ST. JOHN STAR.

ST. JOHN, N. B., FEBRUARY 3, 1903

THAT FORT KENT DAM.

There is nothing in the scheme to lam the St. John river at Fort Kent mmend it to the lumber ope who float logs past that point. ade up their minds to meet opposition with influence, for they have the names of Hon. Dr. Pugsley, John Costigan, M. P., and James Robinson, M. P., on the directorate of the company, which is seeking the necessary legisla-tion at Augusta and Fredericton. The ompany is an ambitious one, with a capital of a million dollars. It will probably be found that the interests of the lumber operators are of greater importance than those of the company, most of whose members are Americans, and the prospect of the passage of the bill through the New Brunswick legis-lature, despite the fact that Dr. Pugsley's name is connected with it, is not believed here to be very promising. So fas as the Star can learn, there is no thing in the bill to commend it to the men who bring logs down the river to the St. John mills.

VENEZUELA.

President Castro of Venezuela may be expected to tell all he knows, with ome additions, to the sympathetic American newspaper correspondent. trouble him. The dictator is not in a as his own forces have recently been twice repulsed by the revolutionists. The following bit of history concerning Venezuela, from the Golden Penny is of interest just now:—

Venezuela is such a peppery little republic that she probably did not stop to count the cost when she openly defied the British and German powers. Her normal state is a perpetual alternation between war and dictatorship. Since 1847 she has scarcely known what peace or legality is. She began with a twenty-three years' struggle between the liberals and the conservatives, which left the Ilanos ruined for years, and the credit of the country completely destroyed. Beconservatives, which left the flanos ruined for years, and the credit of the country completely destroyed. Between 1870 and 1889 Gusman Blanco was dictator, and the country was comparatively tranquil, but of legal government there was not a shadow, Civil war broke out in 1892, and since then half the land has been in a state on anarchy. Palacio, the successor of Blanco, was overthrown by General Crespo in that year, but he only held office for a few months. His successor, General Alverez, soon had to make way for the reinduction of Crespo, who sought popularity by picking a quarrel with Great Britain over the Guiana frontier. Nevertheless, his dictatorship was contested by successive revolts, and in 1898 General Ignacio Andrede became president. His position was not less contested than that of his predecessors, and in August, 1899, the present dictate. General Capriano Castro, organise in a revolution and expelled Andrede.

A large meeting of the ratepayers of Fairville was held in Orange Hall last night in connection with the proposed sewerage. Councillor Lowell presided. A resolution was unanimously passed that a bill be introduced at the coming session of the local legislature to provide for the construction of a sewerage system in Fairville, and the issuing of debentures to raise money for that purpose. It is estimated that the cost will be about $10,000. Provided the bill passes the legislature, work will be begun at the will of the ratepayers, a two-thirds vote being required.

TARTE REGRETS.

MONTREAL, Feb. 2.—Mr. Tarte in tonight's issue of La Patrie says: "Laurier is really a sick man. "The whole country," he writes, "will regret with us the illness of Laurier political exigencies so cruel at times alone keeping him at his post. Will the government reviee the tariff? The state of the prime minister's health, the profound division which exists in the liberal ranks on the fiscal question render the government's task a difficult one. It seems to be quite probable that the cabinet will content itself with a few changes and postpone to a later date a more definite policy."
