Women's Ailments

There is no need whatever for so many women to suffer from pains and weakness, nervousness and sleeplessness, anæmia, hysteria and melancholia, faint and dizzy spells, and the hundred other troubles which render the life of too many women a round of sickness and suffering.

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

Have Restored Thousands of Canadian Women to Health and Strength

Young girls budding into womanhood who suffer with pains and headaches, and whose face is pale and blood water, or women at the change of life who are nervous, subject to hot flushes, feeling of pins and needles, etc., are tided over these trying times by Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

They have a wonderful effect on a woman's system, making pains and aches vanish, bring color to the pale cheek and sparkle to the eye. The old, worn out, tired out, languid feelings give place to strength and vitality, and life seems worth living.

Secretary A. M. Downes, of New York's Department of Fire, related at a dinner a fire story.

"At the end of the first act of a drama," he said, "a man leaped hurriedly to his feet.

"''I heard an alarm of fire,' he said. 'I must go and see where it is.'

"His wife, whose hearing was less acute, made way for him in silence, and he disappeared.

"''It wasn't fire,' he said on his return.

THE FARMER'S ADVOCATE.

GOSSIP.

Judges at a horse show are supposed to be entirely impartial. In this respect they are not materially different from a judge sitting in court, says the Rider and Driver. Mr. Eben D. Jordan, when exhibiting his horses a few years ago, was invited by one of the judges to lunch with him. "No," said Mr. Jordan, "not as long as you are a judge and I am an exhibitor. After the horse show is over I will be pleased to have you dine with me; but so long as the relation of judge and exhibitor exists between us there will be 'nothing doing' in the way of social amenities." If other exhibitors and judges would emulate the example of Mr. Jordan much unnecessary scandal respecting the awards would be eliminated, and thereby shows in general would be greatly benefited.

STATUS OF HORSE-BREEDING.

The New York Herald says that J. D Carroll, of that city, who has built up one of the largest establishments in the world devoted to supplying heavy horses to the men who make use of them, and believing firmly in the future of the horse as the most economical and reliable motive power for the short haul in all kinds of teaming, started out about two months ago to sound the draft-horse breeding industry of the West with a view of cornering the country's supply of fancy drafters if conditions warranted the move. A thorough investigation of conditions in the West was quietly made, and the result was Mr. Carroll's abandonment of the speculative project. Careful inquiry among the country dealers, breeders, stallion owners, importers, and feeders, revealed the rather surprising fact that neither the financial disturbances nor the development of the motor truck has apparently produced any alarm whatever among the men who raise fancy drafters respecting the future demand for them. Many farmers who have such horses ready for the market have been holding them back and working them lightly rather than accept lower prices for them. It is even reported that some shippers to one of the Western markets recently took a carload of fancy big horses back home because current prices did not suit them. "The whole truth of the matter is," Mr. Carroll said, "that our investigations go to show that more well-bred drafters will be foaled in the United States in 1909 than in any past year in the history of horse-breeding." The opinion which his investigations forced upon Mr. Carroll is interesting, because it shows plainly that the predictions that motor-driven vehicles would drive the horse-drawn vehicles from the streets of our great cities has not been fulfilled, nor is there the least chance that they will ever do so.

of a cow for the entire year, though it is good evidence of her capacity for six or eight months, and frequently indicates her capacity as a yearly producer. We never have had an A. R. O. cow that has not made yearly a large quantity of milk and butter, writes Burton W. Potter, of Rutland, Mass.

Therefore, we say without hesitation, that 7-day tests are of great value, inasmuch as they designate our best producers, and also furnish evidence of the producing capacity of the Holstein cow. But, while we think 7-day tests are valuable, we think 30-day tests are more valuable, and that yearly tests are more
