

I N D E X.

O

- OFFICERS, two, French generosity, and gallant behaviour of, vol. 3. 15—Belonging to flags, blameable, 91
—Of the navy, their disgrace and misbehaviour, 466, 467, No. ibid.
- Officers, and engineers, accuse each other, vol. 3. 147
- Ogle, captain, exploits, and stratagem of, vol. 4. 430, 431
- Old-Whigs, character of, vol. 4. 10
- Order, of council, concerning pirates, vol. 4. 364
- Orford, earl of, resigns his employments, vol. 3. 235, No. ibid.
charged with countenancing pirates, 240—Defence, 242 to 245.
- Ormonde, duke of, his motion, vol. 3. 328, No. 329—Complaint of, vol. 4. 314 No. 315
- Ostend, city of, taken by the English, vol. 3. 455
- Oxford, earl of, his answer and defence, vol. 4. No. 199. See No. 205 to 207—Vindicated, 213

P.

- PARKE, col. murdered, vol. 4. 184
- Passaro-Cape, action at, between the English and Spaniards, vol. 4. 385 to 387
- Palamos, bombarded by the English and Spaniards, vol. 3. 137
- Pardon, to the sea-captains, promised by King James, vol. 3. 28
- Peace, concluded, with France, vol. 3. 216—Between Sweden, and Denmark, 251
- Pembroke, earl of, made first commissioner of the victualling office, vol. 3. 17—Made lord high admiral, 258—His conduct and prudence, 259—His publick spirit, and character, 320. No. 320, 321—Again promoted, vol. 4. 96—Resigns all his places, 111
- Peterborough, earl of, leaves his son in great danger, vol. 3. 462
- Petit, col. killed, vol. 3. 450
- Petit Guayas, a nest for pirates, destroyed by the English, vol. 3. 204
- Philip, king of Spain, misfortune of, vol. 3. 423, No. ibid.
- Phips Sir William, his fruitless expedition, vol. 3. 169—Vindicated, 170
- Pilots, Dutch, censured, vol. 3. 123
- Placentia, attempt upon, impracticable, vol. 4. 166, No. ibid.
- Pope, of Rome, kept in awe by the English fleet, vol. 4. 79. No. ibid.
- Port-Makon, Taken by the English, vol. 4. 74
- Port-Royal, reduced by the English, vol. 3. 168—Burnt, 377
- Portugal, king of, brought over to the allies, vol. 3. 362--- And the reasons why, 483, 484 Portu-