Editorial Notes.

Little did we! think when we commented on the perils of the sea last the Provincial Government. This ac-Pearl and the picking up of a boat of the lost steamship Morien, that we should be called upon to record a great marine tragedy on our shores.

The s.s. Florence has met her fate in the Graveyard of the Atlantic. She struck near St. Shott's on Friday morning. All on board climbed over the bowsprit to the foot of the cliff, and tried to scale it. Had they done so, all the lives would have been saved. That is the most pathetic part of the story as the sequel shows, for at present, only the five who took to a oat later are reported saved. steamer has disappeared and with it the news of twenty-two out of the twenty-seven souls left on board. However, there is just a remote possibility that there are some of them who may have escaped and landed in some isolated cove.

The loss by fire of the Xmas mail. which was sent out by express train on Saturday night is most unfortunate. The only things saved appear to be two safes, which were raked out of the burning car by furnace scrapers. The contents of the car would be highly combustible, and in the confined space and the jam of a big Xmas mail, with flaming oil scattered round, it would be most difficult to save the contents of the car. Just how the accident occurred, and why it occurred and what fire protection was afforded, should be matters for a searching enquiry fairness of any adjudication but that which would be made by an Ameri-can jury. Appparently the represenive has no trust in the judicial me of mind of anybody outside the ates. All the world, except Ams. We should be sorry to look up Mr. Mann as a typical American.

John have passed a resolution to dis miss all the police force, except the Chief, and this man they cannot dismiss, as the appointment rests with the Provincial Government. This ac-
