Only six such guns are afloat in the British Navy, the Sans Pareil and the Benbow having two each. The Victoria's speed is 162 knots on 14,000 indicated horse power. She can carry 1,200 tons of coal, which will give her a cruising limit of 7,000 knots at a 10-knot speed. The Victoria's type has been gradually condemned by navy experts because her direct stern fire is limited to one 10-inch and two 6-inch guns, all unprotected except by shields.

Scores of lives are saved every year by its timely use.

Amanda B. Jenner, Northampton, Mass., writes: "Common gratitude impels me to acknowledge the great benefits I have derived for my children from the use of Ayer's most excellent Cherry Pectoral. I had lost two dear children from croup and consumption, and had the greatest fear of losing my only remaining daughter and son, as they were delicate. Happily, I find that by giving them Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, on the first symptoms of throat or lung trouble, they are relieved from danger, and are becoming robust, healthy children."

"In the winter of 1885 I took a bad cold which, in spite of every known remedy, grew worse, so that the family physician considered me incurable, supposing me to be in consumption. As a last resort I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and, in a short time, the cure was complete. Since then I have never been without this medicine. I am fifty years of age, weigh over 180 pounds, and attribute my good health to the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral."—G.W.Youker, Salem, N. J.
