IMPROVEMENTS TO BE MADE

Work Planned at Atlantic Biological Station at St. Andrews.

The Atlantic Biological Station at St. Andrews will be greatly enlarged and improved in the near future when plans of the Marine and Fisheries Department are carried out for the addition of a new wing to the residence there. It is probable that the total cost of the improvements will be more than $6,000 including the electric work and plumbing.

The addition outlined in the plans now in the office of the Marine and Fisheries Department resident engineer includes extensions to the west side, the front of the building, and to the north side, facing the river. The new part, in accordance with the rest of the building, will be three stories in height and will be of wood with a concrete foundation. The work of laying the foundation was tendered for last fall and it is under way now.

Twenty-three bedrooms are included in the plans for the building and all have suitable hallways, bathrooms and other accommodations. The station consists of the residence, the laboratory and aquariums and a power house, where electricity for the group of buildings is generated. It is on the bank of the St. Croix River a short distance above the town of St. Andrews and is admirably situated for its purpose.

Plans are now being called for by the Marine and Fisheries Department and plans and specifications have been drawn up.

While he had not witnessed any actual fighting he has seen Government troops returning after combats with large quantities of recovered loot. He told a case where the bandits after looting passengers on a train seized a missionary and took him with them to their stronghold and defied the Government troops to open fire on them while a European was in their midst. The last accounts he heard were to the effect that many missionaries and their families were leaving that section of the country and going to Hong Kong and Canton.

He said it would be impossible for people in this country to form any idea of conditions in the far east unless they were actually there.

With reference to the Philippines he said a change for the better was noticeable since General Wood's administration. Residents there claim that conditions have improved one hundred per cent, and that the cost of living has been cut at least one third.

In Egypt, he said, there seemed to be an idea among the inhabitants that the best way to get rid of Great Britain was to murder all of her officials. The opinion was expressed that by so doing England would entirely withdraw in order to save the lives of her subjects. He said that at the present time the cost of living there had increased nearly one hundred per cent, since their own Government had been in control.

CLASHES IN CITY HALL HEARING

Commissioner Thornton's report was ordered received.

Mr. Bullock asked what would happen if one of the owners of a comfortable wooden home in No. 1 district asked for a permit for repairs in case of fire damage.

The Council, Mr. Thornton said, was not now dealing with "comfortable homes." There was a concrete case before the meeting.

"Yes," Mr. Thornton replied, "but they will be stricter than those now in force."

Mayor Fisher said that in his report Commissioner Thornton had not touched the question at issue. He contended that the inspector was acting in direct opposition to the advice of the city solicitor and the commissioner of safety was upholding him in the
