ng earth in starless nigh

Mighty is thy mastery.

Power and empire bow to thee!

Thou to guilt so terrible

Where thy sting and terror tell! Strongest loves 'tis thine to part, ere love's minister than art; Foiled its strength to crush or harm Downy-soft thy pillowing arm.

Gracious thy transfigured face Triumph lost in tenderness; Heavenly fair art thou to faith, Where thy victory, O death? Canst thou from God's love, so great, Soul of love e'er separate? Caust thou, dark-winged angel, ever That bright golden life-cord sever?

Ah! he loved this hero-saint, Scorned all hardship's weak or Cross upon his heart of flame, With the zeal of God inspired Sovereign duty's ardor fired Faith that tired not, drooped, nor failed

India's ancient plains he trod, Claimed a continent for God; Toiled with apostolic grace

One great thought—"one thing" suprem Dying Christ his living theme; Gloried in the cross alone— Mercy's cross—Messish's throne. Wrought and died! but is this death!

Victory's majesty of peace Glorifies the martyr's face. Conflict ended, cometh rest, Death's fair bosom holds him blest;

While upon the bending sky forms smile grad Miracle of art and grace, Breaking from His cross-nailed place

Bows to bear His saint above. Blessed end of love and faith Grand discomfiture of death! Glorious life that never dies, -Catholic Mir

LADY KILDARE

THE RIVAL CLAIMANTS

CHAPTER VIII - [CONTINUED] 'Come in dear.' said the Lady Nor wearily, flinging herself upon a low luxuri-us silk-n couch I am alone You're very tired, Nora, darling said the Lady Kathleen, approaching her young stepsister, and kneeling bside her. 'Your guardian's are here 'So old Dennis told me. They have Yes. Sir Russel is looking very ill amiable, the features being deli l/, his meek, pale face flushing slightand very anxious. His lawyer is also cate. His forehead was retreating ly. gone up to their room-, I suppose?" 'So much the better,' said the Lady

Nora. I have made up my mind to fight for Kildare, if I have the faintee ground of hope to go upon. What do you think of my rive, shimant. Kath leen? He has leaten old D-mnis till the poor old man looks frightfully. He has quarriled and fought with Mre Mahon, and asserted his ownership to Kildare in the most vulgar manner. My aversion to him has increased to loathing.'

sight of un.

'Lam glad to see you, Mr. Michael, with a special messeeger to me at Dublin with a letter, bidding me to come to thim post-haste, as he had something to say to me before he died. I set out at once, reaching the castle two days before he died, he made to me a secret community there earlief but that I waited for the utmost importance. ground of hope to go upon. What de

Yes: and—and Kathleen, returned.

Nora, blushing vividly. be has offered me a home at Glen O'Neill. He loves me, and has asked me to be his wife.

Sir Russel was a sturdy, honest, under a me years, for I won't has a stern commence. His completely man was years for I won't has a stern commence. His completely man was year, honeit in the completely man was year, honeit in the completely man was year. him under some years, for I won't be a stern codimenance. His completion man was very beautiful, gay, and dash clog and incumbrar or to him, yet I am glad to know be loves me.'

Shown because the stern codimenance of the completion of the stern codimenance of the stern c Lidy Kathleen. 'Did you see Lad than that of her kinsman.

ou't the lawyers, and see if he cannot

Her until feet were inclosed in dainty, high-heeled bronze alippers. Her dress was of hypoze-heed it, soft and the blok, and with a possilier golder dress was of hypoze-heed it, soft dress was of hypoze-heed it and the addition. Mr. Wedburn untied the soft sold blok, and with a possilier golder dress was of hypoze-heed it is an interfered as a sonal one, with graceful tunic and sask. Her hair rippied as usual one, her shoulders, and just above her foreheed a c question brouse-hored how pastled among her performed tresses. There, Alices, III do, also said the ledy Hore Kildets, in conjunction with Sir Russel's larger, and in total ignorance of his pastled as well as a sonal of the ledy Hore Kildets, in conjunction with Sir Russel's larger, and in total ignorance of his pastled S.W. Crabbe's Hardward fore, and in total ignorance of his pastled S.W. Crabbe's Hardward fore, and in total ignorance of his pastled S.W. Crabbe's Hardward fore, and in total ignorance of his pastled S.W. Crabbe's Hardward fore, and in total ignorance of his

THE DEATH OF FRANCIS KAVIER. a 'Brownie,' as pape in She turned from twent to the window. She was standing the

She declined the civility haughtily She declined the civility haughtly 'I wish to escort you to the drawing room, Lady Nora,' he said. 'We are with about to appear before a tribunshich is to decide upon our respective disims to the proprietorship of Kildare it is fitting that we should appear to ther, in seeming friendliness, at least.'

'I cannot feign a friendship,' saito- Lady Nora, coldly, 'And it occu to me that your faith in your triump has been not very delicately assert already, Mr. Kildare.

. I'm afraid I'm no courtier.' respons el her rival, with considerable com lacency, 'but I am honest. I fear that want of delicacy is a family fail-ing. I have displayed it in the assertion of my claims, you think, and you agve displayed it in your morning pon a lover, I think." He laughed softly, looking at he

with his half-shut, gleaming eyes
The Lady Nora paled, then flue the hue of the wild rose. Without ourd she swept past him with the road stairs, and made her way to th Redmond Kildare followed her, sti aghing softly. He opened the door for her, and she wept into the drawing room without ance at him. He followed he osing the door behind bim.

There were three gentleman gro round a table near the sea windows the drawing room. They arose as by me impulse, at the entrance of the young beiress.

These gentlemen were the Lady Nora's ass ciate guardians. Sir Russ dere, of Dublin. and Sir Russel's law y-r, Mr. Wedburn, an Englishman, The Lady Kathleen was sented at or

Mr Michael Kildare came hurrying little dash of impersonity.

He was an elderly man, with the family liken as of the Kildares in hi-festures, although not in his form. H as a small man, with soft, noiseles evements and a soft, amiable manner He was renowned for his gentleness, years ago. He suffered his last filmess and it had often been said of him that he would remove a worm from his that time I was living in Dablin, as pa h rather than to tread upon it H. now, and was in the early practice o liked birds and the flowers, and all my profession. It may be as well for bat he had never cared to marry white always a favorite with the Kildares of

His face was mild and gentle an Michael K ldare bowed deprecating-

sight of him

here earlier but that I waited for Sir Cation of the utmost importance!

He acknowledged a marriage with man, was presented to her.

· You look tired and anxious, Nora, - mid in his soft, gentle, fee This is a wearisome business, but impe it will soon be settled. I tele raphed to Sir Russel the other day and he came on to Dublin with his wyer sooner than I expected, so t'a e have arrived here not much behind ledmond himself. And by to-night hope, all our suspense will be ended and we shall have settled up a a course 'I hope so,' said the young Lady

My poor child v said Mr. Kildar a tone of sympathy and tendernes Inia is a terrible trial for you! vish I could tell y u to hope, but lare not. You must be prepared for the worst! We may mourn and griev . I out justice must take her cours-And I know you are too honorable And I know you are too honorable. expenses and ordered him to be sent proud, and just to desire wealth and more at the expense of another.'

'The the case will be decided

The young Lady Nora's lips quiver

The Dublin lawyer replied only of significant silence.

Before Nora could command herself to speak again, the London lawyer, Mr. Wedburn, dashed down upon the table the last of the documents submitted to in examination, and exclaimed:

'These documents seem to be perfectly genuine. And if genuine of course they put the most erricus as the profession and begin its study for the mass erricus as the seem to be perfectly genuine. And if genuine of course they put the most erricus as the seem to be perfectly genuine. And if genuine of course they put the most erricus as the seem to be perfectly genuine and begin its study for the seem to be perfectly genuine and begin its study for the seem to be perfectly genuine and seem to be perfectly genuine to s course they put the most serious as. He was still engaged in study for the pect upon this basiness. Oblige us, law when, a month ago, his mother re Mr Kildure, by telling us at this point all that you know concerning this new him. She told him her story He s laimant to Kitdare. That will give to work to gain hie proof of his us the additional light we want, and mother's marriage and his own i tentity able us to see our way more clearly!" and finally came to me And then Certainly, certain y, sir, said Mr. dared conceal the truth no longer The Michael Kildare a little nervously. will tell you all I know concerning secret was known to him, and do was seek to avoid scandal. I telegraphed for Sir Russelt I wrote to Nora. Too know the rest.'

Redmond Kildare's claims Unfortanately I know more on the subjection I wish I did!'

He concluded with considerable ap

He glided back to his seat, and with a grave face began his narrative.

You all know, he said, that the fireenth Earl of Kildare, the Lady N ra's grandfather, had two cour, Redmend and Fitzgera'd. Fitzgerald was the father of our young Lady Nora. Redmond was supposed to hav died a bachelor, some four and twenty pretty, dainty things, and was fond of me to state here that I belong to a rees. His love for his peice was mote branch of the family, and out of verbial, and he was wont to say the line of succession, but that I was ber innocent affection remained the castle the castle the many with a slight many called a confirmed old backelor, and indeed he seemed to care for no woman save Nora.

'I beg your pardon,' he said rather omething of the appearance of a pro- timidly. 'To come to the point Some four and twenty years ago, Redmond The Lady Nora's heart warmed at Kildare lay ill here at the castle, and given over to die. It was then he sen colored. His judgement, Nora felt in our ais wife. One callud—a son-was a sinctively, was more to be relied upon then that off her kinsman.

The has gone to Belfast to control the lawyer, and see if he cannot wit the lawyers, and see if he cannot brained. Clear-beaded elderly gentlesses the strange merities. her marriage she had not been a wo-man of pure life. To introduce her as break the strange merriage. The Lady Kathleen's face glowed with a great j.y.

I've Lady Kathleen's face glowed with a great j.y.

I've Lady Kathleen's face glowed with a great j.y.

I've Lady Kathleen's face glowed with a great j.y.

I've would I cannot break this marriage. Nora. I dare not.'

Beasuathyse has not been here the morning.'

I've Beasuathyse has not been here the morning.'

I've gentlemen resumed their seats with morning.'

I've gentlemen resumed their seats, and seats with seats of seats with seats of seats of the seats of seats with the seat of the seats of seats with the seat of the seats of seats with the seat of seats of seats with the seat of seats of seats with the seats of the seats of seats with the seats of the seats of Lord Redmond a secret all these year I dared not, if I had been free to do test to the stern and proud old Re tel 10 to the stern and proud old Earl. I dured not sell it to the late Earl, the Ludy Nora's father, for he was best and truck friend," And I would have died, if I had been permit et. without telling it to poor Lady Nova, whom I love as if the were my daugh-ter! I would have spared ber this trial at the expense of my life? He removed his spectacles, wiping them with his handkershief, and then rubted his sec foreign.

You know, then, that Lord Red-cond Kildare left a legitimate con P-nestioned Sir Bussel Ryan. I know it! 'You know this young man to b

"I do. I have kept trace of him al

my fife long. For several years he re-mained with the humble family it whose core be had been placed. He supplied himself beir son: But when he was old enough to be sent to school. I sent to his foreit parents, paid them a sufficient sum of money for the lace. nis real name was Reduced, and that death The bublin lawyer replied only by a

Is the binne of to many lives that here is where we make our great beass. Our fills cure it while others do not.

Output's Lists Lives Fills are very small and very dary to take. Other two pills make a does.

A COOK BOOK parent pervousness and anxiety, and drew a long breath of relief, as if his task had been disagreeable to him.

Mr. Wedburn looked thoughtful;
Sir Russel Ryan looked thoughtful By mail to any lady sending us her post office address. Wells, filehardson & Co., Montres

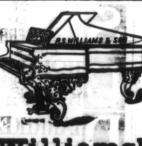

CEALED TENDERS addressed to the understand and endorsed "Tender for Chapsel Point, Works." will be received untrope from the process of the control of the c

A. GOBIEL, Department of Public Works, } Uttawa, 3rd February, 1890. } Peb. 18, 3t

Farm for Sale.

THE undersigned offers for Sale his Estm., situated at the Head of St. Peter's Bay, containing 74 acres of land, 40 acres clear and the rest covered with soft and hard wood. House, barn and spring on the premises. Near Starch Factory, School and Church, half a mile from Railway Station. WM. COFFIN.

St. Peter's Bay, Feb. 19-4i pd

PRINCIPALLY GOLD.

1000 SOLD IN HOVA SCOTIA IN TWO YEARS. McEachern's Building, Queen St., Ch'town, 严·基础产品的/看。中国产品产品。 -AND-

> SULLIVAN & MACNEILL md despatch, at the Her

MILIS & DYER, Managers JOHN 8. MACDONALD. Warning to Debters AT FORNEY-AT-LAW Neuron's Building, Operato New Post O

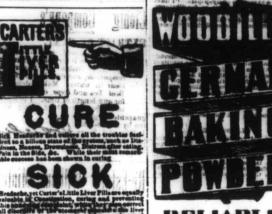

MILLS & DYER, Manager July 17, 1889-1y

ACHE

J. W. MULLALLY,

CONVEYANCER, &c.

Many York Oly

RELIABLE.

HOLIDAY GOODS -AT THE-Diamond Bookstore

-ARE NOT OF-Superior Quality and Better Value -THAN ANY OF THE-

Spasmodic Importations. THE BAZAR Barrister, Attorne erhead will open for the seaso on MONDAY MORNING NEXT,

The Attraction of the City SEE OUR IMMENSE STOCK OF XMAS CARDS. Diamond Booksto

SOURIS, P. EJISLAND. Ch'town, Dec. 4, 1889.

THE CHEAPEST YET.

Call and Inspect, and get Bargains at Auction Prices for Cash.

THE CHEAPEST PLACE ON P. R. ISLAND.

DRAWING ROOM PARLOR SUITES, best value. BEDROOM SUITES at low prices,
All kinds of UPHOLSTERED GOODS at Bargains, PICTURE FRAMING, 125 varieties, very cheap and nobby

LOOKING GLASSES, The latest in WINDOW BLINDS, and all kinds of WIN-DOW FURNITURE and Fixings at cost. No trouble to show goods. Can suit all tastes at NEW-SON'S FURNITURE WAREROOMS, opposite the

JOHN NEWSON. Charlottetown, Feb. 20, 1889.

Williams Prince Edward Island Railway 1889-90, WINTER ARRANGEMENT, 1889-90. On and after Monday, December Ind, 1889, Trains will TRAINS FOR THE WEST. | TRAINS PROM THE WEST.

STATIONS.	HoL	No s.	STATIONS.	No s.	No
Charlottelown Rotts Vincilian Rotts Vi	$ 30 9 00 9 00 9 23 9 40	7. W/ 1 50 2 19 2 19 3 19 4 07. 4 20 4 40 5 20 5 20 6 20 7 20 7 20 7 20 7 20 7 20 7 20 7 20 7	Figure 1 Total Control of	dp 6 00 6 55 7 70 7 54 7 54 7 54 10 15 10 15 10 25 12 28 12 28 12 28 1 1 15 1 15 1 15 1 15 1 15 1 15 1 15 1	1 6077778888
STATIONS.	H	No 8.	STATIONS.	1	No.
Emerald Junction Ap	4	1 10 5 00	Cape Traverse	1,02.00	4
TRAINS FOR	THE EA	ot. ,	TRAINS FRO	THE E	40T.
* SHROTTATO	Ho &	300 T.	TATIONS.	Me a	No 1
Charletteroris Milia	i i q	e desa	Geografican Ourdigan Mt. Stownis June. Bedford. Royalty June's. Charlotatown	0 10 mm	21 20
	dT no.15			de second	1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1

J. UNSWORTH,

OARRIAGE HARDWARE in Iron and Steel Shoeing Tire Steel, Spokes, Rims, Hubs, Axles and Varnishes, CARPENTERS' HARDWARE A SPECIALTY. NAILS, GLASS PAINTS, LOCKS, and everything they require in our line.

For Blacksmiths we have an immense stock of Horse Nails, Horse Shoe Iron, Steel, Files, Rasps, &c.

FARMERS GET EVERYTHING THEY REQUIRE. Splendid Steel MUD SHOYELS, English and American.

STOCK NOW COMPLETE. SELLING AT VERY LOW PRICES. DODD & ROGERS.

QUEEN SQUARE. Charlottetown, Dec. 24, 1888.

ALL HANDS POINT TO US

-AS THE-

Most Wonderful Bargain Givers on P. E. Island.

Five thousand (5,000) New Hats, including all the Nobby Styles and

We are bound to lead in Styles, Quality and Price. Come and see #8. PROWSE BROS.

The Wonderful Cheap Mon, 144 Queen Street.

Kensington,

Offer the balance of their Winter Stock at Reduced Prices for CASH.

Special Bargains in TRIMMINGS, SHAWLS, GLOVES, HOSIERY; &c.

GENTS HEAVY UNDERWEAR, TOP SHIRTS, HEAVY CLOTHS, TAILORS TRIMMINGS, &c. BOOTS & SHOES. TEN DOZEN SHOVELS-CHEAP. GROCERIES of all kinds.

Our TEA is unsurpassed Best grade of KEROSENE OIL. Kent Mills FLOUR, OATMEAL, BUTTER, EGGS. REUBEN TUPLIN & CO.,

LONDON HOUSE, KENSINGTON

February 12, 1890.

McLEOD & McKENZIE, Merchant Herchant Tailors. Tailors

well known to the people of this city and Pro

We have, therefore, no hesitation in caying that we are prepared to guarantee the highest antisfaction to all who favor in with their castess.

Our Clothe are the best in the market; our styles are the verlatest; our Mechanics are unsurpassed, and our Cititers are unsurpassed, and our Citiers are unsurpassed, this Province, consequently we are in a position to furnish as suit Clothes superior in material, style and workmanship to any other Clothing House in the Island. In order to be convinced of this fact you have only to call and leave your measure with an antistic styles.

Hate and Gents' Furnishings in the very intest styles.

MCLEOD & MCKENZIE

NEW SERIES.

The Charlottetown Every Wednes The Herald Printing Co PROM THEIR OFFICE

CONNOLLY'S BUILD Queen Street, Cha town, P. E. I. scription : One Year, in Adm ADVERTISING AT MODERATI Contracts made for narterly, Half-yearly, o Advertisements, on app Remittances may b Draft, P. O. Order, or

JAMES MelSA

Calendar for March

Freehold Land for

70 ACRES f prime Freshol Lot 43, King's County, the Railway Station, has a fr Bourke's Road of half a mile, as apping of water runs the whole

Half the purchase money can the security of the property. Apply to John C. Underhay, P. P., Bay Fortune. Feb. 26, 1890.—tf

FIRE AND LIF

North British and Me

EDINBURGH AND I ESTABLISHED 1 Zotal Assets, 1886, - - $

FRED. W. HI Corner Queen and Water St Chrariottetown, Jan. 19, 14

The Herald is kept on fice of the New York invertising Co., Equitable Broadway, New York. KENDALI'S SPAVIN CUR

DALL'S SP ENDALL'S SPAY