THE CARLETON ELECTION.

The Carleton county election Friday is more than a mere local or even provincial importance. The return of Mr. Fleming by the handsome majority of 120 in a straight party contest is a sign of the times, showing that recent events in Manitoba and Prince Edward Island are only typical of the condition of public feeling in other provinces.

Mr. Fleming may well be congratulated. He had against him all the influence and power of persuasion and intimidation that two governments could bring. It is his victory which made its appearance in large quantities at Woodstock on election day. Whatever the power and resources of the two governments, and the contractors who do business with both, could do was done to elect Mr. Shaw.

But the most hearty congratulations belong to the people of Carleton. It is their victory. The lower inducements were all in favor of supporting the government. In some constituencies the people might have considered that the election of an opposition man would not turn the government out, while it would annoy the dispensers of patronage.

THE LATE MR. OGILVIE. The sudden death of Mr. W. W. Ogilvie removes one of the great Canadian captains of industry and commerce. Mr. Ogilvie was a great miller. His mills were capable of producing more than half the flour consumed in Canada. But he was much more than a manufacturer of flour. He was a great trader in grain, not of the class whose purchases are on paper, but of the old-fashioned kind who take delivery of the grain through the grain elevators of Manitoba and the west.

THE ISSUE IN CARLETON.

The Globe has an "impression" that "the federal government was not a participant" in the Carleton county fight. It points out that Mr. Emmerson declared last winter that he did not intend to run provincial politics on federal lines, and concludes that the dominion government after such an avowal would not think it necessary to intervene.

It is natural for the Globe, which is more interested in the Laurier government than it is in Mr. Emmerson, should make itself believe that "election" was held on purely local grounds. If we accept this explanation we must conclude that the Emmerson government is exceedingly unpopular among the Carleton county farmers. The Globe is apparently quite willing to have the public take this view of the case.

But what is the election of Mr. Fleming distinctly a condemnation of the Emmerson government? It is also a vote of censure on the Laurier ministry. Last winter Mr. Emmerson declared his alleged independence of federal politics, he called in Mr. Blair and gave him the management of the provincial campaign. Mr. Blair not only gave the "Emmerson" ticket all the support he could command, but he personally selected candidates and organized the campaign.

The dominion government has continued to control our provincial affairs. The by-election in Carleton was brought about by an Ottawa deal. Mr. Smith was promised this post-mastership long ago. That was one of the understandings of his candidature last winter. The dominion government improperly dismissed Postmaster Vince by virtue of that bargain.

Mr. Shaw, the government candidate, was nominated by a convention of the liberal party. In his speech that same day he defended the Laurier party. At some of his meetings he spoke of the failure of the liberal party to dominion issues. Mr. Emmerson himself discussed federal questions during the greater part of his speech on at least one occasion.

THE LAURIER ORGAN AND MANITOBA. The acknowledged "organ of the liberal party" in Quebec is still crying out over the election in Manitoba. Le Soleil now presents the case in this form: "The conservatives ridiculed the Laurier policy of conciliation, but during only three years in which the government has been in power it has obtained enormous concessions from the Greenway government."

THE LAURENCE ORGAN AND MANITOBA. The acknowledged "organ of the liberal party" in Quebec is still crying out over the election in Manitoba. Le Soleil now presents the case in this form: "The conservatives ridiculed the Laurier policy of conciliation, but during only three years in which the government has been in power it has obtained enormous concessions from the Greenway government."

"They were conservatives before, they have become liberals." "In all the French centres, says the 'Belle de Manitoaba', the Greenway candidates have obtained large majorities." "Is not this a proof that the Catholic population is satisfied with the present condition of things?"

But if public money is given to Roman Catholic schools it is done against the law enacted by the Greenway government. The law does not recognize separate schools or allow any public money to be paid to Roman Catholic schools. While the late government was in power at Ottawa Mr. Greenway in the interest of his own pride insisted on having re-established harmony in the land, and having obtained for the Catholic minority concessions which enable them to give their children the instruction they want.

All this time Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Tarte had a secret understanding with the Greenway government that all concessions demanded by the Roman Catholics should be refused so long as the former were in power at Ottawa. Mr. Tarte, but should be granted as soon as Laurier took office. By this strategy, which was rather meaner than the Boer use of the white flag, they managed to withdraw a certain Protestant support from the late government. They made another and opposite and still more successful appeal to the French vote in Quebec.

When Sir Wilfrid came into power he sent his emissary to the Vatican to assure the Court of Rome that the church would get all it wanted in Manitoba. Premier Greenway made the concessions as arranged beforehand, the same that he had refused to the minority before the change of government. The statements quoted from the Soleil show how completely he gave up the principles for which he had professed so much concern.

He violated his own statute. He broke his own pledges. He smashed his own school system. The statements quoted from the Soleil show how far his government was concerned, a political device, got up for his own benefit and that of his comrades in Quebec. The minority in Manitoba, says the Laurier organ, are perfectly satisfied. They have not a single complaint. "Hundreds of Roman Catholic schools receive public grants." This contempt of law, and disregard of obligation, this whole scheme of knavish political bargains over a matter of grave national concern, is quite satisfactory to the government organ in Quebec. The party and its leaders care no more for Roman Catholic convictions than for Protestant beliefs, no more for the constitutional claims of the minority than for the sanctity of statute law.

THE ONLY THING THAT TROUBLES THE organ of Sir Wilfrid is the fact that the Laurier-Greenway scheme did not commend itself to the majority in Manitoba. Le Soleil and Wilfrid are in a state of surprise. "Hundreds of Roman Catholics who were persuaded by the Laurier-Greenway combination to stand up for a non-sectarian school system a few years ago, should not have been so ready to desert the Laurier party. This cynical destruction of that system. The premier of Canada is grieved because the people of Manitoba did not join their local premier in selling out the school system for the sake of a few dollars. He has other critics than the people of Manitoba. The Premier of Canada is grieved because the people of Manitoba did not join their local premier in selling out the school system for the sake of a few dollars.

A NOBLE OFFER. Canada has reason to be proud of Lord Strathcona and his Imperial government. He has offered not only to raise a force of 400 mounted men, finding the equipment and horses, but to transport them to South Africa, maintaining and paying them until they reach Cape Town. The despatch suggests that the cost will be a million dollars. This is evidently too high an estimate, but perhaps it is not too much to say that the cost would be half a million. The high commissioner is not one of the Canadians who ask: "What have we to do with the foreign wars of England?" If Canada is not in line with the other colonies before this war is over it will not be the fault of Lord Strathcona or of the Canadian people.

Among the homes to which this war has brought sorrow is that of our former governor general, Earl Dufferin. The Marquis of Ava was a boy when he came with the family to this country and was only fifteen when his father returned to enter the diplomatic service. But he has had several visits to Canada since, and is known to many Canadians.
