Youthful Desperadoes Defy Sheriff's Posse

Terrorized Maine Community, Break into House, use Knife on one man, and after laying in supply of provisions, barricade themselves in Shack.

Special to The Standard. Machias, Me., May 11.—A trio of youthful desperadoes, who for three days successfully defied all efforts of Deputy Sheriff Grover K. Coffin and a posse to arrest them, were captured here through a woman's strategy and have just been sentenced to the state school for boys at Cape Elizabeth for the remainder of their minority. Before being arrested they had terrorized the entire neighborhood, and one of them had severely slashed Capt. T. H. Johnson of Marshfield on the hand and wrist when he attempted to take the boy. Their names are Ernest, Charles and Earl Halstrom, aged 14, 12 and 9 respectively, and a long series of robberies is charged against them.

The immediate cause of the trouble was a break at the home of Mrs. Janet Cole, at Hadley's Lake during her absence. When she returned last week she discovered money, two gold watches, valuable papers, rugs, and provisions had been stolen. She at once notified Deputy Coffin, who at once started after the youngsters. Learning they were to be arrested, the boys came to Machias where they purchased enough provisions to last a month. Then they started for their camp near Hadley's Lake, announcing that they would kill whoever tried to take them. They had a rifle, a shot gun, three revolvers and knives and a plentiful supply of ammunition. Nothing daunted, the posse started after the youngsters, to be met at the point of their weapons and marched back out of the woods. This caused the enthusiasm to die down somewhat, and the men spread out in a thin line in an endeavor to surround the boys and starve them out. As theirarder was well stocked, the prospects didn't appear bright for immediate action, however.

Wednesday night Charles appeared in Capt. Johnson's pasture at Marshfield. The captain seized him and commenced dragging him toward the house. Then the boy drew a knife and slashed his captor violently on the wrist and hand. With a howl of pain, Capt. Johnson released his hold and Charles jumped into the river, swam across and disappeared in the woods on the opposite bank. Two nights later the three boys swung into Webster Harmon's door at dusk. All farm houses had been closely guarded by men with firearms for three days, and the women of the vicinity were in a state of nervous dread. Mrs. Harmon happened to be alone but, with much presence of mind, she asked the boys in and then telephoned Deputy Sheriff Leighton they were there. Acting on his request, she gave them supper and commenced telling them stories to draw their attention. In the meantime the house and taken by surprise, the three surrendered without firing a shot. They were arraigned before Trial Justice W. D. Whitney here and sentenced to the state school for their minority. A long series of robberies is charged against the youths. The downfall is said to be to the sensation moving pictures, depicting the exploits of train robbers and other criminals.

Declaring prohibitory law is not enforced in Bangor, Old Town and other points in Penobscot County, Gov. Haines has written a letter to Hilda O'Connell, Sheriff of Bangor, demanding his resignation. Although a formal reply has not yet been returned to the capital, Sheriff O'Connell has announced to newspapermen that he has no intention of complying with the request.

"I don't admit," he says, "that there is any reason why I should resign. I have worked hard to enforce the liquor laws here and if I had done more."

Sheriff O'Connell, who was a member of the last Maine legislature, appointed Sheriff here by Gov. Haines after his predecessor Sheriff Emerson had been removed by the State law making body because of alleged non-enforcement. For a time the city was closed tight as the proverbial drum, but for some months past it has been an easy matter to obtain liquor here. Saloons and the bars in the leading hotels have been doing business with hardly an attempt at concealment and charges of graft have been rumored in connection with the sheriff's office. He and his deputies have made numerous seizures but the places which have been doing business in the most open manner have been left severely alone.

This state of affairs has caused much talk in various Maine newspapers, and Hon. Hal C. Gardner, progressive candidate for governor, has openly called upon Gov. Haines to take action regarding the situation here. Gov. Haines at first denied liquor was being sold in Bangor but last week he received the report of special agents sent here to investigate. As a result, O'Connell's resignation was called for. If Sheriff O'Connell persists in his refusal to resign he can be removed only by act of the legislature. It is thought well within the range of possibilities that Gov. Haines may call one within the next fortnight for the purpose of putting the O'Connell case before it.

STOCK CO. IN A FINE PLAY

"Annie Laurie" one of the successes of season - Romantic and bright story.

The Thompson-Woods Company scored one of the successes of their management in the Opera House last evening with the presentation for the first time in St. John of "Annie Laurie," a pretty little play of the pastoral type, and abounding in characters such as members of this talented company can so well portray. The story of the play contains a goodly share of the romantic element and many bright comedy lines and situations. It deals with the adventures of a gentleman crook who happens in to the life of a small town and becomes enamored of a charming girl who, of course, is ignorant of his occupation, and for whose sake he ultimately forsakes the path of evil. Mr. McHenry as Robert Grayson, the crook, gave an excellent portrayal of a part which held much of interest. He was ably aided by Miss Brandt, who as "Annie Laurie" did especially good work. Mr. Weyler was seen as James Laurie, father of Annie, and had another of those character parts he plays so well.

Mr. Drummond as Ezekiel Breath, the mill carrier, was good, as was also Mr. Flemming, as Frank Jordan; Mr. McClosky as Jack Lynch, Mr. Hodges as Bob Bowles, and Mr. Payer as Hank. Of the ladies Miss Davis was especially good in the part of Willie Jordan, while Miss Bishop as Jessie and Miss Derby as Martha made the most of their parts. The piece was well staged and produced with an attention to detail that made it particularly interesting. The orchestra rendered a programme of Scottish airs which added materially to the pleasure of the evening. Annie Laurie will be repeated tonight and Wednesday evening and at a matinee on Wednesday. The play is a well worthy of patronage.

THE COURTS.

SUPREME COURT. The case of Caritae vs. the Norton Griffiths Company, Limited, a suit brought to restrain the defendants from injurious blasting at East St. John, while Miss Bishop as Jessie and Miss Derby as Martha made the most of their parts. The piece was well staged and produced with an attention to detail that made it particularly interesting. The orchestra rendered a programme of Scottish airs which added materially to the pleasure of the evening. Annie Laurie will be repeated tonight and Wednesday evening and at a matinee on Wednesday. HEALTH AND BEAUTY HINTS

By Mrs. Mae Martyn. Mrs. A. T. B.: You are not shampooing often enough and may not use the best shampoo. Try my favorite, which is canthrox—just dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and rub briskly as you pour it on the hair and scalp. This makes an abundance of rich, cleansing lather that is very soothing to tender, itchy scalps. Rinse leaves the scalp immaculately clean, and each strand of hair will look soft, shimmery and full of health. Canthrox shampoos are splendid for correcting oiliness, dryness or profuse dandruff. I like its drying qualities, too.

Mrs. G.: The symptoms you describe, pains and aches in the limbs and small of back, loss of appetite, lack of strength and ambition, are danger signals—warning your blood is laden with poisons which will cause serious sickness if not eliminated from the system. The kardenone tonic grandmother's day is excellent to use, and can be prepared at home at little cost by dissolving one-half cupful sugar and one ounce kardenone (which you can get at your drug store) in one-half pint alcohol (not whiskey), to which is then added hot alcohol, then adding one-half pint water. The scalp should be massaged once or twice a week with this tonic. It is ready to use and it is ready. I apply this lotion sparingly and rub lightly for a moment until it dries and scabs fall out. To prepare the cream-jelly to which it gives a velvety smoothness and refined color that is delightful.

Marge: Friends tell me I have every reason to be proud of my complexion, which is the result of discarding powder and using spumox lotion. This is inexpensive and easy to make at home. I just dissolve four ounces spumox in one-half pint witch-hazel or hot water, then add two teaspoonfuls glycerine, and it is ready. I apply this lotion sparingly and rub lightly for a moment until it dries and scabs fall out. To prepare the cream-jelly to which it gives a velvety smoothness and refined color that is delightful.

O. T.: The wrinkles of which you speak will soon vanish if you apply almond cream-jelly, and massage the long way of the creases. This simple treatment tends to vivify the dormant tissues, causing the creases or lines to fill out. To prepare the cream-jelly put one ounce almond (which you can get at your drug store) in one-half pint water and add two teaspoonfuls of glycerine. Let remain overnight before using. As a skin-cleaner and beautifier this greaseless cream-jelly is not equalled.

Success for you. Take no more chances—Because what comes out of the oven depends upon what goes in. Use Five Roses. Not Bleached Not Blended. Success for you.

Replenish Streams With Sporting Fish

Marine and Fisheries Department at work on important project - Distribution of fry from local hatchery - To stock waters near city.

The first distribution of salmon and trout fry will be made from the new hatchery at the Little River reservoir, St. John, N.B., this spring. The trout fry are now well developed and will be distributed about the middle of the present month. The salmon eggs are just beginning to hatch and the fry will be ready for distribution towards the end of May or in the early part of June.

This hatchery is located on property leased from the city of St. John. The building is fitted up with the most modern hatching equipment and is 53 ft. long by 31 ft. wide. It contains 30 hatching troughs, which provide capacity for upwards of 3,000,000 eggs. A modern dwelling for the officer in charge, 32 ft. by 27 ft., is located convenient to the hatchery.

This season, arrangements are being made to utilize the fry retaining tanks for the purpose of rearing trout to the fingerling stage for stocking suitable waters in the St. John district. 25,000 trout fry are to be reared this season, and if the water and other conditions prove to be favorable, and the results are satisfactory, the department has in view the building of permanent rearing ponds for trout.

There are at present approximately 120,000 speckled trout fry in the tanks and troughs, and with these the streams flowing into Loch Lomond will liberally stocked this season. The Fisher lakes, in Rockwood Park will receive 15,000 fry, and the remainder will be distributed in other suitable trout waters, such as the Magaguadavic river and lake, Shogomac and Skiff lakes and the Nash-walkis river.

It appeared from information gathered that salmon were again returning to certain rivers, to which they have not resorted for years for various reasons, consequent upon the clearing away of the forests and the settling of the country. The importance of re-establishing an angle in all suitable rivers is fully realized, and with this end in view, a complete survey was made of the Kennebecalls river last fall to ascertain the extent of the spawning area in this stream and to what extent salmon were resorting to it for spawning purposes. John, was found to contain a considerable number of suitable pools and good spawning areas, and arrangements have therefore been made to stock it liberally for a term of years. This season 500,000 fry will be distributed in suitable parts of it, or in its smaller tributaries. This survey work will be continued to the different rivers of the province.

In addition to the Kennebecalls, all suitable rivers in the southern part of New Brunswick to which it is feasible to transfer fry, such as the St. Croix, Pocoloan, Quidy, Salmon (St. John County), Little Salmon, Tynemouth Creek, Salmon (Queen's County), Musquash, Washademoak, James, Cannaan and Bell Isle rivers, will be stocked this season. The total distribution of salmon will be approximately 2,500,000.

The percentage of loss that has taken place in the eggs incubated this season has been small, and it is expected that the establishment of this hatchery will be of the greatest value to the commercial and sporting fisheries of southern New Brunswick and the Bay of Fundy.
