

"But one little pig became quite intimate with a goat that resided in a field near by.

"The goat's family were not so lazy as the little pig's family were, and at first the goat's family didn't want their favorite child to have anything to do with the pig, as they thought it would encourage him to laziness, and that they never wanted him to be.

"But after awhile they saw that this little pig really did not like being so lazy as his family, and then they didn't object to the friendship.

"As for the pig's family, they didn't care what happened so long as they were not disturbed themselves.

"Among other things that the little pig liked about his friends was that without being overneat they were not quite so fond of dirt as his family. Of course, you see, how different he was from his family, as he didn't like mud nearly so much as they did, nor did he think lying in it was at all an idea of bliss.

"So he became just fussy enough about his personal appearance to still look exactly like a pig. But he saw that his feet were moder-
