to make a living.

Mostly all have left their reserve, even those that have been in school, left to try and make a living somewhere else for they have nothing to work a farm. Sure they know the ways of white men but it is impossible for them to stay when they cannot work.

There are six young men here that have been in school, they will soon be married and they will have to make a living for themselves.

That is the only way I see for us to work our farms and it the only chance for
