THE LEGISLATIVE Black List.

OF
UPPER CANADA:
OR OFFICIAL CORRUPTION AND HYPOCRISY UNMASKED.

By W. L. MACKENZIE, Editor of the Advocate.

MOTTO.

The British Government wanted to tax the Americans, without letting them send members to Parliament. The people of America resisted; and in the House of Lords, Lord Chatham, the father of Pitt, said, that they had "a right to resist," and that he rejoiced that they had resisted."

"He who is taxed without his consent is a slave. He may call himself what he will; but, if he has no voice in the making of the laws, by which he is liable to be punished, and by which his property is taken away and applied to the use of others, he is, to all intents and purposes, a slave."

In Upper Canada, not one fifth part of the actual revenue raised by taxes, upon the people, is at the disposal of their representatives. They are taxed without their consent, and these taxes are appropriated, by the King's representative, without their authority.

Mr. Huskisson's conduct, as colonial minister, promises well. But it will be time enough to give the British government credit for constitutional conduct towards Upper Canada, when the system is changed. Another revolution in America may be prevented by a due observance of the signs of the times; but if it break out, perhaps the fleets and armies of England, with all the Brunswickers, Hessians, and other German mercenaries, which her gold could hire, would not quell it. A conflagration may be prevented at commencement, by the prudence of one person; but when it has spread itself and gathered strength, who shall set bounds to its fury?

"Nunc aut Nunquam." (Now or never!)—KILMOREY.

THE LIBEL.

VALUABLE REPORT ON THE CONDUCT OF THE CROWN LAWYERS.

Always anxious to inform our readers of the most important proceedings of the Colonial Legislature, we hasten to direct their attention to the report of a select committee of the House of Assembly on the petition of Mr. Forsyth, of Niagara Falls, loudly complaining of the conduct of the crown officers, and of a defective and partial administration of justice. The report speaks a language not to be misunderstood, and we trust that a perusal of it will serve to stir up the dormant energies of the wholesome part of the population, and induce them to exert themselves manfully to clear the House of Assembly next election of the Attorney General, Speaker Willson, Jonas, David, and Charles Jones, Messrs. Barnham, Coleman, Scollick, Gordon, McDonell, Beasley, Clark, McLean, Vankoughnet, and the whole of that ominous nest of Unclean birds which have so long lain close under the wings of a spendid executive, and (politically to speak) actually preyed upon the very vitals of the country they ought to have loved cherished and protected. No wonder it is that parliament should find its energies all but paralyzed, when such an accumulation of corrupt materials is left UNSWEPT WITH THE BESOM OF THE PEOPLE'S WRATH from out of these halls they have so long and so shamefully "defiled with their abominations."—[From the Colonial Advocate, of April 3rd.]
