President Wilson Now on Atlantic. S. S. "George Washington" Sailed Yesterday.

Influenza Causes 300,000 Deaths in U. S.—Yesterday's Nominations in U. K.—Lloyd George will be Opposed — Foch Leaves England for France to-day.

DEATHS FROM INFLUENZA.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 4. Between 300,000 and 400,000 deaths from influenza and pneumonia have occurred in the United States since November 1918.

NOMINATION DAY.
LONDON, Dec. 4. This was Nomination Day for candidates for Parliament in the coming general election, and among the surprises was the appearance of an opponent to Premier Lloyd George at Southampton, from which district Mr. George holds his seat. He is Arthur Harrison, editor of the English League of Nations and the abject of a League of Nations. Another striking feature of the nominations was the large number of unopposed returns. Out of 707 members to be elected to the new parliament, 104 have already been returned unopposed, 41 Unionists, 28 Coalition Liberals, 11 Laborites, 22 Sinn Feiners, 1 Nationalist and 1 Independent. Among those elected are A. J. Balfour, William, Parliamentary Under Secretary for the Home Department, John Astin Chamberlain, James Wm. Arthur, Speaker of the House of Commons, and Will Crooks, Laborite. The Sinn Feiners elected include Professor Edward Devalera for East Londonderry, Count Plunkett for North Roscommon, and William Cosgrave for Wick. The success of the Sinn Feiners in securing 22 returns out of a total of 105 Irish seats, was another of the day's surprises. They had only six seats in the last parliament.

WILSON OFF.
NEW YORK, Dec. 4. Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States, sailed to-day for Europe to participate as one of five representatives of the United States at the Peace Conference to be held in Paris. The transport "George Washington" got under way at 10:05 a.m.

THE PRESIDENT'S MISSION.
NEW YORK, Dec. 4. A dispatch from Washington published here this morning, quotes Senator Williams (Dem.) of Mississippi, in the course of a debate in the Senate yesterday, as saying: "The two European countries, Great Britain and the United States can maintain a League of Nations even if France, Italy and other nations refuse to have a part in it. If the two English-speaking nations go into it by our sea power, by our control over raw materials, by our control over natural resources, force the nations of the world to do the bidding. We can agree that the world's peace is not to be maintained without first submitting the question to a controversy to an arbitral tribunal, shall be outside of the League of Nations, and that the League to operate upon the high seas shall be denied to her, that access to raw materials and markets which nations in the League shall be denied to her; and in that way we can keep the peace of the world for one hundred years if we have the courage to do it. That is what Woodrow Wilson is going to do."

PRELIMINARIES.
LONDON, Dec. 3. The absence of the American and British representatives, it is understood, at the preliminary arrangements for the peace conference. Four separate conferences were held, one of the main purposes being to secure the endorsement by the representatives of the Dominions of the resolutions reached at Monday's conference. Premier Borden of Canada, Lloyd of Newfoundland, and Gen. Jan. Smuts from the Union of South Africa, were called into consultation concerning the affairs of the Dominions. Premier Lloyd George presided at all the meetings. The Earl of Reading, British Ambassador to the United States, Sir Eric Geddes, First Lord of the Admiralty, Vice-Admiral Weymss, First Sea Lord, and a number of the military chiefs also joined in the consultations. Towards the close of the proceedings the members of the Imperial War Council with many technical and shipping experts were called in. It is understood a general agreement was reached on the matters deliberated upon, but out of courtesy to the United States, in the absence of Colonel House, it will be necessary to acquaint President Wilson in detail with the decisions before they are made public.

NOT CONFIRMED.
LONDON, Dec. 4. No confirmation has reached official Roumanian quarters in London of the recent German report that Bucharest was burning and that the peasants had revolted in Roumania. The latest official news shows that Roumania is quiet and that the German evacuation is proceeding regularly.

WILL JOIN AN ALLIANCE.
ROME, Dec. 4. Italy will join an alliance between France and England, the Popolo Romano declared to-day.

WILL ENTER POLITICS.
AMSTERDAM, Dec. 4. (Via London.)—Emperor Karl plans to enter the March elections in Austria at the head of the democratic monarchy party, according to a despatch to-day from Vienna.

PLEASED WITH RECEPTION.
LONDON, Dec. 4. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.) Marshal Foch, in a message issued through Reuter's Agency, on the eve of his departure from London, expressed to the British public how happy he felt in view of the unforgettable reception given since he has been in London. "The reception was the exact reflection of the sincere and intimate close union which has animated us on the field of honor, and which will continue to bind us one to the other. I fully reciprocate the sentiments which I have had expressed to me here and I am happy and proud at having inspired them."

FEAR BOLSHIEV OUTBREAK.
AMSTERDAM, Dec. 4. The Berlin Government, according to the Deutsche Zeitung of Berlin, seriously fears a Bolshevik outbreak under the leadership of Dr. Liebknecht, the Radical Socialist. The extremists are said to have a quantity of artillery and munitions concealed. The newspaper demands that the Government act energetically before it is too late and declares that Premier Ebert and Philipp Scheidmann will be responsible if one drop of blood is shed.

POLISH ULTIMATUM.
GENEVA, Dec. 4. (Havas.)—The Polish Government has sent an ultimatum to Germany asking for the immediate evacuation of Polish territory by German soldiers who are said to have been committing great atrocities, according to the Geneva Journal. If the German answer is not satisfactory, it is added, most energetic measures will be taken by the Poles.

LONDON, Dec. 4. (British Wireless Service.)—Maximilian Harden, in his paper Die Zukunft, gives a graphic picture of Germany in the days preceding and following the armistice. In August, he says, the late Albert Ballin, Director of the Hamburg American Line, was called in by the military men as the only German who could tell the Emperor the truth. There was a terrible scene, he continues, and the ship owner was threatened. There was a second interview but nothing came of it, and the facts suddenly burst upon Germany with the resignation of General Ludendorff, which came with the violence of an unexpected thunder cloud. Harden bitterly denounces the sudden conversion of all the Junker elements to democracy and to the support of the new government. Yesterday, he declared, they were bloodthirsty with the will of victory. Today they are the knights of the spirit, raising a disgraced civilisation up to pure glory. He tells the German people that their paper money and loans are worthless and only the labor of our sons and grandsons can give them value.

ABDICATION EXPECTED.
LONDON, Dec. 4. The abdication of the German Crown Prince was expected to be published to-day, according to the North German Gazette, the former semi-official organ. The abdication will not concern his successor, it is added.

STEAM COMMUNICATION WITH NEWFOUNDLAND.
MONTREAL, Dec. 4. Adequate steamship communication between Montreal and Newfoundland next season is to be urged on the Department of Trade and Commerce by the Montreal Board of Trade. A decision to this effect has been reached at the regular weekly meeting of the Council of that body to-day.

COAL LADEN SCHR. LOST.
HALIFAX, N.S., Dec. 4. The American three-masted schooner J. Howell Leeds, bound from New York for Halifax, with 900 tons of hard coal, went ashore last Monday night on a ledge off Lockport, and is a total loss; the crew are safe.

WANT HINDENBURG ARRESTED.
COPENHAGEN, Dec. 4. The Soldiers' and Workmen's Council at Leipzig has decided that German General Headquarters shall be dissolved and Field Marshal Von Hindenburg arrested, according to the Lokal Anzeiger of Berlin.

WHAT THE KING THINKS OF THE EX-KAISER.
LONDON, Nov. 28. (By A.P.)—A writer in the Daily News says that King George's opinion of the ex-Kaiser is that he is the greatest criminal in the world to-day.

BEATTY REFUSES MITIGATE TERMS.
COPENHAGEN, Dec. 4. Admiral Beatty has refused a German request for mitigation of armistice terms as they apply to merchant ships and ships fishing in the North Sea.

Wondrous Harmony.
"The historic old city of Winchester, now swarming with our Allies, lately had enacted within its borders one of the most intensely astounding historical incidents that even Winchester, with its thousand years of life, has been able to imagine," writes Mr. James Baker in the Spectator.

"In this glorious old Cathedral lying in state is Cardinal Henry Beaufort of Winchester in his Cardinal's robes, and red broad hat, in his Chantry, over the tomb where his body is buried—that fighting Cardinal, the son of John of Gaunt, who was made Papal Legate to organize a Crusade with Germany against these very Czechs, these Hussites, whose mighty warriors in their chained wagons were defeating the Germans up to the door of Berlin, and up to the Baltic. Five hundred years ago, in the year 1427, they had so paralysed the Germans by their fierce fighting, and the clinking of their chains, and their war songs of triumph, that Cardinal Henry, in the midst of his Crusaders, had to rush out of his tent, raise the Papal banner, and urge the flying Germans to be men. He did rally them, but in vain; he too had to fly, and barely escaped with his life. And now, 500 years after, these Bohemians fill the nave of his Cathedral, bearing the old emblem of the Chalice with them, and they sing the old chant of—
"Ye are God's warriors, Fighting at his bidding."

A King Comes Back.
The heroic King and Queen of the Belgians have re-entered the famous city of Bruges, now happily released from the presence of the pestilence. "The Queen rode on the left of the King, and on his right was young Prince Leopold, in the uniform of his regiment of Carabiniers," says Mr. Philip Gibbs, in the Chronicle.

"Every soul in the city was in the streets or at the windows and balconies, and there were flaming fires of enthusiasm above the people, who had waited four years for this day, when the entry of the brave soldier who has stayed with his army in the narrow strip of ground which was all his kingdom would symbolise to them the return of their liberties.

"For a time, while King Albert reviewed his troops, the people of Bruges held back in a hollow square, but afterwards, when he went up the steps of the Governor's house, they broke bounds, and tens of thousands of them surged round him, cheering that tall figure, who looked down upon them with his hand at the salute, with most joyous and wonderful emotion.

"From hundreds of old houses in Bruges long banners floated with the rich colors of the Belgian flag, and on this splendid day of autumn the trees along the canals and the walls of the houses above the stone bridge were gold and scarlet in the glory of their dying foliage, so that Bruges was like a painting in an old illuminated book, and one went with wonder into the heart of it.

"The belfry rang out a joyous carillon, and from her tall towers of churches built high like dream-castles above gabled roofs there was the booming of deep-toned bells, very solemn below the singing notes of belfry chiming. Voices of many centuries seemed to mingle with the shouts of living people, and four years of agony were drawn into the past history of the bells when there were other wars and other servitudes, and the music of the bells was full of the old sadness of life, mingled with that dancing carillon like the laughter of children who forget."

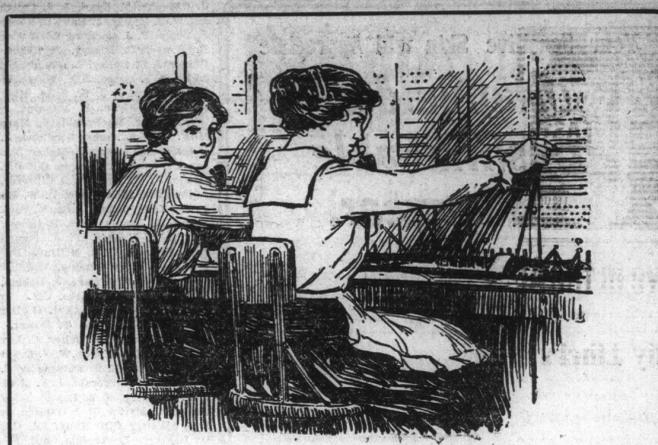

"After the royal party had dismounted and ascended the steps of the Governor's house, in the great square, the people would no longer be restrained," says Mr. Perry Robinson, in the Daily News. "An officer who was watching from a window, looking down on the square, said it was an unforgettable scene when, as if by one impulse, the populace grew out of hand, and from all sides at once swept forward, carrying the lines of guards with it, in an universal rush to get near the Sovereign."

High Tension Work

TO understand the work of the girl at central is to sympathize with her—for hers is a continuous high nervous tension.

At these critical times, when help is so scarce and the wires so busy, the task of the telephone operator is made doubly trying on her nerves.

How like her own nervous system is the complicated electrical equipment which she manipulates.

The central station may be likened to the brain, and the cables and wires, which go out from it, correspond to the spinal cord and intricate nerve fibres which branch off to the members and organs of the body.

The electric current is similar to the nerve force in the human system, for without this nervous energy the human mind and body would be just as dead as a telephone system without electricity.

The continuous strain to which the brain and nerves of the operator are subjected exhausts the nervous energy at an enormous rate, and starved nerves cry out for nourishment with headaches, neuralgic and sciatic pains, nervous indigestion and sleeplessness.

The functions of the vital organs become weak and irregular, as is shown by the feeble action of the heart and the tardiness of the liver and bowels.

It is comparatively easy to restore exhausted nerves if Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is used regularly when these early indications of trouble are apparent.

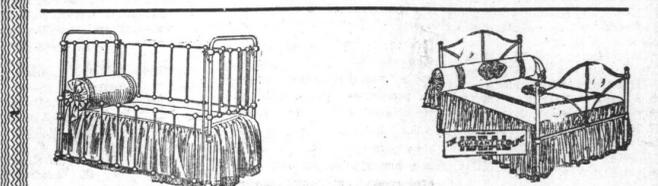

This food cure is also effective in the treatment of nervous prostration, and even in many cases of locomotor ataxia and partial paralysis, but when these ailments develop it is usually necessary that considerable patience and persistence be applied, as recovery must necessarily be a tedious process.

On this account we always like to look on Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as primarily a preventive treatment—a means of restoring feeble, wasted nerves while there is yet a foundation to build on.

Rest, gentle exercise out of doors, cheerful companions help the sufferer from nervous exhaustion, but there must be additional nourishment supplied to the nervous system, and the ideal way to supply the essential elements is by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.
