

To-Day's Messages.

EBERT GOVERNMENT RESTORED.

BERLIN, Mar. 18.
The Ebert Government is again in control in Berlin. Vice-Chancellor Schuler, in whose hands the sudden retirement of Dr. Kapp temporarily placed the administrative power, and Gustav Noske, Minister of Defence, are bringing about order in the city and restoring activities to their normal basis. The full ministry is expected back in Berlin on Friday. Regular troops, loyal to the Ebert regime, are guarding streets, and detachments of men spent the day in tearing down wire entanglements and barricades which the revolutionary soldiers had erected in profusion. In this connection, there was an unfortunate accident, wherein the firing of a mine, to destroy a barricade at Kottbus Buser in Southeastern Berlin caused an explosion which killed twelve persons and injured twenty-eight. Baltic troops, leaders of the insurgent bands that marched into Berlin Saturday morning, took vengeance on the crowd, who looted and jeered them in the Wilhelmstrasse and Unter Den Linden. They were lined up for their departure out of the city and after withstanding the jeers for a time, more or less impatiently, they opened fire, wounding several. The crowd rushed to take refuge in the Adlon Hotel, where wounded were being treated. After the troops had passed the Brandenburg Gate they fired a parting volley with machine guns, wounding a score or more, and the terrified mob again rushed to the hotel, the gates of which were torn down in the ensuing panic.

TOO MUCH LENIENCY.

THE HAGUE, March 18.
The Dutch Government was taken severely to task for what was declared to be its leniency towards the former German Emperor, in the debate in the second Chamber of Parliament yesterday, when the Premier announced a decree limiting Count Hohenzollern's movements, and his pledge not to mix in politics. Deputy Schaper, Socialist, whose questions brought about the announcement of the decree said he was dissatisfied with the Premier's answer and that the guards about the former Emperor were not enough.

RESPONSIBILITY PLACED.

LONDON, March 18.
The Allied Commission has warned Burgomasters in the neutral zone that they will be held responsible for the maintenance of order, but thus far the armies of occupation have not advanced from their original.

YOUNG TURK MOVEMENT.

LONDON, March 18.
The Evening Standard says it learns that the commander of the Turkish troops in Thrace has refused to accept orders from Constantinople, has renounced the Armistice and purposes to establish a Government in Adrianople.

A WHISKEY RAID.

LEXINGTON, K.Y., March 18.
Seven masked men railed the old Tarr Distillery Warehouse here to-day and after binding two guards, at the point of their revolvers, forced them to unlock warehouse stealing out ninety-four cases of whiskey, seized last January at Versailles, K.Y.

INTERNAL DISORDERS.

COPENHAGEN, March 18.
A despatch to the Berlingske Tidende, from Hamburg, reports the situation throughout the districts of Rhenish Westphalia as being of a most serious character. During fighting in an attack upon Nuremberg Railroad Station, twenty persons were killed and many others wounded. Troops remained in possession of the town. At Leipzig the message adds armed workers erected barricades and there has been heavy fighting in the inner city since four o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

REFUSE RECOGNITION.

LONDON, March 18.
The British and French Governments have notified Prince Faisal, son of the King of Meedja, that they cannot recognize the validity of the decision of the Damascus Government, which proclaimed him King of Syria.

WINNIPEG, Mar. 18.

TIMELY RELIEF.

It is announced that no Imperial service men who left the British Isles after February seventeenth, is eligible for the benefits of the Soldiers Settlement Act, where he came to Canada direct or through the United States, unless he is in possession of a certificate issued by the Overseas Selection Committee of the Board.

SOLDIERS, STUDENTS AND WORKMEN MIX IT.

COPENHAGEN, Mar. 19.
A telephone message from Hamburg to-day, said there was violent fighting between troops and students on one side, and workmen on the other, proceeding at Kiel. The message said the workmen were attacking with bombs, hand grenades, machine guns and trench mortars, and that many persons had been killed or wounded.

RAISING THE WIND.

VIENNA, March 19.
Dr. Karl Renner, Chancellor, has notified the Allied representatives here that owing to international pressure it was necessary for the Government to enter into negotiations with Soviet Russia for the return of Austrian prisoners of war. The Chancellor also requested that the Budapest Government permit of the joint sale, by Austria and Hungary, of the old legation building in Peking, China, in order to secure funds for this purpose.

NOT ALARMING.

THE HAGUE, March 19.
The Handelsblad takes the view that no one should be frightened by dispatches announcing that Soviet Republics have been proclaimed here and there in Germany. These proclamations, says the paper, "are only the work of troops and armed laborers, supported by army deserters, whose political convictions quite depend largely on a couple of hundred marks and a piece of bacon."

WASHINGTON, Mar. 19.
Great Britain has set aside a credit of one hundred and thirty millions to finance the sale of British goods to various European countries, according to official despatches yesterday to the Department of Commerce.

Moderate Prohibition Meeting.

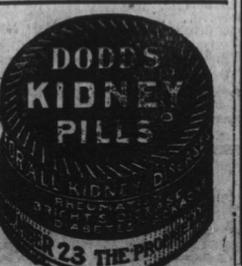

All those interested in the modification or amendment of the present Spirituous Liquor regulations, are requested to attend the meeting of the Moderate Prohibitionists which takes place in the Casino Theatre this evening. Evidence in favor of better and more equitable control of the system, as it stands, will be presented, and upon the expressed consensus of opinion will depend the nature of the methods and measures to be adopted in order to bring about a change which will make for more improved conditions than exist under the Prohibition Act to-day. The movement has the hearty support of very prominent citizens of the three leading denominations and of clergymen and others who worked hard for Prohibition, some of them being members of the Prohibition Campaign Committee. The idea is not to repeal the Prohibition Act but to amend it so that, by concessions to the views of moderate folk, it will have that support it so badly needs. The meeting will be full of interest.

Momentary Talk.

DEAD AND FORGOTTEN.

(From the Glasgow Weekly Times.)
February 14th was St. Valentine's Day and I saw it mentioned in one or two of the papers, but not a soul I dropped across during the day referred to the subject, and I saw no valentines in the shop windows. When I was a small boy there used to be nearly as many valentines sent as Christmas cards, and it was dangerous to send a present to a girl on the 14th February, for that in itself was regarded as equivalent to a proposal of marriage. The shop windows used to be full of suitable trifles for the occasion. Easter eggs used to be matters of importance as well, but the intrusion of the jewellers into the egg business put an end to it. A thing gets popularly whilst everybody can "play level" regardless of their means.

THE PRINCE'S NERVES.

It is a curious thing that in spite of all the public speaking the Prince of Wales has already had to do, he is still terribly nervous. I saw him at the London Fire Brigade display the other day, and noticed that, before he made the charming little speech he delivered to the men of the brigade, his hands were shaking with nervousness. The old aspen leaf wasn't in it. Then, directly he began to speak, he was all right, nervousness disappeared, and he was absolutely at home and confident. He is a delightful speaker, the young Prince, and I think it is that easy directness about him which so appeals to everyone. I am told that Prince Albert is also charming, with the same pleasant manner as his elder brother. He also can turn out a most excellent speech at a moment's notice.

DANCER'S ROMANTIC LIFE.

Gaby Deslys has died at the age of 35, and all the papers have been gushing about her birthplace at Marseilles. In character, of course, Gaby was French to her finger tips, but she was in fact a Jewess and was born in Prague. Her real name was Hedwig Nawratil. She began life as a domestic servant, she cost a King his throne (at any rate she was made the excuse for his losing it), and was the darling of London playgoers. She may have been pretty or not, but, at any rate, she looked it on the stage. She couldn't sing, but did it very charmingly; and she danced well enough to leave over a quarter of a million behind her. She has an old mother and a sister who are quite humble people, but to whom she has left a life interest in her fortune before it vests in the City of Marseilles. She was a 20th century edition of Coral Pearl, and London loved her.

THE MARRIED CLERGYMAN'S INCOME.

The Bishop of Liverpool stated the other day that he will not accept candidates for ordination, if they want, with £200 a year, to take a wife. This seems, when one considers the present purchasing power of the sovereign, a most wise enunciation, but a little hard on the freshly-ordained clergymen. The English Church has always not only not discouraged marriage of the clergy, but even might be said to have encouraged it, for in most parishes the wives of vicars and curates find plenty of work which is considered their prerogative. But certainly in present times no clergyman can marry on his stipend and keep up the position which his cloth requires. For a long time the stipend of curates in general and of some few livings has been insufficient, and the lives of those holding those positions fraught with perpetual sordid worries and endless endeavours to make both ends meet. Do we want a celibate clergy?

It is indeed time that the Church revised its scale of payments and made it possible for a man without private means to enter the Church:
