
The decree dissolving Parliament December 20 as the date for convening the new one, but in well-informed circles today it was thought likely a proclamation after the election of December 2 would postpone the new session until after New Year's so as not to interfere with the usual Christmas holidays.

Examination of the King's speech, together with the refusal of the British Government through its ambassador in Paris, the Marquis of Crewe, to consent to France's demand for military action to expel the Crown Prince from Germany, caused the belief today that England was through with trying to humor France.

Prime Minister Baldwin's remarks in the House of Commons last night contained even more direct reference than the King's speech to France's actions.

Speaking of the high hopes he had held for a reparations conference, he continued: "We have found all our efforts brought to naught, not by our own action but by the action of our allies."

This statement referring to France and Belgium was heartily cheered.

His Majesty's Speech

The King's prologation speech was as follows: "My Lords and Members of the House of Commons: "My government recently initiated negotiations aiming at the appointment, of a commission of inquiry to determine Germany's capacity to pay reparations. Unfortunately it has not been possible to secure the assent of the French government to these proposals which, it had been hoped, would lead to a solution of the reparations problem.

Hearty Welcome Is Given Crown Prince

Oels, Nov. 16.—Among the messages of welcome awaiting former Crown Prince Frederick William on his return to his castle here, from exile in Holland, was an effusive greeting from the League of Former Army and Navy Officers. The communication was addressed to His Imperial and Royal Highness, General of Infantry, Crown Prince Wilhelm.

In the message the former Crown Prince was welcomed as "our former army leader and illustrious comrade," and the hope was expressed that his activities and behavior would prove themselves a blessing to the House of Hohenzollern and the German people. Among the signatories were numerous officers who served under the Crown Prince on the western battlefield during the world war.

DISOBEDIENCE OF BRITISH IS PLAN

East Indians Vote for Non-Cooperation But Without Violent Methods.

Delhi, India, Nov. 16.—The Indian National Congress in special session has reaffirmed its adherence to non-violent non-cooperation and the boycott of British goods and the boycott of British officials as means toward obtaining self-government. Although the ban to council-entry was removed, the congress voted to embark upon a definite programme of civil disobedience at an early date.

The congress, with an attendance of more than 5,000, stressed the importance of unity between extremists and moderates and between Hindus and Mohammedans in the struggle for home rule.

Mahatma Abdul Kalam Ahmad, president of the congress, declared in his opening speech that three years of the Reform Councils, the salt tax, unfulfilled promises about Indianization of the services, and the Kenya decision had disillusioned the moderates. He said, should make common cause with the universal struggle of Eastern nations to attain freedom.

Last spring Miss Angell announced her engagement to her playmate, Les, by whom her home town, St. Charles, where they both grew up, "Les" was a free lance artist, son of the local undertaker.

Friends expected that after their marriage in Los Angeles they would live in Mrs. Norris' Lake Forest home but instead a small apartment in St. Charles was rented and the young bride began housekeeping, doing her own cooking and sewing and having a lot of fun doing it.

The girls stowed away on the steamer in Hamburg. Ten days out hunger drove them from their place of concealment, and Captain Reimer put them in the galley. They proved good cooks. Upon the arrival of the ship here they were turned over to the immigration authorities and now the order has gone forth that they must go back to Germany, or get husbands here. They don't want to go back to Germany.

PRESTES RUSH MONEY
Berlin, Nov. 15.—More than 100 private printing shops were working three shifts a day to help the Reichs Bank print paper money for Germany before the establishment of the new "renten mark."

Thirty paper factories turned over their entire output to the government printing shops. The main Reichs Bank in Berlin has been sending 2,000 shipments of notes daily to outlying branches to keep pace with the drop of the mark in relation to the dollar.

Airplanes Are Employed.
Automobiles, airplanes and trains were employed to carry them. Much of the money returned to the Reichsbank, where 1,000 women and girls working in three eight-hour shifts counted in and sent to be chopped up, and made into wrapping paper and cardboard.

(By Canadian Press.)
Berlin, Nov. 16.—A strike of workmen in the Berlin mills has been terminated quickly by the vigorous action of the military authorities, who arrested the workers' delegates. The strikers thereupon sent a deputation to Gen. Von Seeck, commander of the Reichswehr, promising to resume work if their leaders were released. This was done.

The printers are still on strike, but many volunteers are offering their services, and conditions in the state printing plants are nearly normal. Several of the strike leaders are under arrest.

An hour later the bride received her first wedding present, the Criminal Court permitting her to leave under the custody of her attorney when she changed her former plea of guilty to not guilty.

Her attorney will seek to have the case dropped, so the proposed honeymoon to Florida may be started immediately.
