The general world-wide record as regards the progress of the temperance, and the progress of the temperance and the progress of the temperance and the progress of the temperance movement, is hopeful, and shows that civilized peoples are realising, as never before, the mischievous nature and effects of the drink habit and the drink traffic. In England the House of Commons recently approved bills further limiting the sale of liquor in Regland on Sundays, and providing for Scotland a local option scheme and the prohibition of any retail into selling before to o'clock in any vicenom.

In the Unit-for Scotland a local option scheme and the prohibition of any retail liquor neiling before 10 o'clock in any forencon.

In the United States nearly 11,000 saloons were closed during 1908.

The liquor laws are being tightened up, and the territory under prohibition by local option is being extended in British posessions in other parts of the world, most notably in Australia, New Zealand and Newfoundland. Similar progress is being made in other countries. Norway, Sweden, Iceland, and Finland are largely under prohibition. Not long ago the Finnish Parliament, by a great majority, adopted a law of total prohibitiwn for the whole Grand Duchy, but so far the Czar has arfued to sanction the measure. France, Germany and many other countries report substantial advances along temperance lines.

It is somewhat remarkable that statistical reports do not show as much progress in the Dominion of Canada as in other countries during the past few years. One reason to this difference is our increasing prosperity, and another is the influx of population from countries which have not as low an average of liquor consumption as Canada silvays has had.

The situation is very encouraging however, for in all the Provinces there is an active eampaign going on against the liquor traffic.

The above is part of a report made by Mr. P. S. Spence, and he concludes by asying:

Local option will continue to grow in favor until a rapidly-developing public opinion supersede it by more comprehensive legislation, making another step towards the day the provinces there is an active eampaign going on against the liquor traffic.
