The Governor, Newfoundland, LONDON, July 5.
The French Government report fighting in Argonne continued till the morning of July 3rd, the enemy sustaining very heavy losses. An enemy attack in close formation north of Arras was dispersed with very heavy loss.
The Russian Government report that a German battleship of the Deutschland class was blown up by a submarine at the entrance of Danzig Bay. A Russian destroyer also rammed a German submarine. The German mine-layer Albatross was attacked and run ashore on the Gotland coast.
On the land the Russian offensive near Radium was successful. There is desperate fighting between the Vistula and the Bug near Wierp River. After holding the enemy advance on Gulla Lipa, the Russian patrols have now fallen back.

ARRIVED AT QUEENSTOWN.
LONDON, July 5.
The British steamer Anglo-Californian, from Montreal, arrived at Queenstown to-day with a number of dead on board, the result of being shelled by a German submarine. Twelve men were killed on the Anglo-Californian, including the captain and eight were injured. The ship was saved by the clever handling of her skipper, who manoeuvred the ship out of reach of the submarine's torpedo until he was shot down on the bridge. All were victims of a hall of shells. They were landed at Queenstown, most of them shockingly mutilated. The Anglo-Californian sailed from Montreal with a cargo of horses on June 23rd.

VICTIMS OF MINE-LAYER BURIED.
BERLIN, July 5.
The German sailors of the mine-layer Albatross, killed in the engagement on July 2nd with a Russian submarine, were buried to-day on the island of Gotland, where they were buried with signal honors, in which the Swedish authorities and civilians participated. Revised estimates place the number of killed at 33. More are believed to be dying. Thirty wounded are doing well.

FRENCH STEAMER SUNK.
PARIS, July 5.
The French steamer Carthage was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine near Cape Helles on July 4th, according to an official statement issued here to-day. Sixty-six members of the crew were saved; sixteen are missing. Two German submarines were sighted yesterday in the English Channel by the second High French squadron. Both submarines plunged, but one was hit by several shells before it disappeared.

DRIVING BACK THE AUSTRIANS.
GENEVA, July 5.
Severe fighting is in progress on the plateau of Cornico and Doberdo between Italians and Austro-Hungarians. According to advices received here to-day from the front, the Austrians continue to cast down boulders and blow up hidden rock galleries on the advancing Italian mountaineers. A large Italian army is reported to be marching on Plava from Western Gorizia, and to be methodically driving back the Austrians despite severe resistance.

TURKISH CASUALTIES.
LONDON, July 5.
The total Turkish casualties in the Dardanelles operations between June 28th and July 2nd, were 5,150 men killed, and 15,000 wounded, according to an announcement made to-night by the British Official Bureau.

NO PEACE TILL BELGIUM IS RIGHTED.
SAN FRANCISCO, July 5.
Mrs. Ethel Snowden, wife of Philip Snowden, M.P., told the women peace workers of many nations here to-day that no peace advocate in Britain wants peace until the wrongs of Belgium have been righted. She spoke to the International Conference of women workers to promote permanent peace, from a rostrum hung with peace pennants, canopied by a giant white banner lettered in purple with the words, "Revolt against war." The peace workers of Britain, she said, realize that to a martyr nation, the theory of obtaining peace is not practical politics and cannot succeed.

WARNS COMPATRIOTS.
BERLIN, July 5.
Admiral Oscar von Truppet, who was at one time Governor of Kiau Chau, the German concession in the Chinese Province of Shan Tsang, which was captured in November last by the Japanese, contributes an article to-day to the "Der Tag" warning his compatriots not to underestimate the danger of a breach with the States, and asking them to weigh seriously the question to whether the value of Germany's submarine warfare against British commerce is enough to justify the continuance in its present form at the expense of a rupture with the trans-Atlantic nation. The article is remarkable not only for its open statement regarding the wide reaching effects which the participation of America in hostilities would have on future course of the war, effects which Admiral von Truppet says are greatly underestimated in Germany, but also as a contribution to be heard from a naval officer. All the naval publicists of Germany hitherto heard from have been devoting their energies in celebrating public opinion against any modification of submarine campaign, endeavoring to prevent or limit the concessions in the American demands in the forthcoming German note to Washington. The campaign between the advocates and opponents of a compromise is intense, and the delivery of the note, which a few days ago was scheduled for Monday or Tuesday, will probably be delayed several days. The kernel to the problem, from a German standpoint, concludes von Truppet, is contained in this question: "Can we hope, so far as we are able to foresee, to force England to its knees through submarine warfare against her commerce?" If the answer is negative, our submarines can find better employment against hostile warships, particularly in hunting the grounds of the Mediterranean, the Dardanelles, and the Suez Canal. Submarine warfare against merchantmen in that case could be modified or abandoned in order to obtain a more favorable neutrality from, and friendship of, America, which would be of great value to Germany after the war. If the answer is in the affirmative, then the law of self-preservation would justify us, in the situation that England has forced upon us, in using to the fullest extent our superiority in submarines, and we can calmly accept all consequences of it.

Collegians Win From Casuals.

In last evening's football game the Collegians defeated the Casuals by a score of three goals to all. During the first half of the game the Collegians were in excellent form, and through Pike, Coultas and Kendrick finding the net in turn. During the second half the Casuals put on a spurt and both sides gave a good exhibition, the combination of the Casuals being a particular feature of the game. They pressed their opponents hard but failed to score, and when the final whistle sounded the score stood 3 to 0 in favor of the Collegians.
W. Duggan refereed the game and the line up was as follows:
Collegians—Goal, Worrell; backs, Heath, Quick; halves, Pike, Barnes, Pike; forwards, Ellis, Coultas, Kendrick, Searle, Gear.
Casuals—Goal, Peters; backs, Heston, Hartley; halves, Goudie, Pike, Reid; forwards, Marshall, Smith, Rendell, Pearce, Chauncey.

A SUFFICIENCY.

It's good to have the dollars, enough to buy cigars, and handsome linen collars, and maybe motor cars. It's good to have a plenty, to keep the wolf away, and lay up ten or twenty rolls for the rainy day.

Will Crooks Says Woolwich Arsenal is Not Working at Capacity.
LONDON, June 30.—The Daily Chronicle publishes an interview with Will Crooks, M.P., for Woolwich, who asserts that the Woolwich arsenal is not working at its full capacity, and with proper organization its output could be increased by one-third. The men are not at fault, he says; they are willing to do all in their power to facilitate the output of munitions, yet in some departments the men are only working the ordinary eight hours a day.
Crooks also gives examples of munitions which could have been made at Woolwich which were not.
The Chronicle, commenting editorially, says:
"We can also give cases of orders which Woolwich executed promptly, while private firms were behind. Take the case, for instance, of a certain type of gun. The Royal Gun Factory was asked to make thirty-six at the same time as three armament firms, Vickers, Armstrong's and the Coventry Ordnance received orders for precisely the same number of guns. Woolwich delivered the guns on time, but the three firms had only eight ready in stock of 168.
"From information of this kind which has reached us we can only deduce that in the early months of the war the responsible heads of the ordnance department showed little foresight. The usual armament firms were filled up with orders which they could not execute within contract time. The War Office gave orders, but did not make arrangements to guarantee that the nation had munitions in time. The immediate responsibility for the belated delivery of munitions should be brought home to the department."

THE SWISS PEOPLE.

There is no Swiss race. There is no Swiss language. The people of Switzerland are German, French, or Italian in race and language. But in patriotism they are all Swiss.
Of the twenty-two cantons fifteen are German, five are French, and two are Italian. Incidentally it may be mentioned that twelve of the cantons are strongly Protestant and ten strongly Catholic. Yet there is absolute national unity. Switzerland stands solidly and harmoniously for Switzerland. The German Swiss of Schaffhausen are not for Germany; the French Swiss of Geneva are not for France; the Italian Swiss of Ticino are not for Italy; and this in spite of the fact that these outlying cantons are almost surrounded by Germany, France and Italy respectively. Racial ties and ties of language may be strong, but the ties of patriotism are much stronger.—Cleveland "Plain Dealer."

Swimming Pool for Bowring Park.

Since his return from the Old Country, Sir Edgar Bowring has been giving Bowring Park his careful attention for a couple of hours every day. Speaking to the Telegram he said he contemplated improvements to the Park at his own expense, and work has already begun, under the direction of landscape gardener Cochius, who has a staff of 25 men employed. Amongst these improvements will be the making of a swimming pool at the south river of the park, which will be 70 and 80 feet in length. Nearby will be a dressing room fitted with all modern conveniences. This structure will be for public use as well as the swimming pool. It is proposed to install an electric plant in the new Bungalow, which will be surrounded by a water tower about 20 feet high and it is also the intention to dam the river passing the Bungalow. The interior of the Bungalow is being nicely furnished, well lighted with electricity and well ventilated, and a lady has been put in charge to serve light refreshments to visitors. It is Mr. Bowring's intention to plant a new lot of trees and the entire additions when finished will enhance the beauty of the park and be attractive to the visitor and pleasure seeker. Mr. Bowring said he expected next month some fine young swan or cygnets will be hatched. Nor has he forgotten to direct his attention to the property surrounding Quidi Vidi Lake also acquired at a cost of several thousand dollars and presented to the city. Mr. Bowring intends to have a park made of that area also. He informs us that whilst there is nothing doing at present, the work of building a substantial fence around the Lake will commence next month; also trees will be planted just inside the fence and operations for a park will start next summer.

BRITISH THEATRE.
To-night patrons of the popular British will have their last opportunities to see the really great program which is offered. To-morrow and Thursday the usual entire change will take place with the addition of extra pictures in the afternoon for the children. The feature is a splendid two reel Lubin photo-play entitled "His Brother's Blood." This is a remarkable story and it is intensely interesting. The great American Satirist and humorist, George Ade, will be presented by one of his famous fables that of "The Good Samaritan" who got paralysis in his helping hand." It is a splendid example of high class satire. Miss Elsie Tapper and Arthur Priestman complete the bill.
"SEED AND THE HARVEST" AT THE CRESCENT.
The fine pictures displayed to-day at the Popular Crescent Picture Palace attracted all the sessions yesterday; the two act Kalem drama, "Seed and the Harvest" is the story of a too indulgent mother and contains a fine moral. Leah Baird features in "Fine Feathers Make Fine Birds." The "Lonesome Trail" is a story of ranch life and "Josie's Legacy" is a rich comedy. A cool, well ventilated theatre makes the Crescent an ideal place to enjoy a good picture show.
A BIG HOLIDAY PROGRAMME.
