Phrases.

While some words are very expressive, on the other hand it often takes two or more Chinook jargon words to make one in English. As extreme instances, the word geography needs the following: ikt, book, yaka mamook kumtuks nesika kopa illahee (one book that teaches us about land); accident needs nika tumtum yaka halo chako kahkwa (I thought it not happen so); a butcher, man yaka kumtuks mamook mimoluse moosmoos (a man, he knows (how) to kill cattle); a jury, tenas huju man kopa court klaska tikegh kumtuks kopa konoway mesachie, pe mamook kloshe kopa tillikums (a few men at court who wish to know about all badness or crimes and straighten out the people).

While many of the Indian words are becoming obsolete, yet a few are so expressive and useful that they are used in many
