THE EVANGELISTS DRAW BIG CROWDS

Rev. E. W. Kenyon Does Not Believe in the Theory of Evolution

Rev. E. W. Kenyon, Prof. Fletcher and Rev. Z. L. Fash held a twenty-minute service at the John Palmer Co. Ltd., yesterday at noon, and similar services will be conducted at the Hart Shoe Factory and at the Palmer-McLellan larrigan factory. A large number of men attended at yesterday's meeting and Mr. Kenyon spoke on the value of religion to a man and his home. Prof. Fletcher gave a clarinet solo.

The attendance at the 3 o'clock service at the church yesterday had no increased over that of the first one, the preceding day, that it was held in the auditorium. Mr. Kenyon spoke on "What Prayer Has Done." At 4 o'clock the students and boys and girls began to flock in for the service by Prof. Fletcher, who adapted himself to his youthful audience in a way that showed him to be an expert in dealing with young people.

The evening service began fifteen minutes before the appointed time, as the people were there. The ushers were kept busy in getting everybody comfortably seated, having to bring up more chairs from the vestry. It was a great audience that faced the evangelists, and Prof. Fletcher led a rousing song service. He is an expert in getting the people to sing. Mr. Wheeler, of Milltown, Me., sang a solo. Miss Porter sang and was applauded again as she was the night before, and Prof. Fletcher and Mr. Wickert gave a clarinet and euphonium duet.

The subject of Mr. Kenyon's address was "The Reason for Man." There never has been any evolution, he declared, only in imagination; evolution has never made out a case. Man was created according to God's word, "after his kind," and not by a process of evolution. Man is not the descendant of an ape but a child of God and is an intellectual being like God. The address was followed by a good deal of byplay which interested and at times amused the audience. At one time when the speaker proposed to stop, people in the audience called, "Go on."

The subject of the lecture tonight is "The Nature of Man." The afternoon subject is Jesus and Prayer.

To the Users of Electric Light

On Saturday night last our plant was overloaded and we were obliged for an hour or more to cut below the proper voltage to prevent going out altogether. Our new plant, which should have been shipped to us on the first of September last, was not shipped until January of this year and due to weather conditions we did not dare open the doors of our station long enough to admit of moving it in out of our yard until early in last month, since which time we have been working day and night getting it assembled. It will be several weeks yet before we can possibly get it running, and until such is accomplished we will be short of current and must therefore ask that all of our customers dispense with every light possible, especially on Saturday night. Just as soon as we get the new unit running you will be at liberty to use all of the current you wish in the meantime we ask all to lend a hand until the danger is over.

Thanking you in anticipation, we remain

The Preferable Roof Varieties

(Experimental Farms Note.) Ever since the Experimental Farms system was inaugurated experiments with field roof varieties have been conducted on a large scale. An analysis of the results of the experiments during a large number of years is rather interesting. In the first place it shows that it is impossible to draw any reliable conclusions from a few years' results only, a practice which unfortunately is often followed if applied to field roofs. It will lead to unreliable deductions which may cause either booming of mediocre varieties or mistaking the best for the ones. Secondly, they show that, seen from the standpoint of nutritive value, it does not necessarily follow that the varieties yielding the heaviest tonnage per acre are really producing the largest amount of food constituents per acre. Thus, there are varieties which regularly may be found to be heavy yielders but which, on account of a comparatively low dry matter content, may produce less actual food per acre than varieties which are yielding smaller tonnage but are richer in dry matter. Finally, the results of the experiments have demonstrated that although a variety may be found normally to be excellent in a certain part of the Dominion, it does not follow that it is equally as good, or even desirable at all, in other parts where the climatic conditions are different. This is especially noticeable in certain mangel and swede turnip varieties characterized by a small top, as are a large number of the varieties developed on the European continent. These varieties may prove heavy returns under conditions permitting of planting the rows close together, say 18 to 20 inches, and they may also give heavy yields. In districts where the moisture supply is abundant and the summer moderately hot. With wider planting between the rows and in districts where hot and somewhat prolonged dry periods generally occur, small-topped varieties are somewhat unreliable for the reason that the small foliage leaves the ground between the rows exposed to the drying out and heating action of the sun. This condition of the soil may cause the leaves to be burned off which in turn may prevent the root crop from growing normally. Under these circumstances, large-topped varieties are to be preferred, especially in the interior sections of Canada, as the Maritime Provinces and on the Pacific coast, the small-topped varieties so common on the European continent and sold to some extent in this country may be grown to advantage.

Concerning the shape of the varieties, our experience has been that roots of medium length or even short ones generally give the best satisfaction. They are easier and therefore cheaper to pull and can be brought into storage in a physically better condition than very long and deep varieties.

According to our experience we would particularly recommend for Canada in general: Of mangels—yellow oval varieties and sugar mangels. Of swede turnips—round and oval purple top varieties. Of carrots—medium long white and yellow varieties.
