The business of the year was wound up, and the secretary's report of the number of fires, losses, insurance and attendance will be laid before the Fire, Gas and Water Committee at the next meeting of Council. The number of alarms last year were more than the year before, but the losses by fire it is expected will not amount to as much, as the majority of the fires were inciplent ones and were nipped in the bud in time. The election of officers resulted in all the old ones being unanimously relected. The members congratulated themselves that all were spared to enter on another new year.

Mis. Thomas A. Parker, formerly of Guelph township, is one of the many successful graduates of Guelph Business College. Last spring, going direct from the College to Buffalo, N. Y., he secured a good situation, which he soon resigned, preferring to do business in Cleveland, Ohie. In the later city he formed a partnership to carry on the business of "slate roofing," under the firm name of cunningham & Parker. Mr. Parker manages the office work and financial interests of the firm, which is doing a very successful business and gives employment to twenty men. The enterprise and capacity for affairs shown by Mr. Parker reflects much credit upon himself, and demonstrate the great value to young men of a course of training at the Guelph Business College.

MRI EDITH ROSE On.—The Edith Rose Grand Scottish Concert On which is to appear here toxicorrow night has been spoken of in the most flattering terms bithe press both in Chanda and the United States. In fact they have been eulogised so highly that something exceptionally good may be relied on. Out of fundreds of compliments are condensed two or three:—Pittston Gasette: "The large and delighted andience emoored almost every number on the programme, and for fully two and a half hours the unwearied people listened and laughed and applianded, and were then reluctant to go." Warren Herald.—"A rich treat. Every number from first to last was encored, and the Company 'kindly responded."

Springfield Union:—"The entertainment MONTHLY CATTLE FIR.—The January cattle fair was fairly well attended on Wednesday, but not so largely as a few years ago. The reason no doubt is that the cream of the cattle were bought up at the Christmas Fat Stock fair, and privately. The animals sold were good general butchers' cattle, and brought from 36 to 40 on an average. Milch cows sold at from $50 to $50 a head. There were some lambs for shipment which were bought on an average of 50.

St. Andrew's Church S. S. Extentions.

The annual Christmas entertainment of St. Andrew's Sunday school was held last night in the schoolroom. The Warren Heraid .--"A non treat. Every number from first to last was encored, and the Company kindly responded." Springfield Union .-- "The entertainment was ene of the best of its kind that has ever been given in the city. The audience was enthusiastic, and the programme was; more than doubled by the recalls. Miss Ross is a woman of superb physique and powerful voice, well trained and modulasted. Mr. Eumesten convulsed the house with his humorous songs." A Montreat correspondent to the Scottish American says: -- "The audience in the Windson thall was large and critical, the reputation which the company had gained elsewhere having given rise to great expositions. The company came through the ordest well, encores being given in every case, and in some instances the artistes having to appear three times."

The "Fur is flying." The reduced prices in Collars, Capes, Muffa and Capes at E. R. Bollert & Co.'s are doing it, diw!

Anomen Old And Respectate Resument ment of St. Andrew's Sunday rethol was held lest night in the schockroom. The room had been deserated for Christmas, so that the only addition made was a large tree on the platform, decorated with begs of candy, and as the begs were made of different colored material it looked very pretty. The programme was supplied by scholars, principally the smaller once, and consisted of solos, both vocal and instrumental, dialogues, recitations, etc., all of which were exceedingly well rendered. The infant class were presented with blackboards, to take home, so that the parents might write the title and text for the next Sunday on it, and the little one would have if before them all the week. The room was well filled, there being a number of the parents and friends present. One of the oandy bags contained semething size, as on Miss Blazery's opening it she found a beautiful gold and pearl penholder and also a gold pencil as a totem of the appreciation in which the is held by her Bible class. The entertainment was as successful and happy as could be, and the little folks were sorry the programme was so short, although it was 9:30 when they left the room.
