

HEARD ON THE AVENUE.

"Gee, kid, I wish you lived in this town. Stand still till I hug you."

Oh you People's choice, why can't you take him as a joke, instead of using such—ahem! language?

Howsoever love is blind,
The world at large can see;
That though you run a Bible Class,
You need not miss your tea."

For confirmation of this ask W.G.I.

Now, Hank. spell "Occasionally."

Mr. Newcome! Be a sport and see the whole service out.

The Literary Society don't need policemen at their meetings, but something to overcome the soporic influence of their er-speeches.
