Affairs in Russia-The 'Design on Lon-

thority Settled-Reducts & Cable fates. London, Dec. 24. — The distress at: Glasgow, Liverpool and other ports has attracted the attention of the queen who desires to open a subscription for the relief of the sufferers and has asked the govern-ment for information on the subject. It is reported Gladstone is 'inwilling to ad-mit the existence of divites and opposes the queen's proposition.

THE CZAICS UNHAPPY LAND.

Nihilism P.ampant-eJwish Persecution LOND' JN, Dec. 24.—The Paris correspon

While nihilism is more dangerous the persecution of the Jews is as fierce as it persecution of the Jews is as fierce as it was a few years ago, when the European press boiled with indignation at the anti-Semilic outrages which disgraced Russia. The great bankers, especially those of Ger-man nationality, who were previously interested in giving wide publicity to these outrages, with a view to prevent the in-vestment of capital in Russia, are inclined to subsidize the press to preserve silence to subsidize the press to preserve silence. They take this course for the purpose of preventing the impairment of European confidence in the Russian finance, the con-dition of which is not brilliant.

The protective system which Moscow manufactures obtained against the Silesian or Exition has caused the Silesians to flash hundreds of factories in Russian ba. German operators are employed and the Silesians are enabled to the Moscow markets with goods at 5 to 10 per cent. under the prices demanded by loscow manufacturers, Despotism is increasing, and the press is coerced into silence. Russia is more and more ignoring liberal ideas and paving the way to a tremendous exclosion.

The Pope Cens'ares Protestants.

ROME, Dec. 24. -The pope, replying to the Christmas congratulations of the car-dinals to-day, deplored the abnormal con-dition of the papel see and the general im-munity phowed by the present state laws. And from you, nce you have now arrived at that period which the poets call the 'threshold of old age,' I would glid y learn your opinion,-wheth r you regard it as a painful part of life, or what acco int you wou'd give of it?" "I will tell you, ocrates," was his reply, "what shows to me to be the very truth of the matter. You must know that we who are of the same age iten flock together as the old sa, ing goes ; and when we have met, most of the company give themselves up to inmentations, sighing after the enjoyments of youth, nl caling to mind the ple sures of love, and arou als and feasts, and all the rest; and they complain bitterly, just as if they had been deprived of some ver pre ious thing, and say that where a they o ce lived in h ppiness they are now not living at all. And ome there are who lament ov r the indigaiie shown them at home on account of heir years ; a d on this them ag in they unite in elling over again the tale of miny wrongs which oli ge has brought upon them. But is seems to me, sourate, that they do not lay the blame on the. real cause. For if this wire the cause, I too should have suffe ed the same evils by reason of my age, and so also would I the others who have reached the same time of life. But I have met with many a man who has noth d this experience, and once, I any previous year, and altogether there was given away 9000 ibs, of he f. 5000 ib of bread, 200 ibs, of tes, and 700 los. of rememb r particularly, I happened to be in he company of Sophoces the poet, when somebody asked hiar.
