

AND GIRLS ROSY CHEEKS

They Can be Had by Keeping the Blood Rich and Pure.

Every woman—every girl—wants rosy cheeks. They mean not only beauty, but good health. When a woman's blood is scanty or anemic her color fades, she looks debilitated, is short of breath, and her heart palpitates after slight exertion. Sometimes this trouble is accompanied by severe headaches, or, at the back of the head, or, at the sides. This condition is entirely due to weak, watery blood, and can only be cured by making the blood rich, red and pure. For this purpose try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which act directly upon the blood, and to this end give new health and strength to all ill people. Mrs. Isaac W. Howell, Pettitwood, N.B., tells of what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for her as follows:—"For some time I had not been feeling well. I had been gradually growing weaker, and found it continually growing harder to do my work. I was very pale and had frequent headaches. I consulted a doctor and took his medicine for some time, but it did me no good. I found myself growing weaker, and taking to my bed. A friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and although I had nearly lost faith in all medicine, I got a supply and began their use. After a time I found they were helping me, and I gladly continued taking them, and ultimately found that the troubles that had afflicted me had vanished. I am giving this statement in the hope that my experience will be of benefit to others." You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Culinary Curios.

Visiting a Chinese restaurant recently, the writer had a dish made of chicken stewed with sweet almonds. And, curious as it sounds, the mixture was a very good one. Has it ever occurred to you how peculiar are the mixtures of food which we find on our plates every day of our lives? Who, for instance, was the first person to eat currant jelly with roast mutton? No one knows, and on the face of it, it seems absurd to eat jam with meat, yet no person can assert that the result is not excellent. Apple sauce with sage is more natural, for the acidity of the apple corrects the extreme richness of the pork. In Europe you will find stewed oysters served with pork and apples, and omelettes with veal. Although both these combinations may seem startling, there is no doubt about their being good. In Canada cranberry jelly goes with roast turkey, and here again the result is all that can be desired. A real Indian curry, which we practically never see in this country, is made with fruit as well as onions, mixed with meat. Try a curry made with apples and currants, and you will be delighted with the combination. A roast goose is a poor thing without a stuffing of sage and onions, but the name of the talented inventor of this combination is lost to history. Have you ever tried cheese with cold apple pie? This is a Yorkshire dish, which deserves to be more popular than it is. We all eat cucumber with cold salmon, but how many are aware that fennel sauce adds greatly to the excellence of hot hollid salmon. Every country has its own peculiar mixtures of savouries and sweets, and many of them are most delicious. Marshal Foch, during his recent visit to the United States, travelled 13,000 miles, and made 164 speeches to 10,000,000 citizens.

Lord Bryce's Hobbies.

Among the prized trophies of the late Viscount Bryce were fishing rods, alpenstocks and academic gowns. Lord Bryce was always fond of angling. He never attained such fame in this pursuit, of course, as Lord Grey, but he was a keen fisherman nevertheless, and had a valuable collection of fishing rods. Whenever Bryce saw a river he fished in it, whether it was the Nile at Petrograd, the Seine in Paris, the Manzanares in Madrid, the Humber in Toronto or the Potomac in Washington. Next in line to his fishing rods was his equipment for mountain climbing. It is this hobby of Lord Bryce that made him a popular hero in the Rocky Mountain district, and especially in the city of Calgary. For two years Bryce was president of the Alpine Club, the ancestor of the Alpine Club of Canada. As for university gowns, Lord Bryce had an unequalled collection. He held degrees, actual and honorary, from colleges and academies all over the world. From Oxford he had gowns of Trinity and Oriel; gowns, too, from Heidelberg, Turin, Brussels, Naples, Petrograd, Stockholm, Toronto (Trinity College), Rome, Glasgow, Michigan, Edinburgh, Budapest, Harvard, Johns Hopkins, Leipzig, Buenos Aires, Adelaide, Brisbane. These gowns and hoods were of every color and shape. The weight of them, if worn all together, would have borne any man to the ground, and the colors rivaled those of the spectrum.

Topsy's Flock.

Topsy, a half-grown shepherd dog, has a flock of her own. It is an unusual flock, too, for every one of the members of it has, not wool, but feathers! The mother of the flock is a Plymouth Rock hen, but Topsy is the shepherd. Whenever the chicks scatter she will run round them and gradually bring them nearer the clucking mother. One day some of them had wandered off, and Topsy, much distressed, was making every effort to round them up, when a passer-by who thought she was going to hurt them struck her with a folded paper. At once the dog set up an agonized barking, and finally her mistress hurried out to explain. Left alone again, the little dog brought the chicks into close formation and delivered them to the hen in a fairly compact group. Topsy was never trained to do that sort of thing and has never been with older shepherd dogs. Apparently "blood will tell."

Thomas Fiddle was a very learned young man. At school he shone like all the stars and planets lumped together. A sixty candle-power lamp wasn't in it beside the burning flame of his genius. But his friends were frightfully disappointed when he refused to accept the degree of Doctor of Divinity. One of them tackled him on the subject. "Ah,—well," replied the genius, "it's bad enough to be named Fiddle, without being Fiddle, D.D."

The child of a father over fifty years of age has ten times as good a chance of becoming eminent as he would if his father were a younger man.

Nerves Steady, Eats Anything and Sleeps Like a Log Since Taking Tanlac.

"It was certainly a happy surprise to me when I saw Tanlac restoring my health," said Miss Yvonne Ray, 3 Hotel de Ville St., Montreal. "For a year and a half before I got Tanlac my health was simply awful. I slept so fitfully I gained no real rest and I woke up mornings feeling all tired out. My nervous system just collapsed and I would jump at any little noise. I frequently turned so dizzy and sick I could hardly stand—the smell of food cooking. My condition seemed to get worse constantly and I worried all the time. "Well, the first thing Tanlac did for me was to give me a splendid appetite. Then all my troubles gradually disappeared, my nerves got better and I could enjoy a good night's sleep. My whole system is now in excellent condition and I'm enjoying the best of health. Tanlac is certainly a wonderful medicine." Tanlac is sold by all good druggists. —Adv't.

Surnames and Their Origin

MacLAREN
Variation—MacLaurin.
Racial Origin—Scottish.
Source—A given name.
Here is another Scottish family name derived from a given name which the progenitors of its bearers brought to Scotland from Ireland in the ancient days when the Dalriada Gaels crossed over and by conquest and settlement won the dominance of the Highlands. The MacLaren's, or MacLaurins, are traditionally descended from "Loarn" or "Laurin," who was the son of Eric, one of the Dalriadic chieftains who settled in Argyle in the sixth century. This "Loarn" is the same chief who is said to have given the district of Lorn its name. The clan, for the MacLarens once constituted one of the leading clans in the Highlands, was for a long time a big factor in Scottish history. As early as the reign of King Kenneth MacAlpin it appears to have acquired considerable territories in Strathearn and Balquhider. In 1138 they played a prominent part in the Battle of the Standard, under the leadership of "Malise," the Earl of Strathearn. But the clan was reduced from the status of proprietorship over its land in 1138, when the earldom of Strathearn became the property of the Scottish crown, though they retained a status as perpetual tenants. But its fortunes received a setback from which they have never recovered. In 1745, when it took part in the uprising which attempted to put the Stuart line, in the person of "Bonnie Prince Charlie," back on the throne of England and Scotland.

GRANT

Variation—Grand.
Racial Origin—Scottish; also Anglo-Norman.
Source—A locality; also a characteristic.
The most obvious explanation of the name of Grant is that it is a variation of Grand or "le Grand," originating as a sobriquet denoting superiority or seniority in Norman-French days, and later becoming a family name in the natural growth of such nicknames. More often, however, it is traceable to a Highland Scottish source as the name of one of the clans which developed from the ancient Clan Aplin, of which group the MacGregors were the leaders. The name of the Clan Grant is Gaelic, not Norman, and as sometimes has happened with the Scottish Gaelic names, but virtually never with the Irish, it is derived from the name of a place. This place was an extensive moorland near Strathpey known as "Grantach" or "Slabh-Griannais." The clan itself traces back in its chieftainship to Gregor Mor MacGregor, who, it is claimed, settled in that section about the twelfth century. Gauge Needs No Packing. A Swedish inventor has patented in seventeen countries a faucet which requires no packing, accurate grinding of the fitting surface of the valve preventing leakage. Largest Camera. The largest camera in the world has been built by United States geological survey experts, weighing 3 1/2 tons and making photographs a yard square. Domestic articles which have the appearance of polished steel and yet need no cleaning are being made by a new Sheffield process.

Why Clocks on Socks.

What we describe to-day as a "clock" on a sock or stocking is nothing more than a piece of embroidery, which appears to have been placed in position in order to make the ankle of the wearer look more slender. Originally it was designed to cover a natural defect in the weave. In the days before the invention of the present type of machinery, which works automatically and turns out a completed stocking every few seconds, hosiery was woven in two separate pieces. When completed, the sock or stocking was joined together on either side of the ankle, a process which naturally left an unsightly seam. In order to conceal this, a decorative piece of embroidery was placed over the seams. The operation, on account of the stitch used, was referred to as the "clocking" on the stocking. The necessity for an ornament of this kind has long since passed, but the "clocks" remain as a reminder of an old custom. Smallest X-Ray Machine. The smallest practical X-ray machine has been invented for physicians and dentists, weighing but twenty pounds. Domestic articles which have the appearance of polished steel and yet need no cleaning are being made by a new Sheffield process.

Save the bird in hand—
The others may be hard to catch

With enough money, enough time and enough luck, a man may get back the health he has lost—or part of it. It takes patience, too. And then there may be no success, or only a little. It's better to save what you have than hunt for what you've lost—as the most successful health-restorers will tell you. Much of the loss of health is due to faulty, careless diet. Wrong meals at all times and right meals at wrong times load the long-suffering digestive organs with elements of destruction, or starve the tissues and glands of needed elements. Grape-Nuts is a delicious cereal food which has the qualities of scientific nutrition. It supplies the full richness of those splendid food grains, wheat and malted barley, together with the vital mineral elements, so often lacking from foods. Served with cream or good milk, Grape-Nuts gives full nourishment without over-loading the stomach. A splendid thought for breakfast or lunch, for those who would keep healthy—
