WHERE FRESHNESS COUNTS.

Among the manifold advantages of newspaper advertising over other forms there is one which the promoters of competing mediums of publicity can never hope to overcome. The newspaper establishes a direct communication between producers and distributors on the one hand and consumers on the other. It is "Johnny on the spot." It carries business news to the people within twenty-four hours after the copy is written. It does away with the necessity of cold storage preparation. And freshness counts for as much in business announcements as it does in the dissemination of the news of the day.

SASKATCHEWAN.

Dundas Banner, Liberal.

F. W. G. Haultain held too prominent a position as premier of the Northwest Territories to be ignored by Lieutenant-Governor Forget on the formation of the new provinces. He had been the choice of the people for years, and had served them with conspicuous ability. He was a member of the executive council and premier of the Northwest Territories when the new provinces came into existence. To ignore him on the formation of the Provincial Government was simply to repudiate Representative Government. To appoint a man as premier who was not the choice of the people and not their representative in any sense was simply to ignore the people. It is true Mr. Haultain opposed the Autonomy bills, but as premier of the new province he would have been powerless to repudiate its constitution which embodies certain legal rights and privileges for Roman Catholics. Under Representative Government, and as the premier of the Territories, he was the proper person to organize one of the new Governments. In selecting Walter Scott, who had no seat in the old council, Lieutenant-Governor Forget became autocratic and simply told the people that Representative Government did not exist, and that they did not rule. The position we take on this matter is the position Reformers took under William Lyon Mackenzie, and afterwards under Alexander Mackenzie and Edward Blake, as late as Sanfield Macdonald's time. Alexander Mackenzie, the historian of George Brown, tells us, when Mr. Brown joined the ministry of John A. Macdonald in 1864, in order to carry Confederation, his intention was that as soon as the Confederation Act became law the two parties should resume their normal position, and that the general elections, which must be held, would determine which party should succeed to power for the first parliamentary term. Mr. Mackenzie states that "the existing administration of Canada (that is, Ontario and Quebec) would necessarily, so far as the provinces of Quebec and Ontario were concerned, have the organization of the Local Government in their hands, as well as the provisional arrangements for the Dominion, though nominally all this might be supposed to be done after the first day of July, 1867." On the same reasoning the existing administration in the Territories would have the organization of the local governments in its hands, as well as the provisional arrangements for the Dominion. But in all this Mr. Haultain, the premier of the Territories up to the moment of the formation of the province of Saskatchewan, has been as completely ignored as if he never existed, and as if representative government had not been secured to us through years of struggle and blood. At the same time it should be borne in mind that Mr. Forget was Lieutenant-Governor of the Northwest Territories at the time of the formation of the new provinces, and as such was entitled to the appointment of Lieutenant-Governor. But just for the same reason Mr. Haultain was entitled to the appointment of premier. The appointment of Mr. Forget is, therefore, no proof that there has been collusion between him and the Ottawa Cabinet, though suspicions are likely to exist, especially as no valid objection exists against Mr. Haultain and also because Mr. Forget's conduct is a transparent piece of trickery. But the two young giants that have arisen out in the West cannot long be hampered by such expedients. They will rise above the torments of inaugural lubricity with which they have been baptized, and throw off the swaddling clothes already soiled with ignoble greed and demand, as a boon to themselves, that a just requital be given the long and eminent services of a man

For Family Colds

A reliable cough and cold cure should be always in the house ready for use the moment the first symptoms appear. It is always easier, cheaper, and better to check a cold in the very beginning.

It is easier, too. Shiloh's Consumption Cure, the Lung Tonic, has been tested for thirty-three years, and tens of thousands of homes in Canada and the United States to-day are never without it.

A dealer writes: "Shiloh's Consumption Cure is without doubt the best remedy for Coughs and Colds on the market. Once used, my customers will buy no other."—L. Easley, Nanawapung, Ont.

If it were anything but the best would this be so? Try it in your own family. If it does not cure, you get back all your money. We take all the chances. Neither you nor your dealer can lose. Isn't that fair? 25c. is the price. All dealers in medicine sell.

HARWICH PIONEER

One of Harwich's oldest residents in the person of James Lambie, passed away on the morning of Sept. 24th, his wife and the children living at home being at his bedside, witnessing him passing peacefully and calmly away without a struggle.

This highly respected gentleman lived to the good old age of 86 years, and when he retired the night previous to his death he had not an ailment only old age. He was born in Wexford County, Ireland, and came with his parents to Brockville, where he lived for some time. He came to Harwich, Kent County, about 64 years ago, and settled on his farm, where he lived until the time of his death.

About fifty-one years ago the deceased married Miss Ellen Hickey, of Raleigh, sister of Wm. Hickey, ex-Warden of Kent County. His wife and nine children are left to mourn his loss—the loss of an honest, kind and faithful husband and father.

The children are—James, of Raleigh; William, of Chatham Twp.; Mrs. John Dixon, Kansas City, Kan.; Sister Solanus, Mt. St. Clair Convent, Clinton, Iowa; Joseph, of Saratoga; John of the M. C. R. Co., Detroit; and Dennis, Albert and Minnie, at home.

The funeral took place the following Saturday after his death, his six sons being the pall-bearers. While the funeral bell tolled the large procession proceeded to St. Joseph's Church, Chatham, where High Mass was said by Rev. Father Herman, a frequent visitor of deceased. After mass there was a delay in the funeral owing to two telegrams being received from his daughters, who were on their way to see him. Honor was at once shown by Rev. Father James, P. P., by allowing the remains to be left in the church until the afternoon, when the daughters came, after which the funeral proceeded from the church to St. Anthony's Cemetery.

The deceased was an uncle of Jas. Taff, Mrs. Thos. Weldon, J. B. Kelly and James Kelley, all of Chatham.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

At The Grand—
Down By The Sea—Sept. 27-28.
Gismondia—Oct. 2.
The Isle of Bong Bong—Oct. 5.

(Supplied to The Planet by Press Agent.)

The company that comes to the Grand on Monday, October 2nd, is that of Melbourne Macdonald and the management of Charles Preston Elliott. No other dramatic organization now on tour can boast such an array of great actors for all of the supporting parts to the star. Mr. Macdonald will play Gismondia and Madama. Elliott, during his present trip, all of these plays by Victorian bard, the greatest dramatist of France in modern times. In Mr. Macdonald's company are 23 capable actors and actresses, who have been associated with him the past season and to whose credit stands the fact that they are able to present the famous Sardou plays better than is the case elsewhere in the world, Paris, France, not excepted.

"The Isle of Bong Bong," B. C. Whitney's sparkling musical surprise, will be the attraction at the Grand on Tuesday, October 3rd. This magnificent musical satire enjoyed a phenomenal run of two hundred and seven performances in Chicago. It is said to be replete with tuneful music, sprightly ensemble numbers, and a wealth of scenic investiture. The lyrics treat of an odd theme and the song hits are of the sort that will set the town awhistling. The cast is one of unusual excellence, and is headed by the eminent dialect comedian John W. Ransome, the man who made all London laugh. Others in the cast are Anna Boyd, John W. Hendricks, Walter Ware, Charles Parcor, Leonard B. Hoyt, Clement Johnstone, Edith Depey and a host of well known stage favorites.

THE INTERNATIONAL COLONIZATION OF THE WORLD.

(By James Victoria Stuart.)

The present situation in Europe on account of the intelligence of the nations there, should be one from which we might make a satisfactory summary of the possibilities for some great international colonization scheme to effect the great nations of Europe and later every nation in the universe.

Germany is indeed very wholly German and the protests in the nation have been for some time loud and bitter against the military authorities. The Government drives hard because the people are one solid mass of one race and one blood and it feels how high the responsibility runs and how difficult it is to palliate this existence at home as well as abroad. The youth of the land has been protesting by means of endeavors to evade the rigorous military regulations by having recourse to self destruction and bodily disablement, and the Government has recognized the serious situation by entertaining the proposition to make new regulations by which women may be enlisted into the German Army.

International intercolonization of the nations would mean much. It would mean world-wide tranquility and local disquiet. It would be a constant source of discomfort to all people in all lands. Locks on our doors, on our outhouses and cellars would then be much more necessary than now.

Great military reviews, on the land and the splendors of the naval reviews on the sea would be bartered in exchange for nothing better than a new condition of discomfort, and a more precarious existence. But prejudice might after a time change its front and then things would probably be improved.

Dry Cheese.
Dry cheese shows a careless housekeeper. It is a source of waste, as the dry, hard pieces are usually thrown out. To keep cheese moist it should be wrapped in buttered or oiled paper and kept in an airtight pan or one with a lid that fits closely. Cheese that is cut and soon to be eaten will be moist and fresh enough if merely wrapped in a damp cloth.

Look Your Best.
Always look your best, and after you have improved yourself as far as lies in your power, then make sure that your manners will do the rest. We all can't be beautiful, but we can try to be as beautiful as we can—and we all can certainly be courteous and win the love that even exceeding beauty will not gain for us without the charm that accentuates it.

String Beans and Lima Beans.
Here is a rather uncommon dish of vegetables, but its excellence is vouchsafed for: Cook string beans and lima beans separately and when tender place them together in a saucepan with an ounce of butter, salt and pepper. Toss them together while cooking for a few minutes and serve with a little chopped parsley sprinkled over them.

The Guest and the Waitress.

A dainty stranger waited into the dining room of a hotel in Smith Centre the other day and as the chair was held back for him pulled out his handkerchief and dusted the seat carefully. Pulling up his trousers, he seated himself, wiped the knife, fork and spoon with a napkin, worried a few crumbs off the table and heaved a sigh of relief. Without hesitation the girl who had been drawn into a pucker of dissatisfaction at the imaginary untidiness abounding, and planted a kiss thereon that was plainly heard in all parts of the room. The dainty stranger when he recovered ordered meekly, ate hurriedly and left quickly.

Demean.

Says a writer in the London Chronicle: "A vulgarism—one which, like 'aggravate' for 'irritate,' has come into use by way of the kitchen stairs—is 'demean,' with a sense of derogation or abasement. It is to be seen in many a paper and even many a book and heard in many a speech. It is the second syllable that has misled the popular understanding, but the noun 'demeanor' should have saved the educated from their blunder with the verb. When the cook refuses to 'demean herself' she is excusable, because 'demeanor' is not in her vocabulary."

THE AVERAGE BOY.

How One Woman Sums Up His Attitude Toward His Mother.

In taking issue with a schoolmarm who said that when a boy thought much of a teacher it counted, while the girl pupil's professed friendship was only skin deep, a Howard mother who has both a son and daughter touches up boys in this fashion: "The average boy looks on his mother as a slave, a drudge, a person to work for him, to be grieved at, to be ashamed of and pushed aside when he gets old enough to look out for himself. The average girl, though she may be spoiled, selfish and at times ungrateful, turns to mother for comfort, for advice, and when needed is kind, considerate and helpful. Some time ago I worked hard to give my boy and girl a treat. They were away from home for a few days and I fixed up each one's room with new curtains, new carpets and a lot of new things for their shelves, tables and dressers. My little girl was so delighted that she could scarcely contain herself. My son never noticed the things and never expressed a word of thanks when his attention was finally called to them. I have talked with other mothers and almost without exception their experience is the same. The daughters are the kindest and most grateful, while the boys exact the most attention, help the least and cause us the most worry and heartaches.

DESERT HEAT.

It is intense, but it is dry and not uncomfortable.

It has been my fortune to visit some of the hottest places in America at the hottest period of the year and the reader may be incredulous when I say that I have been vastly more uncomfortable in Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore or Washington in summer than I have at Yuma or in the heart of the Mojave, California or Apache desert, or any of the great pseudo summer deserts that reach away from a general line from Yuma to San Antonio, Tex.

I recall entering a restaurant at Indio, on the edge of the Mojave, when the heat called to mind proximity to a furnace. I suggested to a citizen that it was hot. "No," he replied, "Yesterday was hot; it was 120 degrees in the shade; today it is only 115 degrees." Yet I have been more uncomfortable in Boston with the thermometer at 90 degrees. In Boston the heat was humid; one perspired. At Indio or on the desert the heat was absolutely dry and at night the chances were that a blanket might be required, nature giving one an opportunity to recuperate, which is not always the case in the great cities.
